All About Strange Man.
He Cures and Kills.
A Long Road to Go.
Does Education Fail?
—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

MAN is a strange animal. David Bernstein, Brooklyn tailor deliberately killed a man against whom he held no grudge, pushing him off an elevated railroad platform in Brooklyn. No one saw him. He confessed to the police.

Insane, probably.

THE law-making machinery of New York decided to kill Frank Plaia in the electric chair. Acute appendicitis threatened the electric chair program.

A GOOD surgeon, hired at public expense, restored Plaia to the death house. "Out of kindness," he is allowed to play cards with his partner in crime, Michael Scianfoni, a wall separating them.

STRANGE uses of science, killing men by electricity, saving their lives by surgery, that the electricity may kill them, treating them kindly, while waiting for the chair.

EARTH'S 1,800,000,000 people are not QUITE CIVILIZED YET.

Further details concerning the massacre of 3,000 Mohammedans by Chinese in Kansu province show that the human race has still some distance to travel.

OF LATE, Mohammedans had been murdering Chinese. Then came famine, most desperate, among the Mohammedans, who were invited by Chinese officials to come to Taochow, for a conference with promises of roasted barley.

WHEN they came, men from 15 to 50 were separated from the women, taken outside the walls, and "3,000 of them butchered like sheep." When they saw that they were to be killed the Mohammedans asked no mercy.

After the famine, the Mohammedans will doubtless murder ten or twenty Chinese for each Mohammedan killed in the massacre.

So it goes among human beings, most cruel and blood-thirsty of all animals.

IN PALESTINE 150 Jews attended the wedding of an Arab chief's nephew. The Bedouin dancers, with Hebrew and Arabic songs, were arranged in honor of the guests.

The Arabs slew a sheep, according to Arab custom, offering it to the guests as a sign of friendship.

The Jewish Telegraph Agency considers this a hopeful sign of future friendship between Jews and Arabs.

WHILE Bedouins and Jews were singing their songs and eating the sheep, Jacob Cohen, 65 years old, returning from a wedding in Jerusalem, was stabbed to death, without cause, by Arabs that fled and have not been identified.

BERTRAND RUSSELL, philosopher, able mathematician, will discuss education with Will Durant, who writes about philosophy.

Mr. Russell says education is a failure.

THAT'S probably what Mr. Russell's troglodyte ancestor said, when women were telling little boys that they ought not to kill their neighbors and crack open their thighbones to get at the marrow.

AMERICAN education, says Mr. Russell, is controlled "by influential business men and religious sects," whereas it ought to be controlled by "learned men."

Our children are taught "right thinking" instead of plain THINKING.

ALSO Mr. Russell discovers that America more than any other country "except Thibet, is subject to religious interference with education."

The best thing ever said about education was said by Jaures, killed in Paris at the beginning of the war, in an address to the school teachers of France: "Teach the children to read intelligently and all knowledge will be open to them."

IT IS easy to teach children to read, not so easy to teach intelligent reading.

Clemenceau has said, "The individual may become like a god but, the crowd remains a herd of cattle."

It is true that exceptional individuals, under our system of education, may become partly educated.

The crowd gets along fairly well, with its A B C's and the multiplication table.

RUSSIA'S government, establishing the four-day working week, every fifth day a holiday, with no Sundays or other religious holidays, plans what it calls "a rational eternal calendar."

That new calendar will contain twelve months, each containing six five day weeks. The five days will be called temporarily, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday. Saturday and Sunday will go. Five national holidays will make up the 365 days.

In leap years the extra day, called "Industrialization," will be devoted to work.

THE arrangement may be rational. It will not be perpetual. Nothing is perpetual in our solar system.

Time passes, earth's changes, the length of the day and the year itself will change. It is for men to adapt themselves to changing conditions until, hundreds of millions of years hence, lack of warm sunshine drives the race away to

NEW AIRPORT AT BUTLER DEDICATED

Noted Fliers of Army, Navy And Commerce Take Part In Pretentious Exhibits

Under overcast skies before thousands of aviation enthusiasts, the Pittsburgh-Butler airport was dedicated this afternoon.

A pretentious air show followed the opening address of Richard W. Robbins, vice-president of the Pittsburgh Aviation Industries Corporation, builder of the field which comprises 640 acres. Notables of the air were in attendance, with fliers coming from all sections to represent the Army, Navy and commercial aviation.

BOON TO PITTSBURGH

Two days of festivities opened as Mr. Robbins made the dedication speech in which he termed the occasion a "memorable day for Pittsburgh, Butler and Western Pennsylvania."

Outlining the many local developments in airports in the Pittsburgh district, the speaker declared:

"Pittsburgh is now assured of being on the main trunk lines of transcontinental air lines as they develop. Here on this field we have hangar space and service facilities for 50 airplanes. Many miles of conduits and electric wires lie buried under the surface of the field to light it at night. Truly, this is the age of mechanical wonders."

A program of airplane racing, flying exhibitions, balloon strafing, parachute jumping and many other interesting events too numerous to mention was arranged. A band concert at noon opened the festivities, with the dedication program following immediately afterward.

MANY NOTABLES

The invitation list of visitors included the names of many notables, both men and women, in the aviation world. Headed by Brig. Gen. James E. Fechet, chief of the Army Air Corps, who was to officially represent the United States Government, the list includes many others of equal prominence. Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former assistant attorney general, and Secretary of Labor James J. Davis were expected to attend.

Mayor Charles H. Kline was to represent the City of Pittsburgh, and Mayor George Bob Wick, of Butler, was scheduled to head a delegation from his city.

Interspersed with exhibition flying, band concerts, parachute jumping and various other ground exhibitions, the principal event follow-

U. S. Crooks Keeping 'Cuff' Makers Alive

BIRMINGHAM, England, Sept. 27.—American crooks seem to be doing somebody some good. Much of the world's supply of handcuffs is made here, trade secret being handed down from father to son, and a manufacturer says: "If it were not for large orders from America we should have to go out of business."

SUN-TAN BRINGS DEATH

Crayon Sketch by Russ Linkenheimer

MISS MYRNA DARBY, PITTSBURGH STAGE BEAUTY

Miss Darby, young Pittsburgh beauty in the Follies, was to have been presented with this sketch by Russ Linkenheimer, Perryville avenue artist who was a school chum of hers. They corresponded and Linkenheimer made the sketch from memory and photographs sent him by Myrna, who died today from heart trouble, the last development as the result of over-dancing and a severe coat of sun-burn. She suffered a sudden relapse.

LINDY RISKS LIFE FOR PICTURES

MARACAY, Venezuela, Sept. 27.—(INS.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his passengers, who are making a circuit of the Caribbean countries, leave here today for Caracas, the capital of Venezuela.

The noted flier arrived here yesterday from Port of Spain, Trinidad. He and his companions were received by military and civil officials.

Following the arrival, members of the party told how Col. Lindbergh had thrilled the voyagers by climbing out on the cowling of the plane to take pictures while the machine was speeding at over 100 miles an hour.

MYRNA DARBY DIES IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Myrna Darby, 21, of Pittsburgh, a Ziegfeld show girl, died at her home here today from inflammation of the heart said by her physician to have been the result of over-exercise and sunburn.

Miss Darby was "discovered" by Florenz Ziegfeld in Pittsburgh and came to New York when she was 17. She appeared in "No Fooling," "Rio Rita," the "Follies," "Rosalie" and "Whoopee."

The Ziegfeld office reported her physician as saying her heart was over-taxed this summer by an acute case of sunburn and strenuous swimming.

Myrna Darby, a Beechview girl, gained her start on the stage as a bridesmaid in "Abie's Irish Rose" when that perennial was playing in Pittsburgh several years ago. At that time she was a pupil in Business High School.

Out of school, Miss Darby went to work as a stenographer in the local Prohibition Headquarters. She "ran away" soon after and was located in New York with stage ambitions.

'Tiger,' 88, Expects to Die Soon—Doesn't Worry

PARIS, Sept. 27. — (INS.) — Former Premier Georges Clemenceau, the "Tiger," who will be 88 years old tomorrow, is not going to celebrate his birthday in any special way.

M. Clemenceau fears he is going to die before the year is out. But he is not worrying.

"My mother died when she was 83 years old. My father was 87. I am now 88, and am thus in the 'danger zone.' I do not ask for death, but I am not afraid of it. I am waiting for it. Just last night I dreamed I was dying. I rather think I shall die before the year is out."

"I don't like to hear you say this, Monsieur Le President," replied his old friend. "Don't you remember you told me I would die before you did because I am so afraid of death?"

STOCKS RALLY AFTER BIG CRASH

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The Stock market resembled a fisherman's cork bobbing in heavy waves today.

Bulls who had been riding on the crest of an unprecedented public buying wave were stopped suddenly around noon today. They were taken completely by surprise. For an hour or more they were at the mercy of the bears.

FRENZIED SELLING

Stock prices melted away as frenzied selling for a time found few buyers. Brokers' offices were in an uproar. Erstwhile optimists who had believed the week's selling was over, rushed to sell, as they visioned fading profits.

But the bears overplayed themselves. As suddenly as the dip had started, it was stopped and prices dashed upward on a wave of buying that came from every section of the country. Leading issues snapped back swiftly, hasty covering by bears aiding the upshoot during mid-afternoon.

And the public played the goat. Thousands of margin accounts were wiped out in the flurry.

STEEL TOUCHES 225½

At one time United State Steel common sank to 225½, a drop of 7 points. Westinghouse lost about 9 points at 235 and scores of other stocks toppled in the selling wave.

Unable to "talk off" the effects of a $192,000,000 increase in brokers' loans and 6½ per cent Bank of England discount rate stock market experts for a time viewed with considerable misgivings the uncontrolled flow of selling orders for the best stocks on the board. But just as suddenly as the selling started, it ceased.

Texas Martial Law Proclamation Looms

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Gov. Dan Moody prepared to issue a proclamation declaring martial law for Hutchinson County and Borger today.

"There exists a conspiracy between officials and the criminal element, or law violators, and there have been obtained affidavits of instances of money passing to peace officers for protection from enforcement of the law," Gov. Moody said in making public findings of those who investigated the situation there.

He declined to say definitely whether he would send state troops to Borger, Hutchinson County oil town, where District Attorney John A. Holmes was assassinated recently.

Banker Waggoner Pleads Not Guilty

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(INS.)—Charles Delos Waggoner, Telluride, (Col.) bank president, today pleaded not guilty to six counts of using the mails to defraud when arraigned before Federal Judge T. Blake Kennedy. Trial of the case, in which Waggoner is accused of mulcting six New York banks of $500,000, was set for October 4.

The banker walked into the courtroom with hands in pockets and nonchalantly entered the plea. He is held in $100,000 bail and was in custody of United States marshals.

Infant Sixth Victim Of Sleeping Sickness

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(INS.)—Serus encephalitis, the acute variety of sleeping sickness that has broken out here, claimed its sixth victim today. Michael Keenan, a baby of 2 months, died in Bellevue Hospital. Medical leaders declare that no cure has been discovered for the disease.

Wife of Putnam, Publisher, in Reno

SENATE FEARS RUM EXPOSE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(INS.)—A scandal of the first magnitude is feared by political Washington today if Senator Brookhart (Rep.), of Iowa, tells a grand jury about a "wet" dinner given senators by a Wall Street broker named Fahey.

District Attorney Leo Rover, one of the District of Columbia officials named by President Hoover in his reply to Senator Howell (Rep.), Nebraska, as being responsible for enforcement conditions here, announced he would be "very glad" to have Brookhart tell what he knows about "flasks under the tables."

The whole rumpus over whether the capital is ultra-wet or not was started by Howell.

Brookhart took up the cudgels after President Hoover rebuked Howell. He startled the Senate a few days ago when he asked Senator Smoot (Rep.), Utah, if, when he attended the dinner held a year or so ago, he saw flasks under the tables. Smoot couldn't remember that he had and denied he had seen a bootlegger or booze there.

SAFE CRACKERS BIND JANITOR

Surprised while "cracking" the safe in the office of the Hill Top branch of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, second floor of a building at 316 Brownsville avenue, Knoxville, early today, three men bound a janitor, forced him into a closet and escaped.

Harry Welch, 27, of 102 Knox avenue, Mt. Oliver, the janitor, told Knoxville police that shortly before daylight he went to the place, and entered through a rear door. After switching on the lights, he said, he was confronted by a man with a revolver, who backed him into a corner.

THREE FLEE

Through a door he saw two others working at the safe, which had been dragged from a front office. After binding him and forc-

Subway Slayer Held For Mentality Survey

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(INS.)—David Bernstein, 47, the Brooklyn tailor who confessed a "funny feeling" in his stomach caused him to push James Tucker, 67, from a Brooklyn elevated station to his death beneath the wheels of an oncoming train, was held on a charge of murder today.

Bernstein was remanded to jail for an examination October 3. A young woman representative of the Jewish Aid Society told the magistrate that Bernstein had been suffering from a mental disease.

Britain and Soviet To Resume Relations

LONDON, Sept. 27.—(INS.)—Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson and M. Dovgalevsky, Soviet Russian commissioner, have reached a practical agreement for immediate resumption of Anglo-Soviet diplomatic relations, it was learned from an official source this afternoon.

An official communique states that the Anglo-Soviet negotiators have agreed to list the subjects which will be definitely settled after diplomatic relations are resumed.

BORKOWSKI CASE GOING TO JURY

BULLETIN.

Prosecutor Roy T. Clunk, closing his argument before the Borkowski murder trial jury in Criminal Court today, asked, by implication, the death penalty for Lieut. Walter J. Lyster and Harold Watts. For the third defendant, Frank Slapikas, Clunk asked only the second degree.

After Judge James H. Gray's charge the jury was to retire to its deliberations.

Clunk's closing words were:

"When you say Watts and Lyster are guilty of first degree, make your recommendation and show them the same mercy that they showed Borkowski."

A jury of one woman and 11 men today will deliberate on the fate of three coal and iron police who are charged with the murder of John Borkowski, miner, of Tyre.

The last witness was heard at last night's session in Criminal Court. Today, after hearing the closing arguments of counsel and the charge of Judge James H. Gray, the jurors will retire to decide the fate of Lieut. Walter J. Lyster, Harold Watts and Frank Slapikas.

Assistant District Attorney Roy T. Clunk is expected to ask the jury to send Lyster and Watts to the electric chair.

Attorneys Charles B. Prichard and Edward G. Coll today pleaded for freedom for the three.

COLL ASSAILS CLUNK

Attorney Coll, first to address the jury, admitted that Watts had inflicted Borkowski's wounds, assailed Prosecutor Clunk, Dr. J. M. Patterson and John Higgins, Commonwealth witnesses.

"Watts had every right to beat Borkowski, for Borkowski had stabbed him," Coll asserted.

"Clunk," Coll told the jury, "heretofore has been very honest, but in this case he seems to have lost his sense of decency and honesty. Don't pay any attention to the squabbles across counsel table.

Coll suggested that Dr. Patterson's testimony had been supplied to him by county detectives from Higgins.

"The doctor is an old man. In his prime he was a good physician. He evidently thinks his story is true but why couldn't he point out the man he accuses?"

PASSES LIE TO HIGGINS

Prichard, following Coll, described Higgins as "an unspeakable falsifier" and Dr. Patterson was incompetent because of his age.

Dr. Patterson's testimony was his alibi, Prichard asserted, for his failure to treat Borkowski and Watts properly.

"Borkowski should have been removed to the hospital immediately; Watts had to be treated for two months in the county jail," Prichard said. "I pity Patterson in his advanced years."

"There is nothing to justify holding Slapikas as a defendant,"

FRENCH ACE HEADS FOR SIBERIA

Famous Pilot Will Attempt To Reach 5,000-Mile Goal; Plane Making Good Speed

PARIS, Sept. 27.—(INS.)—Dieudonne Coste, the French trans-Atlantic aviator, who hopped off at Le Bourget Field at 8:20 o'clock this morning to attempt to set a new world aviation endurance record, was reported over Liege, Belgium, 250 miles northeast of Paris, shortly after noon.

Later in the afternoon he was reported over Cologne, Germany.

Announced as a distance flight to the East, nevertheless the objective of the intrepid and temperamental Frenchman and his companion remained uncertain until after the start because some thought Coste had prepared to make another attempt to fly the Atlantic and reach New York.

Returning military air escorts attested to the fact that Coste really was headed East, that he had already passed over Crepy-en-Valois at a fast clip, this point being about half the 90 miles to Laon, northeast of Paris.

Maurice Bellonte, who has been Coste's constant flying companion on recent thrilling ventures, is alternate pilot of the plane, which can remain in the air 50 hours. It is loaded with 1,350 gallons of fuel and 60 gallons of oil. The fliers took a good stock of food. Coste expects to cover 5,000 miles, and reach Far Siberia.

BUTLER AIRPORT DEDICATED

ing the opening address included an air race for small planes, a balloon strafing contest, an interesting exhibition of motorless gliding and a spectacular aerial smoke-screen demonstration.

PRIZES OFFERED

Prizes ranging from $50 to $200 were offered in the airplane race and similar awards will be given in the balloon strafing contest. The smoke screen demonstration was to be part of the exhibition arranged by government combat planes, the idea being to show how ground maneuvers are screened from the air by a curtain of smoke laid down from planes on the wing. This unusual demonstration will be repeated again tomorrow.

Tomorrow's program includes a race from Johnstown for cash prizes and a trophy donated by Robert McEldowney of Johnstown. This event is open to any type or any size plane. Cash prizes are $150, $125 and $100 for first, second and third places. The planes will start from the municipal field at Johnstown, leaving there shortly after noon tomorrow, and finishing at the Pittsburgh-Butler field.

NIGHT EXHIBITION

Special aerial exhibitions have been planned at night at the field, including fireworks bombardments and demonstrations of night flying.

Women are playing an important part in the dedication program. Mrs. Louise McPhetridge Thaden, wife of the airplane designer, and Blanche Noyes, prominent aviatrix, are scheduled for exhibitions. Both flyers were prominent in the recent National Air races to Cleveland. Mrs. Thaden took first place in the woman's cross-country derby and Miss Noyes finished fourth.

The complete program for today included:

1:00 P. M.—Dedication ceremonies.
1:30 P. M.—Acrobatic flying.
2:15 P. M.—Balloon straing.
3:15 P. M.—Glider flying exhibition.
3:45 P. M.—Formation flying.
4:15 P. M.—Race, 500 cubic inch displacement or less.
5:15 P. M.—Exhibition flying.
6:00 P. M.—Parachute jumping exhibition.
6:30 P. M.—Smoke screen exhibition.
7:45 P. M.—Fireworks from airplane and ground.

HOOVER TARIFF REPLY AWAITED

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The point of interest in the tariff fight shifted to the White House today as the Senate, still debating the flexible provision, awaited a statement from President Hoover as to whether the new tariff bill carries out his personal campaign pledges of last fall.

The Senate expected the President to make a prompt reply to the challenge of Senator William E. Borah (Rep.), of Idaho, now leading the insurgent revolt against Hoover's tariff leadership. Borah demanded that the President, having broken his silence to indorse the flexible feature, now state his position on the new industrial and agricultural rates and his attitude toward the measure as a whole.

It was the unanimous verdict on Capitol Hill, among Republicans as well as Democrats, that the President had blundered politically by entering the tariff war. It was felt he would have profited more by remaining silent until the bill reached the White House for his approval—a course publicly advocated by Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican floor leader.

GIRLS TRAP MAN UNDER BED

Harry Holomon, 29, Negro, of 1201 Wylie avenue, must serve 60 days in jail or pay $100 fine for parking under the bed of a young woman student of the Pittsburgh Bible Institute, 8 Congress street.

When his big brown shoes were noticed last night, it was testified in Morals Court today by Miss Margaret Pepin and an associate student, calls for help brought Charles Neat, a Bible student in an adjoining building, who overpowered the Negro and held him for police.

Holomon claimed that, working in a garage adjoining the Institute dormitory, two men frightened him and he climbed over the roof and into the room where he was hiding when the young women entered.

Magistrate A. D. Brandon imposed the sentence.

Three Women Add Drama To Policemen's Trial

Three women watched three men last night. The eyes of one wandered; the eyes of the second were fastened on the broad shoulders of Lieut. Walter J. Lyster, the third burned on the muscular form of Harold P. Watts.

One was Mrs. John Borkowski, widow of the miner slain, the state alleges, by Lyster, Watts and Slapikas. The shrillness and anguish of her voice split the air of the court room. Hysterical, she had to be quieted.

Twice during the day she had interrupted the court procedure, calling from her seat in the front row her question:

"But why did you kill my John?"

Late yesterday, her final outcry, she screamed at Lyster's counsel:

"Why don't you ask him about that other murder he committed?"

EJECTION THREATENED

The second woman was Mrs. Lyster, graying, matured, the mother of one whom the state desires to die. Her gaze enveloped in the form that sits almost motionless in a defendant's chair, shows nothing of the barbs that, aimed at him, strike her. She cannot see his eyes, for they face the judge. She has to be satisfied with his huge shoulders. Like mother, like son. Both are grim and unemotional.

The third, greying, too, is the mother of Watts. She likewise, is self-disciplined, collected. Now and then her eyes drop. Perhaps they are tired.

Three women in the same row of seats heard the night session last night and met the climax of their lives.

UNSEEN DRAMA

Theirs was the little drama that the mob—those 250 who represented the cross-section of life—missed. But no one knew what lines they were saying, excepting Mrs. Borkowski's.

The court room and its heralded night session—the last excepting the closing addresses—was jammed by the curious. What the crowd saw was the dramatic battle of two veterans of many murder trials, Edward Coll, his one hundred and twenty-fifth, and Charles B. Prichard, who has defended "Oh, 50 or 75." Coll lost three, but none went to the "hot seat." Only one of Prichard's Raymond Winters, was electrocuted.

GANGSTER SHOT BY DRY DIES

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Pedro Guajardo, member of the gang that shot and fatally wounded Charles Stevens, federal prohibition officer, in a gun battle on a highway near here last Monday, died last night of wounds received in the fight.

Guajardo was one of six persons charged with the murder of Stevens. The others are his wife, Mrs. Louisa Guajardo; Joe Hoebrecht, alleged leader of a bootleg ring in San Antonio; Alice Smith, Lee Cottle, alias Louis Copeland, and Linn Stephens. All except Stephens have been arrested.

MINE SLAYING DEFENSE ENDS

CLUNK OUTLINES CASE

"Dr. Patterson is not on trial, neither is Higgins," Clunk reminded. "When you have decided who inflicted the injuries on John Borkowski you will know the perpetrators of this murder.

"If," Clunk advised the jury, "you believe that Watts and Lyster beat the defenseless Borkowski after warnings from Dr. Patterson and Corp. Mechling, then we ask you to find the defendants guilty of murder in the first degree.

LAYS DEATH TO FALL

To support his contention that Borkowski died of injuries received when he fell in fleeing from Watts, Prichard last night sent Dr. Charles B. Schildecker, surgeon of the West Penn Hospital, to the witness stand.

Schildecker, dealing with a hypothetical case, testified that a man was more likely to suffer broken ribs in a fall than from a beating.

Clunk in his closing words will point to the testimony of Dr. J. M. Patterson, physician of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, and John Higgins, friend of the late miner.

STATEMENTS SHOWN

Clunk fired his parting shot in rebuttal at last night's extended session, which attracted a crowd that taxed the courtroom's capacity.

The prosecutor introduced signed statements taken from Watts and Slapikas the day after they were arrested in February.

Clunk emphasized that neither statement told of the tussle which Watts yesterday testified to having with Borkowski outside the Blussick home.

Twice she cried out in court, until Judge Gray warned her that further interruption would bring her ejection.

"But why did they kill my John?" the weeping widow cried, rising from her seat, as Prichard outlined his case to the jury.

Later, as Lyster was testifying as to his war record, she screamed:

"Why don't you ask him about that other murder he committed?"

DENNY BEATING VICTIM

The three defendants themselves marched to the stand yesterday and explained their pleas of not guilty.

Lyster denied beating Borkowski; Watts admitted inflicting blows on him, but added that he struck only in self-defense after Borkowski had stabbed him; Slapikas testified he had neither seen nor taken part in any beatings.

The defense, as outlined by Prichard, was this: That Watts and Slapikas went to the Blussick home to buy whisky on which to base a liquor charge against John Higgins; that in the fight which ensued Borkowski, son-in-law of Mrs. Blussick, stabbed Watts; that at the police barracks to which Higgins and Borkowski, both arrested, were taken, none of the defendants attacked either of the prisoners.

JURORS TOLD PEACOX WAS 'FRAMED'

Witness Influenced, Charges Defense Attorney, Into Making False Statement

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service.

COURTHOUSE, WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Sept. 27.—"The case against Earle Peacox was 'framed.'"

Defense Attorney Sidney A. Syme shouted this charge today as he made an impassioned plea to the jury to save the young radio technician and dance hall "sheik" from the electric chair for strangling his 20-year-old bride, Dorothy, on their first wedding anniversary, last April 21.

The district attorney, Frank H. Coyne, was not a party to the alleged "frame up," Syme quickly added.

MOTHER WEEPS

Syme was theatrical at times during his oration. Once, in contending Peacox did not premeditate the crime, he turned to Mrs. Catherine Peacox, the defendant's black-garbed mother, sitting at her son's side, and cried:

"Not any more than I am premeditating the murder of this poor unfortunate mother."

Mrs. Peacox wept. Her heavy-set frame shook convulsively. She removed her spectacles and wiped her eyes.

"FRAMED," HE SAID

Syme charged that Frances Newman was used by certain officials, whom he did not name, to "frame" a case against Peacox strong enough to put him in the electric chair. Miss Newman is the Broadway dance-hall hostess with whom Peacox associated when he and his wife were separated.

"They twisted Frances Newman around their fingers," shouted Syme. "They got her to testify to things that Peacox never said. On the stand she declared this boy (Peacox) had told her he would 'get' Dorothy—that he had said, 'I'll get her some day.' Now, what he really said was, 'She'll get hers some day.'

"Gentlemen of the jury, there is a whole lot of difference between these two statements."

"NOT PREMEDITATED"

Scoffing at the contention Peacox "premeditated" the crime, Syme said:

"If a man intended to kill a person, he would not take the victim to a house where every pin could be heard drop. People who deliberate don't do that. They don't go to a place where there is a spying woman behind a window shade, and where the body must be carried out. They don't drive into the jaws of being discovered."

The "spying woman" Syme referred to was Mrs. Muriel Clarke, who lived below the Peacoxes, and who testified she saw Peacox carting the body to his car at three o'clock in the morning.

Syme predicted the jury would be asked to convict "because of what happened afterward"—the burning of the body and the tying of a string around the girl's neck.

COYNE LASHES SYME

District Attorney Frank H. Coyne told the jury he did not intend to be dramatic, to appeal to their hearts rather than their heads. He said he would simply give them the facts.

Police found the combination dial had been knocked off and the hinges tampered with. It would have been some time before it could have been opened, they said.

Investigation revealed the men had entered through a rear window from a roof of another section of the building. Nothing else in the offices had been bothered, the police said.

Officials of the company were notified of the attempted robbery. Police were unable to learn what amount of money was in the safe.

THE old idea was that Congress should write the laws, the President approve or veto them, the Supreme Court interpret them.

Mr. Mussolini would agree with Senator Borah's suggestion.

ALDERMAN, KIN INDICTED IN ROW

The grand jury today indicted Alderman A. C. Markus, Second Ward, McKeesport, and his brother, Albert A. Markus, a private detective, on a charge of aggravated assault and battery. A presentment charging Attorney P. C. Pachtman, of Braddock, with simple assault was ignored by the body.

The suit and counter suit followed an argument in the alderman's court in which, it was charged, the two Markus brothers attacked Pachtman.

Master Leaps From Bridge, Dog Swims to Rescue

Jacob Abramovitz's dog lived up to the "man's best friend" traditions of his kind early today, even though he had to swim to the middle of the Allegheny River to do it.

Abramovitz, police said, jumped from the Sixth street bridge in an attempt to end his life. A certain lady had "passed him up," police said he told them, and he was tired of it all.

While Patrolman George Swartzmiller, of Central Station, and E. J. Ihnat, of 1635 Fifth avenue, struggled with the half-drowned man in the river, Abramovitz's police dog, "Boy," ran from the center of the bridge to the end of the structure, down the bank and into the water. Then silently he swam out to the struggling men, and back again as the skiff with the rescued and rescuers returned to the shore. It was 3 a. m.

Abramovitz was laid on the river bank and the patrol wagon summoned. "Boy" pranced about the prostrate form, licking his master's face and hands. He whined and barked, and looked appealingly at the rescuers.

The patrol arrived and "Boy" forced his way into the wagon, still whining and licking his master's face.

At the police station Abramovitz told the sergeant he is a rubber in a bathhouse in Franklin street, and that he lives at 33 Boone way.

He was charged with disorderly conduct and locked in a cell where he was soon fast asleep.

A few hours later, in Central Police Court, Abramovitz admitted to Magistrate Thomas D. Jones that he had been drinking, and was fined $10 with the alternative of 30 days in the workhouse.

State's Youngest Chief Justice Honored

SHERMANSDALE, Pa., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—The second youngest man to become chief justice of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court today paid tribute to the most youthful head of the state's judiciary, John Bannister Gibson, chief justice from 1827 to 1851.

Chief Justice Robert Von Moschzisker, who began his judicial career at 33, the age at which Gibson was first appointed to the Common Pleas bench, was listed as the principal speaker at dedication of a tablet marking Gibson's birthplace at Gibson's Mills, near here.

First appointed to the Supreme Court in 1816, Justice Gibson, a Democrat, assumed the chief justiceship when he was 47. The present chief justice, who is a Republican, was 50 when he ascended to his place.

Italy and Belgium Royal Troth Hinted

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—An audience granted by Pope Pius today to Cardinal Van Roey, primate of Belgium, caused renewal of talk that the Princess Maria Jose, of Belgium, and Crown Prince Humbert, of Italy, were about to be betrothed. Official confirmation or denial was not forthcoming either here or in diplomatic circles of Rome.

'98 Gold Rush Vet Finds Savings Multiplied

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—In 1898 when the sourdoughs by hundreds were leaving Seattle for the Alaskan gold fields, H. R. Johnson joined the throng. Yesterday, for the first time, he returned to Seattle.

He pushed a pass book through the teller's window of a bank here. There had been one deposit of $450 on December 26, 1896.

The pass book was brought down to date, crediting Johnson with $1,684.20, representing 4 per cent interest compounded annually.

"Just let it ride," said Johnson. "I'm going to visit Wisconsin and then I'll return to Alaska."

MRS. HOOVER BACK HOME

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the President, returned to Washington on a midnight train, concluding her two-day visit to New York, where she opened an exhibition of early American art objects for the benefit of the Girl Scouts of America.

Mrs. Hoover spent most of the day conferring with Girl Scout officials. Between engagements she went on a shopping tour, accompanied by her secretary, Miss Winifred Hall.

She made a brief address before the clerical force of the Girl Scouts at the national headquarters of the organization, and invited them to visit her in Washington.

"Come down to see me," she said. "Charter a car and come down to lunch some day. We will have a real rally on the White House lawn."

Mrs. Hoover, formerly chairman of the board of directors of the Girl Scouts, now is honorary president.

Wife Given Divorce From Morgan's Kin

RENO, Nev., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Mrs. Marie Louise Hamilton was granted a divorce here from Pierpont Morgan Hamilton, of New York, on the ground of desertion and mental cruelty. She is the daughter of C. Ledyard Blair, New York broker. Hamilton is said to be a nephew of J. Pierpont Morgan, financier.

Doctors Consult Via Ocean Radio

BERLIN, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—There has been a trans-Atlantic medical consultation by radio. A specialist here telephoned to an authority in Buenos Aires, and photographs were radioed. It took about 10 minutes. The consultation was a success. The Argentine authority confirmed the opinion of Berlin physicians that the patient could not be cured.

Slayer Convicts Granted Death Stay

MRS. PANTAGES GRAVELY ILL

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27.—(INS.)—With Mrs. Alexander Pantages, wife of the theatrical financier, reported to be gravely ill from nervous collapse, her attorneys fear that she will be unable to appear in court today to be sentenced for manslaughter.

Several physisians were in attendance today at the bedside of the woman who was convicted of manslaughter Wednesday night for the death of Juro Rokumoto. She has been in a state of nervous shock since her collapse immediately following the verdict of "guilty."

Motions for a new trial have been prepared in an effort to save her from a one-to-10-year sentence in the penitentiary, W. I. Gilbert, one of her attorneys, announced.

Perjury indictments of two, and possibly three, witnesses for the defense were to be asked of the grand jury today, it was announced.

Next Monday the Rev. Robert Shuler, of the Trinity Methodist Church, and the Rev. Gustav A. Briegleb, of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, are to appear before Judge Carlos Hardy on contempt charges for alleged improper statements made over the radio regarding conduct of the trial.

Shuler is charged with having said the Pantages jury was hung "before testimony was started."

The district attorney's office announced that it is completing its arrangements for the trial of Mrs. Pantages' husband, charged with criminal assault. He is under indictment for an alleged attack on Eunice Pringle, stage dancer, in his theater office.

Storms Bar Soviet Plane Hop to Alaska

SEATTLE, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Prevented by heavy storms from taking off for Seward, Alaska, the Russian plane "Land of the Soviets" remained at Dutch Harbor, Unalaska Island, today awaiting a lull in the weather to continue to the Alaska mainland, a distance of 700 miles. The plane landed in a storm at Dutch Harbor Tuesday on its way from Moscow to New York.

30-YEAR TERM GIVEN FASCIST TRAITOR

International News Service.

ROME, Sept. 27.—Cesare Rossi, former right hand man of Premier Mussolini and later an anti-Fascist leader, was found guilty of treason and conspiracy by a special tribunal today and sentenced to 30 years' imprisonment.

The trial attracted nation-wide attention and the courtroom was packed.

The president of the court, Gen. Cristini, ordered the police report read containing quotations from Rossi's writings against Mussolini and the Fascisti, while he was living outside of Italy.

ADMITS ARTICLES

The state alleged these writings proved that Rossi tried to foment an anti-Fascist counter revolt and that he was in conspiracy with Soviet emissaries and anarchists in foreign countries, working against Mussolini.

Rossi admitted writing articles and letters as well as frequenting places where leaders of the anti-Fascist and pro-Soviet groups gathered, but he claimed his activities abroad were instigated solely by personal poverty. He said he had to get money to live.

"I always tried to sell lies to the anti-Fascist groups abroad," Rossi said.

State Prosecutor Isgro said that despite the special defense of the realm act which prescribes capital punishment for such offenses, he requested only a prison term.

The prosecutor pointed out the interest in this trial not only in Italy but throughout the entire world. He spoke of possible outside criticism if the court's verdict were deemed too harsh.

BRANDED AS TRAITOR

Five years ago Rossi was denounced by the Fascist party as a traitor, a kidnaper and enemy of Fascism. He was alleged to have been implicated in the kidnaping and murder of Deputy Giacomo Matteotti in 1924.

Rossi was arrested, but was subsequently released. After a series of legal battles he again gained his freedom and fled to Switzerland.

About 15 months ago Rossi, who was still living in Switzerland, went automobile riding with a young woman. He crossed the frontier at Campioni and was immediately seized by an Italian Fascist guard. The young woman, Mrs. Margaret Durand, was detained for a brief time and then released.

FALL EN ROUTE TO CAPITAL

EL PASO, Tex., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, left here last night for Washington where he is scheduled to go on trial October 7, on bribery charges in connection with the leasing of the Elk Hills Oil Reserve. He was accompanied by Mrs. Fall and two daughters and his physician, Dr. G. T. Safford.

Dr. Safford said Fall "seems to be fairly well, but he is not as strong as the last time he was in Washington. I am going with him to guard his health during the trip."

The physician said he did not think it would be necessary for him to remain with his patient during the trial.

JURY DISAGREES IN DRY TRIAL

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—A jury trying four Erie men for conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws, was discharged in Federal Court here after it had failed to reach a verdict following 24 hours of deliberation. The defendants were Morris P. Radow, "Red" Brown, Emmett J. Bard and Meyer Gold.

The jury asked for further instructions and information at noon and at 4 o'clock reported disagreement.

The four men, with Robert Slater, who was freed when the court directed the suppression of all evidence in his case, were arrested in a series of raids in which liquor, distilling and bottling apparatus valued at $200,000 was seized.

SMOOT BLAMED FOR VET DELAY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Sharp debate over pending veterans' legislation was precipitated in the Senate by Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, who sought action on one of his bills to aid the World War soldiers.

The discussion drew caustic remarks from half a dozen Senators and called from Brookhart the statement that the finance committee was the "hardest-boiled" in the Senate.

The Iowan's observation followed his request for transfer from that committee to the pension committee of his bill to remove from the veteran the necessity of proving that his disability was caused by service in the war.

Chairman Smoot jumped to his feet to remark that the Iowa Senator's statement was "unjust and uncalled for," and asked him to withdraw it from the record.

"I would accommodate the Senator if I could in good conscience," Brookhart retorted.

Smoot said he would much prefer that the bill remain in his committee, and promised action on it at the next regular session.

WAR SABOTAGE WITNESS FOUND

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—New evidence in the $40,000,000 sabotage claims against Germany, based upon alleged responsibility of German agents for the Black Tom and Kingsland, N. J., disasters of 1916 and 1917, shortly is to be laid before the Mixed Claims Commission.

The evidence tells how Theodore Waznizk, who worked at the Kingsland Foundry and had been widely sought for more than 12 years, appeared at the office of the German agent of the commission in Washington several weeks ago, admitted that the Kingsland fire started at his workbench, denied that he was in the service of Germany and told how he had lived in New York while the search for him was in progress.

The new evidence also purports to meet United States charges implicating directly two other alleged German agents—Kurt Jahnke, admitted head of the German secret service in this country during the war, who has now returned to his home and become a member of the Prussian Diet, and Lothar Witzke, the only German who was ever convicted and sentenced to be hanged as a spy in the United States. He was tried at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., and the death penalty later commuted.

Other records included in the new evidence purport to show that Jahnke—said by the United States to have set the Black Tom explosion on Governor's Island, New York, signed a time sheet only two days earlier while working as a watchman at the Anglo-London and Paris National Bank of San Francisco.

New York Opens War Against Noise

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—A big war on noise is in the making. Organizations representing property worth $7,000,000,000 have combined to softpedal roaring elevated trains, radio loud speakers, ash cans, hucksters, auto horns and the like.

Dry Leader Urges Punishing Rum Purchaser

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Dr. Clarence True Wilson, of the board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church, asserted in an address here last night that certain changes in the prohibition law were needed to make enforcement effective.

Addressing the Oregon conference of the church, Dr. Wilson said "the next amendment of the Volstead act must provide for the punishment of the buyer as well as the seller of liquor."

"The padlock feature of the Volstead act," he continued, "must be made mandatory for a second offense where a property used for bootlegging becomes a public nuisance."

Dr. Wilson suggested that young people be taught that alcohol is not good but a poison. "This leaves a great work for the public schools in teaching the evils of narcotics and intoxicants," he said.

STORM MISSES FLORIDA, CUBA

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 27.—(INS.)—All fear that Miami would be swept by a hurricane was dispelled today when Richard W. Gray, local meteorologist, issued the following statement at 10 a. m.:

"The storm this morning at 8 o'clock was apparently located about 100 miles south of Miami and 175 miles east of Key West. It may cause winds of moderate gale force (from 39 to 46 miles per hour) at Miami today or tonight, but there is no danger of hurricane winds. Where is no need for any further alarm."

HAVANA, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Moving with decreased intensity from a point 80 to 60 miles southeast of Key West and advancing in a westerly direction, the tropical hurricane which has lashed the Bahamas for the past two days, was stated in advisory weather bulletins today to have lifted its threat for Cuba.

LABOR LAW HITS FORD IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Declaring that certain clauses in the proposed national labor law which was approved in general by the Chamber of Deputies, would bring ruin to Mexican industry, Adrian Rene LaJous, general manager of the Ford Motor Company, of Mexico, has sent a memorial to Congress urging amendments to the measure.

Sr. Lajous said the provision which would compel employers who hire more than 20 workers to enter into collective contracts with them, was unconstitutional. He argued that industry in Mexico does not possess the enormous funds necessary to build homes for its workers, as provided in another clause of the bill. He also found fault with the indemnity clause of the bill.

Loss $100,000, Hawaii Tremors Continue

HILO, Hawaii, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Dispatches from Kealakelua in the Kona district said damage estimated at $100,000 was done by the earthquake Wednesday night. People were reported roaming the streets, fearing disaster. The earth was continually trembling as a result of lava movements within the slumbering volcanoes.

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., Sept. 27.—Wanted for an attack on William Williams and Henry Harper, laborers at a camp, with an ax, A. M. Moss, 27, a Negro, was arrested here by police and turned over to Shields police. The men got into an argument over $1.25 and Moss is alleged to have struck the two men, fracturing their skulls.

200 ARABS DIE AS REBELS

LONDON, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Cairo, Egypt, said the Arabian legation there had announced that Ibn Saud, King of the Hedjaz and Emperor of Nejd, had suppressed most of the outbreaks headed by rebelious Wahabi chieftains. Two hundred captives, who had been reprieved on two previous occasions, had finally been beheaded.

A dispatch to the same newspaper from Jerusalem said the Wahabis in the North were taking advantage of the embarrassment of Ibn Saud to raid villages on the frontier of trans-Jordania. Airplanes and armored cars had been sent from Amman to drive back these raiders.

Turkey Jails Four For Bootlegging Alphabet

ADAPAZAR, Turkey, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—An old woman and three Mohammedan priests are in jail awaiting trial for bootleg teaching of the Arabic alphabet, which has been forbidden by Mustapha Kemal. The woman had 60 pupils in the cellar of her house. The priests were teaching divinity students in the Mosque of Mohammed the Conqueror at Stamboul. No edition of the Koran in the new alphabet has yet been published.

DAUGHTER TO ACCOMPANY DIPLOMAT

Party Leaves London, Will Board Berengaria; Press Offers Faith in Venture

LONDON, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, with his daughter, Ishbel, and the members of his small official party, leaves London tonight to board the liner Berengaria at Southampton for a visit to President Hoover and a conference on limitation of armament.

Hearty expressions of good will which appear today in the British press of all political shades testify to the high hopes of the nation for the success of what the Premier himself has called a "voyage of exploration." With American aid, he hopes to "give the world an energetic faith instead of a hesitating skepticism."

Among the many visitors the prime minister received today was Stanley Baldwin, the former Conservative premier. Mr. Baldwin, who returned from a vacation on the continent, called on the Laborite leader to wish him bon voyage.

FAREWELL BY DAWES

Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, who has taken a large share in preparing the way for the British mission, will not accompany Mr. MacDonald's party to Sothampton, having taken his farewell yesterday and wished the Scottish labor chieftain godspeed. Many others will be on hand at Waterloo Station after dinner tonight to wave goodbye when the train pulls out at 8:20 p. m. Two hours later Mr. MacDonald will board the Berengaria.

The British apostle of peace is making the Atlantic trip in a ship which was one of the forfeits of the World War that brought home to the minds of nations the terror of the scourge, the removal of which is the main object of the present mission.

The Berengaria was formerly the German liner Imperator, named in honor of the Kaiser, who took keen interest in her building and whose suite on board MacDonald will occupy.

An air suppressed excitement pervaded the Prime Minister's household at No. 10 Downing street yesterday in anticipation of the journey which for at least two has much the character of an adventure. These are Miss Ishbel, the premier's daughter, and Miss Rose Rosenberg, his personal secretary. The two women have been much together the last few days sharing preparations for the journey.

'STAG PARTY' PLANNED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(INS.)—An official international "stag party," establishing a precedent and threatening to cause a furor among the ladies of the Capitol is part of the program prepared for Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald's stay in this city, it was reported here today.

The "stag party" will take place on the evening of October 9, when the British Premier has been invited to attend a dinner given by Secretary of State Stimson. Although no mention was made of the surprising characteristic of the dinner when the program was published, it is known that it will be "for men only," and that even the Premier's daughter, Ishbel, as well as Mrs. Stimson, will be excluded.

According to the opinion expressed in well-informed circles, Secretary Stimson is anxious to bring Premier MacDonald into contact with important individuals whose rank might not entitle them to be present at the White House state banquet and other official functions the Prime Minister will attend while here.

Japan Post Offer 'Interests' Fuller

NORTHAMPTON, N. H., Sept. 27.—(INS.)—Former Gov. Alvan T. Fuller, of Massachusetts, was noncommittal today when asked about published reports from Washington that he had been offered the important post of ambassador to Japan by President Hoover. He said the reports were "interesting."

Inn-Keepers Seek 'Drunk Law' Repeal

DANZIG, Germany, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—German inn-keepers desire that a law requiring them to post lists of drunkards be repealed, arguing it is hard to determine what a drunkard is, and anyhow there are few, if any, in German cities. The law was passed in 1844.

Edge Sees Urgent Need For Nicaragua Canal

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—The future well-being of international economic and political relations between the United States and Central and South America demands the construction of the proposed Nicaraguan canal, Senator Edge, New Jersey, said last night in a radio address.

His talk was broadcast in the weekly forum of the Washington Star over the Columbia network.

The senator sponsored the resolution in the last session of Congress whereby $150,000 was appropriated for a survey of the route parallel to the Panama Canal.

"My judgment," he said, "based upon a thorough survey of our trade conditions, is that we shall require two interoceanic arteries most urgently in the not far distant future if we are to cope adequately with the increasing imports of our manufacturing products alone."

Ishbel Bringing Message Of Peace to U. S. Women

LONDON, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—On the eve of her departure for America, Ishbel MacDonald, daughter of the British Prime Minister, who will accompany her father to Washington on Saturday, was today presented with an electric lamp as a farewell gift by the women of South Poplar district, Miss MacDonald represents South Poplar on the London County Council.

"I shall have an opportunity to tell the men and women of the United States and Canada," she said, "how very deeply we women of Great Britain feel about international understanding and peace. I am not going as a delegate or to take part in any conference, but perhaps by telling the Americans how deeply we women feel I can bring both a bit closer.

"Over there the women do not play such an important part in politics as they do in this country, and it will impress them when I tell them of this meeting," she told her constituents.

She admitted she was "terribly excited" over the prospect of the trip.

GANGSTERS KILL FOR REVENGE

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—The cold-blooded slaying of David Antink, former cashier of a chain drug store, was termed by police today as an act of vengeance by a gang of vicious criminals.

Antink, who six years ago was the victim of a $58,300 holdup and who was instrumental in convicting two of the robbers, was shot down last night near his home. Three men first felled him with a blackjack and used guns to finish the job while passersby looked on.

Police flashed an alarm for the apprehension of Granville Blair, 41, convicted on Antink's testimony for the robbery of May 21, 1923, and Morrie Moll, 29, "the phantom gunman." Moll was identified by Antink in St. Paul, Minn., last spring as a member of the holdup gang.

Blair was soon located in Oakland and arrested.

Child Hurt by Fall Dies of Tetanus

Tetanus resulting from a fall from a stool caused the death in the Pittsburgh Hospital today of George Eicher, 10, of 7257 Upland street, according to the coroner's report. The lad's arm was broken by the fall, which occurred in his home last Saturday. Blood poisoning set in.

3 BANDITS ROB BANK; SLAY 1

MARTINEZ, Cal., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Witnesses of a $35,000 robbery of the Pinole branch bank at Rodeo yesterday, in which a constable was shot to death, last night identified the leader of the bandits as Jake Fleagle, head of the notorious Fleagle gang, three of whose members are in custody in Colorado for the Lamar State Bank robbery.

Two witnesses declared the second bandit to be Joe Miller, another member of the outlaw band which is credited with staging a score of the largest bank and train robberies in the West.

Constable Arthur J. "Jerry" McDonald was shot to death by one of the three bandits when he attempted to halt the robbery, which occurred less than 15 minutes after an armored car had delivered a $27,000 payroll.

McDonald staged a single-handed battle against the trio and wounded one of them, now believed to be Fleagle. The odds were too great, however, and the courageous officer went down from a bullet in the stomach. He died a few hours later at a Richmond hospital.

After shooting their way to freedom, the bandits escaped in a dilapidated car into the the Contra Costa County hills in the direction of Oakland.

OFFICER'S SHOT KILLS AUTOIST

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Peter Wetter, 40, of Scranton, was shot and killed today by Motorcycle Patrolman Joseph Scheidle when the driver of the car in which Wetter was riding is alleged to have turned out the lights and attempted to run down the policeman.

The patrolman had gone to a residential block because of a complaint that suspicious characters were loitering about the neighborhood. He saw two women jump from an auto and a third woman lying in the street screaming. The patrolman signaled for the driver to stop. Instead, he said, the driver turned out the lights of his car and speeded toward the patrolman. Avoiding a collision the officer fired at the fleeing motorist, who escaped.

Later Ted Simon took Wetter's body to City Hospital. Simon was apprehended and identified as the driver of the death car.

Forbes Street Man Found Dead on Lot

Patrick Kane, 45, a roomer at 2119 Forbes street, was found dead in a vacant lot at 2210 Tustin street, early today. At Mercy Hospital it was said there were no marks of violence on the body.

Tablet Unveiled Where G. O. P. Got Name

EXETER, N. H., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—A tablet commemorative of the naming of the Republican party here in 1853 was unveiled at the Swampscott House. Miss Lois Conner, of this city, a direct descendant of Amos Tuck, who gave the party its name, unveiled the tablet, which was the gift of Harry V. Lord, of Boston.

The inscription on the tablet read:

WOMAN SOUGHT IN SHOOTING

PORTSMOUTH, O., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Elza Jenkins, 27, married and father of seven children, is in a hospital here suffering from the loss of his left eye and gunshot wounds about the upper part of the body. Police were looking for Mrs. Virgie Phipps, 30, wife of Clayton Phipps, a contractor. County authorities expressed a belief that jealousy was the cause of the shooting.

Jenkins was shot 15 miles north of here near the Phipps home, and the shooting was said by police to have resulted from a love affair.

INVESTIGATION OF LOBBYISTS DEMANDED

Hearst Newspapers' Expose Of Capital Propaganidsts Brings Congressional Action

Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Spurred on by the Hearst newspapers' astounding lobby disclosures, demand for searching investigation of all lobbies swept both branches of Congress yesterday.

Representative Ernest W. Gibson (Rep.), ermont, introduced a resolution in the House asking appointment of a joint Senate and House committee to investigate all lobbying activities in the capital.

Other developments were:

1. Senator Thomas Walsh (Dem.), Montana, famed Teapot Dome investigator, discussed the Hearst expose on the Senate floor, raising the question whether Charles L. Eyanson, "self confessed lobbyist" and assistant to the president of the Manufacturers' Association of Connecticut, is to receive any gratuity from his employers for sitting in the secret sessions of the Senate Finance Committee when it was framing the tariff bill.

BRANDED "VICIOUS"

2. Senator Barkley (Dem.), Kentucky, declared that the hiring of Eyanson by Senator Bingham (Rep.), Connecticut—revealed in the Hearst newspapers Wednesday — as "vicious" and a "sore breach of propriety."

3. Senator Brookhart (Rep.), Iowa, insisted that the general investigation of lobbying include a probe of Washington's "social lobby," starting with an inquiry into the "Wall street dinner." At this dinner, attended by senators, flasks of liquor were plac under the tables, Brookhart has charged.

As a result of these and other revelations which have rocked the capital this week it was considered a foregone conclusion that the Senate next will authorize a sweeping inquiry.

Senator Caraway (Dem.), Arkansas, already has a resolution to that effect pending. He expects to press for action on it within the next 10 days.

QUOTES HEARST PAPERS

The speech of Senator Walsh came in the midst of the tariff discussion on the floor of the Senate yesterday. Walsh took up the Hearst newspaper expose of the Eyanson-Bingham episode.

He recalled a somewhat similar "but not so brazen" situation of 30 years ago when a lobbyist for the National Wool Manufacturers' Association sat in the Senate finance sessions and passed information out to his employers.

Representative Ernest W. Gibson, (Rep.) Vermont, introduced a joint resolution in the House for a sweeping investigation.

Gibson's resolution would create a congressional committee of six — three Senators and three Representatives to conduct the investigation.

It provides for an inquiry not only into the activities of lobbyists, but of propagandists as well.

As a result of these and the maze of other revelations of lobbying activities which have rocked the capital this week, it appeared a foregone conclusion that the Senate and House will vote for an investigation which will go completely into all phases of the matter.

SENATE TO QUIZ NAVY CHIEFS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(INS.)—Naval officers who were members of the American delegation to the ill-starred Geneva disarmament conference will be called to answer charges that they connived with William B. Shearer, the agent of American shipbuilding firms, to "wreck the conference," when the Senate Naval Committee resumes its investigation of Shearer's activities next week.

Several officers were named by Drew Pearson, a newspaper reporter, as being on intimate terms with Shearer at Geneva. They included Rear Admiral Joseph M. Reeves, now attached to the Navy general board; Rear Admiral Frank Schofield, now commanding a battleship division of the fleet, and Commander Harold C. Train, also attached to the general board, who has been one of the experts who assisted in arriving at the recently negotiated British-American cruiser agreement.

Pending their appearance before the committee, the officers named declined to comment today on Pearson's testimony.

Pearson testified that Shearer "lavishly entertained" at Geneva; that he was "on intimate terms" with the naval members of the American delegation, and that he (Pearson) heard Admiral Reeves state that he wished the conference would fail.

Northcott, Slayer, Appendicitis Victim

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Cal., Sept. 27.—(INS.)—Gordon Stewart Northcott, convicted of murdering young boys in Riverside County, is in the hospital here today suffering from an attack of acute appendicitis.

When he was stricken late yesterday it was at first thought an immediate operation would be necessary. Surgeons later concluded to wait until today before making a definite decision. Northcott's appeal from a death sentence is scheduled to be heard later this month in Los Angeles.

Flier Dies, Student Hurt in Plane Crash

STERLING, Ill., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—George Maw, 32, flying instructor, was killed and Roy Johnson, 22, a student, was probably fatally injured when their airplane went into a nosedive and fell last night.

Boy Loses Thumbs, Fingers, as Cap Explodes

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 27.—Scratching a dynamite cap with a safety pin, Albert Miller, 16, of Dunbar, near here, suffered the loss of both thumbs and several fingers when the explosive let go. He was also badly burned about the legs.

Child Run Down By Auto; May Die

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 27.—Albert Reynolds, 8, suffered a fractured skull and two broken legs when run down by a car police said was driven by James Hertzfeld, Luthersburg, Pa. The accident happened near the boy's home in Vandervilt. It is said he ran behind a parked car into the path of the Hertzfeld machine.

DONAHOE'S FIFTH AVE.

FRESH EGGS

Your BEST Food!

DONAHOE'S FIFTH AVENUE EGGS are a balanced diet in themselves; they are rich in proteins, fats and minerals—needed by every human being. Why take a chance on being improperly nourished or undernourished when you can buy the most perfect food known to man—DONAHOE'S FIFTH AVENUE EGGS—fresh, infertile!

It's Like Buying Health Insurance to Buy and Eat These WONDERFUL EGGS

And they COST SO LITTLE! More than ordinary eggs, to be sure—and they're WORTH MORE! "The quality is remembered long after the price is forgotten."

WHY buy ordinary eggs? Most ordinary eggs come from hens obliged to pick up their living in the barnyard, they drink stagnant barnyard water; no one pays much attention to them except to gather the eggs. That's why such eggs fall into the lower grades.

DONAHOE'S FIFTH AVENUE EGGS are laid by healthy, snow-white hens, living out-of-doors in the sunlight and eating clean grain and green vegetables and drinking pure, fresh, running water. Isn't it worth a fraction of a cent per egg more to have YOUR family eat DONAHOE'S FIFTH AVENUE FRESH EGGS?

60c a dozen

An egg can be no better than the hen that laid it and the egg flavor no better than the food the hen ate!

Women's Jacket Frocks

of "Star Point" Cloth

$25

—Because the fabric's star point flecking in silver tone, gives a lightening touch to the background of black, light navy blue or brown.

—Because while it is light of weight, it has sufficient "body" to make it tailor well.

—Because the blouses of eggshell silk crepe have long sleeves.

Junior-Misses' Jersey Outfits

Jacket Frocks Which Have Blouses of Linen, Silk Crepe or Satin

$10

A fresh group of those smart little jersey outfits with contrasting blouses have arrived to make Saturday a gay shopping day for Miss 13-to-17.

With plain or frilled tuck-ins of handkerchief linen, silk crepe or satin, in such delightful contrasts as peach-colored blouses with brown outfits, Vionnet pink with wine, turquoise blue with navy, eggshell with red, and light green with dark green.

"Felice" Coats, $59.50

With the spotlight now on creamy beige lapin, here is a subtly flared "Felice" model which can be had in black, brown or dark blue, lavishly trimmed with this youthful and flattering fur.

Other models in the new "Felice" group are trimmed with pahmi, wolf, sable-dyed ringtail and black caracul. . . . All beautiful coats, and a surprise at $59.50.

Novelty Cuff Gloves

Of Washable Fabric

$1.50

Fabric gloves are the satisfactory choice for everyday wear because washing makes little difference in their appearance—particularly if they are of this exceptional "two-plex suede." The turned-back cuffs contrast with the rest of the glove. The gloves are shown in gray and three brown shades.

... Horne's, Main Floor ...

Sheer Duchesse Hose

$1.50

The unusually clear texture of the all-silk chiffon—the selection of new accessory shades—and the low price; these are three important reasons why so many women like Sheer Duchesse Chiffon Hose.

The newest shades include seven beige to brown shades, three gray tones and white.

RESCUED MAN GONE AS HERO GETS MEDAL

A touch of irony was stamped on the life saving medal presented today to Edward C. Pritchard, a lineman of the Duquesne Light Company, by E. W. Judy, vice president and general manager, in the Philadelphia Company Building.

The medal was presented to Pritchard in recognition of his efforts in saving the life of Harry Steuernagel, of 3959 Oakdale avenue, North Side. In his garage Steuernagel had been overcome by the fumes from the exhaust of his automobile. Pritchard worked over him for more than an hour and succeeded in bringing the victim back to life.

STEUERNAGEL GONE

Steuernagel was not present at the services today to add his thanks. This note, contained in a special delivery letter to his wife, is the only clue to his whereabouts:

"Goodby, Nellie. If you and God forgive me, I'll meet you over there. Harry."

WHEREABOUTS UNKNOWN

The medal was presented to Pritchard through the National Safety Council. It is presented for meritorious service to public utility companies' employes in saving life of victims through the Shaefer prone method of resuscitation. A certificate of award accompanied the medal.

6 FAYETTE MEN SENTENCED

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 27.—A stunning blow was dealt Fayette County's liquor ring today when six of seven admitted members were given heavy fines and workhouse sentences by Judge S. John Morrow.

The sentences carried an echo of the slaying of Constable John Donohoe, who was indicted with the others. He was found shot to death in his automobile near Masontown, July 31.

SENTENCES

All defendants pleaded guilty or no defense to liquor law violations. The sentences follow:

R. C. Bledsoe, former county detective and head of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad detectives at Connellsville, fined $3,600 and sentenced to serve three years and six months in the Allegheny County Workhouse.

Max Hannan, well known politician, fined $1,800 and sentenced to 18 months.

E. R. (Big Ed) Wonsetler, fined $3,600 and sentenced to three years.

Sam Spinella and Ben Bergie, fined $3,000 each and sentenced to serve 2½ years each.

Sentence was deferred on Sam Joseph, whose confession led to the arrest of the others.

Bledsoe was charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws and with illicit manufacture of liquor. He was arrested, with Spinella, Bergie, Sturiale and Joseph, following a raid by county detectives on the "Slaughterhouse still" early in the summer.

Hannan and Wonsetler were arrested in connection with an alleged political rum ring of which the Bledsoe operations were said to be one of the ramifications.

ZIONISTS SPLIT ON HOLY LAND

LONDON, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Recent events in Palestine have brought to a head a long threatened split in the Zionist organization.

The revisionist faction of the party, headed by Vladimir Jabotinsky, set up separate headquarters here and announced that it would try to enforce a bold policy in demanding the creation of special Jewish defense units in Palestine. These would be equivalent to a Jewish legion.

Doctor Chaim Weizmann, head of the Zionist organization, has refused to make this demand on the British government. Instead, he favors the policy of seeking a peaceful understanding with the Arabs in the Holy Land.

The Jabotinsky faction has issued a statement denouncing what they describe as "weak leadership" by Dr. Weizmann, and announcing the creation of an independent executive.

BERLIN MAYOR TO CROSS U. S.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—The itinerary of the trip across the continent to be taken by Mayor Gustav Boess, of Berlin, before returning to Germany next month was announced by the German Railways information office here.

The Mayor of Berlin is to terminate his New York visit on Saturday, when he will motor to Atlantic City, N. J. From there he will leave for Washington on Sunday and spend a day in the capital.

Short stops are scheduled for Detroit, Chicago, San Francisco, Los Angeles, the Grand Canyon, Kansas City, St. Louis and Philadelphia. From Philadelphia, where the Mayor's party is to arrive on October 20, they will return to New York to sail for Germany on the liner Bremen.

FIRES AT HAWK, KILLS GIRL

Ten-year-old Wilma Callen, of Millerstown, near Tarentum, was dead today, a victim of a bullet fired at a chicken hawk by a cousin in a field near their home late yesterday, deputy coroners reported.

The child was shot in the abdomen and died five minutes after she had been taken to Allegheny Valley Hospital. Deputy coroners said that she stepped in front of her cousin, Walter Allenberg, 15, as he was shooting at the hawk.

County Detective J. Edward Weber, who conducted an investigation, reported the shooting as accidental.

College Head Will Give Talks

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 27.—Dr. R. E. Tulloss, of Springfield, O., president of Wittenberg College, will speak Sunday morning at home-coming services for St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Warren. Dr. J. L. Latrobe Hotel Opposes Padlock

GREENSBURG, Pa., Sept. 27.—Three judges sitting here have heard exceptions to a temporary decree padlocking the barroom of the Hines Hotel, Latrobe, for one year. The hotel barroom was closed in a preliminary injunction for selling whisky early in the summer, and later a decree was made padlocking the place. No decision is expected for some time.

Wheeling Man Shoots Himself

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 27.—Michael Tudoran, 40, of Wheeling, was found dead this morning in a Terra Alta hotel with a bullet hole in his head and a revolver nearby. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide.

Tudoran was formerly a patient at the state tuberculosis sanitarium at Terra Alta and it is believed worry over his condition prompted the suicide.

NAB OFFICIAL IN GRAFT

GREENSBURG, Pa., Sept. 27.—Adam Siemon, 68, farmer and road supervisor of Mt. Pleasant Township, was held in $5,000 bail for court, following informations charging him with embezzlement and conversion of township funds.

The amounts will not total more than $1,000, it was stated.

According to the information, when Siemon paid his laborers he had them sign their names on the blank side of a check and then filled in the face of the check for various amounts. The laborers received their pay, but Siemon pocketed the difference, it was stated.

Fellow Employes Sued Over Injury

YORKVILLE, O., Sept. 27.—A novel civil suit, based on injuries alleged to have been sustained by James Sanders, of Tiltonville, a few days before the Fourth of July, when a number of young men, employes of the Yorkville mill, were hurling torpedoes at each other, is on file today.

Sanders wants $300 to cover medical expenses and loss of time due to being struck on the leg and painfully burned by the explosive. He has named Thomas Marker, of Rayland; Thomas Reardon, of Connorville; Raymond di Lorretta, of Shadyside, and George Tidrick, of Rayland, as defendants. He alleges someone in the group of his companions was negligent in throwing the torpedo near where he was seated.

Ice Manufacture To Be Suspended

TITUSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 27.—Manufacture of ice at the cold storage plant will be discontinued tomorrow, administrators of the estate of J. B. Pastorius announced. The affairs of the estate and of the Titusville Industrial Association, which bid in the building, are to be closed.

The cold storage plant was one of three industries brought to Titusville in 1897 when a fund of $250,000 was raised to boom the city.

MOVIE TRUST SUIT FAILS

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(AP).—Federal Judge Thacher dismissed a complaint in which leading motion picture producers and distributors, including Paramount, Fox, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and First National, were charged by the government with conspiracy in restraint of trade and violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

In the suit the government attacked a set of credit rules adopted by the defendants for the avowed purpose of reducing losses they had been suffering through the transfer of theaters to new owners pending the performance of exhibition contracts.

Sharon Moulders Go Out on Strike

SHARON, Pa., Sept. 27.—Twenty-five moulders at the Sharon Foundry Company plant, at Wheatland, are on strike. The disagreement came over the employment of nonunion workmen at the plant. The plant is operating five and one-half days a week and paying its moulders the regular scale of $1.04¼ an hour.

Engine Derailed, Man Hurt in Leap

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Harvey Smith, of this city, sustained severe cuts and bruises when he leaped from his Pennsylvania Railroad engine at Morris Junction, near here, as it jumped the track. This was the fourth derailment in as many days in this section.

Irwin Man Held As 'Peeping Tom'

GREENSBURG, Pa., Sept. 27.—Irwin residents believe with the arrest of Taylor Cain, of that place, on a charge of being a nuisance, the "Peeping Tom" who has been annoying home-owners there has been apprehended. Information against Cain was made by Mrs. Isabel Alishouse.

Dinner was a melody with coffee as the grace-note

The chefs of the old Maxwell House knew well how to roast "possum" or prairie grouse to a crisp golden brown, how to contrive many epicurean dishes whose savory fragrance only hinted at their goodness. And then, as the crowning delight with which to bid the guest farewell, a cup—or perhaps two—of the famous blended coffee which men and women still drink with reverence and with relish.

You will find this same coffee, named for the famous old hotel which first served it, at your grocer's now. Taste it, and to you it will be no mystery at all why Maxwell House has become the largest selling packaged coffee in the world.

GAS CAR LEAKS, 200 AFFECTED

BERLIN, N. H., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Two workmen were overcome and 200 others affected by chlorine gas which escaped from a tank car in the rear of the Brown Company paper manufacturing plant here last night.

A locomotive was shifting cars on the private railroad of the Brown Company when a connection was broken permitting gas to escape. As the gas had already been treated it was not poisonous, but realizing the danger, Alfred Duval and George Piper, rushed to stop the flow. They were overcome and the workmen in the plant were forced to seek the outside air.

The gas spread throughout the city and it was at first believed that a serious accident had happened. Ambulances were sent to the plant, but Duval was the only one sufficiently affected to need hospital treatment.

AIR MARKINGS FOR FRANKLIN

FRANKLIN, Pa., Sept. 27.—Franklin is getting air-minded. While the movement to provide an airport goes forward, with one private field nearing completion, another emergency field being made ready along the Pittsburgh road, and committees of various organizations working for another site, the Elks Club came forward today, heading the movement to make a number of factory buildings with the word "Franklin."

The Pennsylvania Station for the past year has been the only place so marked. It is along the Allegheny River. Buildings in the vicinity of French Creek are also to be painted, it is planned. Lights are are to be strung to the airport in Sugarcreek Township, it was stated.

Widow of Town's Founder Dies at 87

ZOARVILLE, O., Sept. 27.—Mrs. Anna Slutz, 87, resident here 68 years, and a native of Germany, died at the home of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Mary Slutz, Cuyahoga Falls, from the effects of a fall last fall. Mrs. Slutz's son died three weeks ago. Her husband, who was accidently killed 60 years ago, was a founder of Zoarsville.

Insurance Firm Sues for Equipment

BEAVER, Pa., Sept. 27.—Alleging that when R. W. Trevorrow, Johnstown, quit the Duss avenue paving contract, Ambridge, September 1, he took certain road equipment with him, the Hartford Accident and Indemnity Company, Hartford, Conn., filed suit in replevin here.

High Blood Pressure Shortens Life

Remarkable results are being obtained from the use of Blood Cell Protein Serums in the treatment of such disorders as Diabetes, Gout, Rheumatism, Neuritis, Hardening of the Arteries (with its attendant High Blood Pressure), and Biliary (Gall Bladder) and general Gastro-Intestinal Maladies. 35,000 people who live in Pittsburgh have tested these valuable Serums and have been permanently benefited. The Public celebrates our 20th Anniversary with great reduction in price, which will help many more afflicted. Patients pay for the Serums only. No Doctor Charges. One Serum will convince you. GAS COMPANIES IN LEASE WAR

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 27.—Development and expansion of natural gas as a fuel in the United States is having its effect in Washington and Greene counties.

A few years ago landowners were able to lease only the most attractive tracts. Now all available land is being sought, with the Columbia Gas and Electric Corporation, through its subsidiaries, Manufacturers, Greensboro and West Virginia Natural Gas companies; the Carnegie Gas Company, subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation; Equitable Gas Company, subsidiary of the Philadelphia Company, and the People's and Hope companies, subsidiaries of the Standard Oil of New Jersey, all competing.

CAR INSPECTOR FREED OF ILLS BY NEW KONJOLA

Suffered Four Years From Stomach Trouble—Konjola Came to Rescue After Others Failed.

Day after day Konjola, the new and different medicine, is winning additional friends and fame in Pittsburgh and wherever it is known and given the chance to prove its merits. In the short space of six years, Konjola has become the most talked-of medicine in America, simply because it makes good in those stubborn and obstinate cases that have defied and resisted all else tried. All who suffer and who would be well again are urged to call on one of the two Konjola Men in Pittsburgh. One is at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, and the other is at the Dow Drug Store, Diamond and Smithfield Streets. They are here, not primarily to sell Konjola, but to point the glorious road to health. They have a message of cheer and hope. They will point out wherein countless local men and women found their first and only relief through this super-remedy. Take, for instance, the case of Mr. Joe J. Anderson, car inspector for Pittsburgh Street Railway, living at 206 West Ninth Avenue, this city, who said to a Konjola Man a few days ago:

MR. JOE J. ANDERSON

"Konjola can count on me as a lifelong booster, for it did more for me than all the other medicines and treatments I took put together. I readily understand why it is the most talked-of medicine in Pittsburgh.

"I have been a car inspector for the past nine years, but for the past three years my work became increasingly difficult because of ill health. Stomach trouble made life miserable for me and I was so weak generally that I could hardly drag through the day. Often I developed a huge appetite while working, but immediately upon sitting down to the dinner table this appetite vanished. My appearance certainly showed my run-down condition. Friends recommended medicines and I tried them all but failed to benefit.

"Consequently I lost faith in all medicines and when Konjola was recommended I put it in a class with all the others I tried. What a mistake that was, for finally my friends persuaded me to give it a trial and I soon discovered that Konjola was master-medicine of medicines. It worked quickly yet thoroughly. Going to the source of the stomach trouble it cleansed and invigorated. Soon I found that I could eat what I pleased without distress. I gained rapidly in strength and now no one could ever tell that I had been sick. Konjola succeeded where others failed. That is why I indorse it to everyone who is ill."

Think of the suffering, expense and unhappiness that could be spared if only Konjola were given a chance first. It merely asks the opportunity to make you well.

There is a Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, and one at the Dow Drug Store, Diamond and Smithfield Streets, Pittsburgh, where they are meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine. There is also a Konjola Man at Dow's Drug Store, 5939 Penn Avenue, East Liberty.

Hollywood Film Gossip Along With Local Amusement Announcements

CHEVALIER SOON TO RETURN TO AMERICA AND MAKE NEW PHOTOPLAY

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 27.

IT WAS news to this flick bureau to learn that Maurice Chevalier has a chateau in Cannes. The French star is in his home town, Paree, at this penning, but returns soon to begin work on another picture. It is rare indeed that a newcomer to the screen, regardless of his popularity in other spheres or other cities, scores the instantaneous success that Chevalier did in his initial local loid. And yet I dare say when "The Love Parade" is officially released, this gay personality will be saluted as a celluloid star of the first magnitude. He imparts a wicked humor and an infectious naughtiness that wins chuckles.

To return to his chateau in Cannes, Chevalier, with true French economy, has a gardener who cultivates and sells the flowers that grow in his gardens. This money is nearly always sufficient to meet taxes and the running expenses of the house during the Chevaliers' absence.

Maurice Chevalier

And yet, few people know this. Few, indeed, know that Chevalier has a rare collection of jewelry, presented to him from time to time by titled admirers. He just doesn't bother to discuss himself. Which is most unusual in a village foundationed on I's.

Crows to Make Second Talkie

FROM 11 today on, Ralph Farnum, New York theatrical agent, will sit in the local Music Box Theater and give any and all theatrical aspirants a chance to strut their stuff. Farnum did the same thing in Chicago, en route to Hollywood. A girl from a department store was among those to take her turn on the stage. Farnum signed her immediately and landed her in a second musical comedy road show company ditto.

Farnum is in close touch with Broadway producers. He has a number of featured players under contract and in big shows whom he developed from little or nothing. He has a number of unknowns who are stepping along nicely and will some day be electric-lighted "knowns."

Charlie Mack

Charlie Mack, of the Two Black Crows, is reckoned to be visiting his folks in Tacoma, Wash. He is reckoned 'bout ready to start for Oakland, where Charlie Moran joins him for a voodvil turn or two. Together, they will motor to Hollywood, though in which one of Mack's sundry cars 'tis difficult to opine. The Crows are slated to begin their second Paramount talky in the not distant future.

Actors Watch Tennis Stars

SCREENALITIES: Flickburg is awfully enthused over the tennis meet at the L. A. Tennis Club these days. With Betty Nuthall, English racket star, Johnny Van Ryn, Johnny Doeg, et al flashing their stuff, glimpsed in the stands: King Vidor, Eleanor Boardman, Matt Moore, Cedric Gibbons, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. Wally Rothacker, Billy Wellman, Teddy Von Eltz—also acting as referee; Crauford Kent, doubling as linesman, et al. Miss Nuthall visited with the Harold Lloyds between matches . . . Mr. and Mrs. Gene Towne (Betty Brown) introducing their six weeks old daughter, Betty Jean, to sassiety. Fanny Brice, Billy Rose, Vivienne Seegal and her sister Louise, William Boyd (Broadway's Boyd), Lew Brice, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Z. Lutheran Church Celebrates Sunday

Two special services next Sunday will celebrate the eightieth anniversary of the founding of First St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Eighteenth and Sidney streets, South Side, the Rev. E. F. Brand conducting the services.

The church was founded in 1849 by members of six families, the edifice being erected in 1866. The property now consists of the church building, parish house and parsonage, a branch chapel and a dwelling house on Arlington avenue near Brownsville road.

Gary Cooper's eyes speak eloquently the message in his heart and Mary Brian seems to understand this episode from "The Virginian," now in production in Hollywood.

NEW BORDONI PLAY HAS SONGS

Irene Bordoni, in "Paris," will be the attraction opening the remodeled Shubert Alvin Monday night. "Paris" is a comedy, by Martin Brown, with songs by Cole Porter, of the romance of a young music hall actress of Paris. There will be Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

"The Front Page" will come to the Nixon Monday night with the same cast that appeared at the Times Square Theater, New York, all last season. Of several current successes produced by Jed Harris, it is the only one this producer has sent on tour. Harris is living in England on the income from $2,000,000 garnered from American theatergoers with "Broadway," "The Royal Family" and Helen Hayes in "Coquette."

DAIGNEAU IN LEAD

Kenneth Daigneau will play the "bad man" in Potter Emerson Browne's play, "The Bad Man," next week in the Pitt. It is the role made famous by Holbrook Blinn.

Thomas Meighan is supported by Lila Lee, Bert Roach, Zasu Pitts and H. B. Warner in the all-talking film attraction which opens in the Liberty and the Colonial today.

Chicago Summer Opera Loses $206,917

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—The summer season of opera at Ravinia was produced at a net loss of $206,917, it was revealed today by Louis Eckstein, its sponsor. Half of the deficit was taken care of by a group of guarantors. Mr. and Mrs. Eckstein paid the other half.

TIN PLATE MILL EXPANDING

FARRELL, Pa., Sept. 27.—The extensive building program at the Mercer works of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company is well under way. Work was started six months ago, but it will require at least another 12 months before it is completed.

An extension 144 feet long is being erected near the annealing department, a 128-foot addition is under construction for the shipping department and a new store room is being built. The old store room is to be used for a drive for the cold mill department.

A modern 80-inch sheet mill is to be installed at the plant. Two new gas producers, replacing nine old ones, for the annealing department are included.

A new four-high cold mill for sheet refining and a new and modern normalizing furnace are also to be added.

BACON—as FRESH as the newness of the PLAN that controls it

Here is Good Bacon with a capital "G"! Whether it tops off your breakfast or serves to appetize the main course of your evening meal, you'll find SUNNYFIELD BACON always delicious.

There are definite reasons for the wholesome, digestible, deliciousness of Sunnyfield:

First, it is uniformly choice-cut meat from tender corn-fed porkers. Next, it is dry sugar-cured and slowly (ever so slowly) smoked over smouldering hickory logs. Twenty-five days in the curing, it is delivered to your A&P Store with the remarkable speed of A&P Time-Controlled handling. When it reaches your market basket it holds all its original flavor and fragrance. The sweetness of its dry-curing, the final flavor of the hardwood smoking process are not lost.

And when you buy SUNNYFIELD, in its unique half-pound package, you see what you are buying. The transparent cellophane wrapping reveals the even streaking of bright red lean and firm white fat on each savory slice before you buy.

SUNNYFIELD BACON, profiting by the Time-Control Plan, reaches you with none of its cherished and fleeting qualities lost. Buy it today! You'll find it as fresh as the newness of the plan which controls it.

At Your Local Store

★ FRESHNESS

Bacon Freshness dates from the completion of curing and smoking. The new A&P Time-Control Plan registers the curing date of each shipment of SUNNYFIELD BACON and is added assurance of the speed of its trip from the smokehouse to you.

9 ARRESTED IN SALEM RAIDS

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Sept. 27.—Nine arrests were made early today and 16 more are expected before night in wholesale liquor raids in northern Columbiana County launched by Sheriff William J. Barlow, of Lisbon, assisted by three deputy sheriffs and six state prohibition agents.

Eight men and one woman, arrested in the Salem district, as well as large seizures of whisky, wine and beer, were taken to the county jail at Lisbon.

The raiders, who have made two previous attacks on suspected bootlegging hangouts in the southern part of the county within the last seven weeks, spent most of the night in the fresh cleanup.

Twenty-five warrants were issued by Probate Judge Lodge Riddle in the drive to "dry up" the county.

BOY SENTENCED IN BANK THEFT

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 27.—A three-year term in the National Industrial School at Chillicothe, O., was the birthday gift to Harold Johnson, former Marine Bank messenger, who pleaded guilty late Wednesday to faking a $30,000 bond and unsigned currency holdup last February in the Erie postoffice. Young Johnson celebrated his twentieth birthday Thursday. Sentence was imposed by Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker before a crowded court room following pleas for mercy from the boy's sister. When sentence was imposed she collapsed. Judge Schoonmaker in denying pleas for leniency declared that it was best that the sentence be carried out.

Doughnut Dates Back Over 400 Years

SPOKANE, Wash.—According to some pundits the doughnut was invented in France 400 years ago. The only thing that makes us inclined to believe they may be right is that once in a while a doughnut that cannot be possibly less than 400 years old comes to light.

P. R. R. SPEEDS FREIGHT EAST

Faster freight service between St. Louis and Chicago and the Atlantic seaboard was announced today by the Pennsylvania Railroad. Under the new eschedules, all freight will be delivered in the eastern cities on the third morning. This is the first time such a service has been provided on a year-round schedule. A short time ago similar schedules were inaugurated on westbound freight and now the entire freight service of the road is on a third morning delivery basis throughout the whole year.

LIFER, TRUSTY, FLEES PRISON

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Davê Harley, 42, of Mingo County, serving a life term for murder, escaped from the state prison this week, it was revealed by Warden L. M. Robinson.

Harley, said to have been a model prisoner for 13 years without a demerit on his record, was a trusty and was assigned to outside duty four months ago at the prison pump station.

Prison officials said they learned that Harley was carrying $200 in cash and as prison regulations require that convicts deposit all their money with the clerk, word was sent to the convict to bring in his funds. When he failed to obey the summons, officials, who investigated, found he had fled. The source of his funds was not learned.

Rancher Claims Broken Bone Record

OHIO VETS OPEN WAR BRIDGE

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Sept. 27. —(AP.)—Ohio veterans of the thirty-seventh division, led by their band under flying colors, marched at the head of Belgian troops over the memorial bridge at Eyne after the bishop of Ghent had blessed it and the burgomaster of Eyne accepted the gift from the state of Ohio for the Belgian government.

The bridge commemorates the crossing of Ohio troops under fire over the river Scheldt in November, 1918. The ceremony of the opening was held in the presence of Gen. Maton, representing the Belgian minister of national defense, and many prominent officials and crowds of people.

Col. Ralph D. Cole read a message which Gov. Myers Cooper, of Ohio, has commissioned him to convey and then vividly described the achievements of the Thirty-seventh or "Buckeye" Division.

GHENT, Belgium, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—The delegation of Ohio veterans of the Thirty-seventh Division, who participated in the dedication of a war bridge memorial at Eyne last night, gave a brilliant banquet here with King Albert as chief guest.

The King proposed the toast to President Hoover and also conferred decorations on several of the Ohians, including Gen. Jackson, Adjt. Reynold. and Capt. Norton.

Pat Crowe's New Alibi Wins $1 From Judge

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(AP).—Pat Crowe, habitual panhandler and Cudahy kidnaper and self-confessed bandit and train robber, has a brand new alibi.

Arrested on a charge of soliciting alms, Pat told the judge that he was begging, but was merely a newspaper writer looking for "color." He wore a pair of high boots and was hatless and vestless. He had only five cents in his pocket.

The judge gave Pat $1 and a letter to the night court clerk to draw on the fund for needy cases to get railroad fare to Brunswick, N. J., where the "writer" said he had relatives.

PULPIT BATTLE DROPPED

ALLIANCE, O., Sept. 27. — The Rev. L. H. Higelmire, Akron, will come to Alliance Sunday, prepared to occupy the pulpit of the First United Presbyterian Church. Controversy between officials of the church will not deter him from coming to fill the pulpit to which he was assigned by the Barberton Conference, he said.

The Rev. John W. May, whose return to the Alliance congregation was asked, but who was ignored when assignments were announced, is occupying the parsonage.

Two Bank Officials Indicted for Fraud

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 27.—Phillip F. Carosella, president, and Eugene M. Rudy, cashier, former officials of the defunct Union Savings Bank, were indicted on seven counts by the grand jury, in connection with the bank's failure. Embezzlement and misapplication of funds are charged, as well as falsification of the bank's records. Carosella and Rudy are free on $15,000 bond.

California Singer, Ill, Dies in Paris

PARIS, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Fannie Francisca, an opera singer, who came to Europe from California, died today after a long illness. She was the wife of Jacques Coini.

PITTSBURGHERS SHARE IN WILL

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Margaret Hutchinson Grant, Lucy Hutchinson Champion and Elizabeth R. Totten, of Pittsburgh, received a share in the estate of the late James Hutchinson Ellsworth, according to the terms of his will filed for probate in the Surrogate's Court here. Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Champion are left legacies of $5,000 each, and $500 goes to Miss Totten.

Ellsworth died September 11, in Trieste, Italy. His will, dated October 7, 1927, disposes of an estate of unappraised value. The bulk goes to two children.

All Pile Agony Ended Without Cutting or Salves.

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new treatment known as Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID.

The Doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting, he discovered the cause of piles and then went further and compounded a harmless tablet that would remove the cause.

Every pile sufferer should benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay, May-Liggett, Mayflower Drug Stores, and all druggists sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it will do as stated or money back.

On that honorable basis every pile sufferer should try Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID without delay.

Schwab Sees 100-Year Boom Here

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

WILLIAM N. ROBSON, movie exploit man, lecturer and publicity man, is a Pittsburgher now in Buffalo. He sends back various tidings. In Buffalo, Mr. Robson reports that Maude Adams is a teacher in Public School No. 40 in Buffalo. But it surely can't be the Maude who was the heroine of playgoers who visited the theaters regularly 10 or 15 years ago, and who is remembered by younger persons as one actress who deliberately and purposely and with great determination kept out of the public gaze, off stage, and sedulously avoided publicity of any kind.

Havey J. Boyle

Mary Hall, who used to thrill the Pittsburgh school girls who played hook to see her made love to in local stock some years ago, is also teaching in Buffalo, according to Mr. Robson's communique.

* * *

The correspondent bubbles with news about the celebrated Rudy Vallee, the radio boy who made the girl friends weep with his popular song crooning. Mr. Vallee, it develops, is a personal friend of Bill Robson, Jr., and the latter reports that whereas Mr. Vallee was worth about $300 six months ago he is now reported to be worth 100 times that much due to his new contract in Hollywood.

* * *

YOUNG MR. ROBSON, himself now in Hollywood, is writing what technically is known as originals for Paramount, the job coming from the fact when at Yale young Mr. Robson wrote a play, the result of studies in Prof. Baker's famous 47 workshop.

* * *

Believing what may be the tedium of Hollywood gossip, Robson, pere, also notes that in Buffalo he ran across a sign H. H. Bury. Mr. Bury, it so happens, is an undertaker, showing the fitness of something or other.

* * *

ONE of the most personable young organists in town is Bernie Armstrong. He seems to bet yet in his teens and he does his work with a joy that makes you want to listen to him for longer than he plays. If there are actually girls in the world who really write notes to stage and theatrical favorites in general I'm going to be surprised if the mailman on the Armstrong route is not humpbacked.

However, as to mash notes I still have my fingers crossed. The boys may get them as their publicity men set forth in detail, but I have yet to meet a single girl that I'd accuse of such a thing.

Of course, everyone gets mail, but the letters are not exactly of the mash-kind. Just the other day an enraged reader wrote in here asking whether something or other couldn't be done about the picture at the top of this column.

* * *

It recalls a gag. "My, what a face," said one comedian to another. "It's the only face I got. What can I do?" "Well, you could stay in the house, couldn't you?" was the unreasonable request.

* * *

ANOTHER letter on the same subject took exception to the fact that on one night the part in the hair is on the right side and on the next day the part is on the left. This is due to an intricacy of makeup in the composing room and not due to any fickleness on the part of the subject himself. In fact, to be truthful, except at Sunday school on the day Sunday school attendance is imperative, there is practically no part to speak of.

* * *

To get back to mash notes, I'd like to get just one which could be flashed triumphantly in those odd moments at home when the general inference is that, what with cigaret ashes on the floor, the vest on one chair, the coat on another, a magazine on the floor beside a chair, and a book on the radiator newspapermen generally are something that Heaven sent to chasten and afflict current Jobesses.

Her Life Threatened, Wife Says in Suit

Her husband left for a party one night with a revolver in his pocket and told her he was going to shoot her when he returned, Mrs. Mathila E. Fox, 22, of Primrose street, told Judge Richard W. Martin in Common Pleas Court during a hearing of her divorce suit against Forbes H. Fox, 22, of Knoxville. He once kicked her in the abdomen with his knee, she said. They have a 2-year-old son.

Dry Agents and Constables Make One Arrest; Book Reveals Prominent Names

A large stock of fancy liquors was reported seized by constables and prohibition agents yesterday, in a raid on a residence at 5415 Guarino road, Squirrel Hill, according to the raiders.

Nathan Mattes, 21, arrested in connection with the raid, was released on his own recognizance, the agents reported. In the basement of the residence, the agents said, 68 quarts of whisky, 103 quarts of apricot and blackberry brandy, three gallons of alcohol and 30 gallons of rock candy syrup and large quantities of wrappers, labels and stamps were seized.

Besides the liquor the agents and constables reported finding a list containing a large number of names of persons believed to be customers. The prominence of some of the patrons astonished the raiders, they said. An account book showing that business accounts were kept also was found. The customers' list and the account book were not confiscated.

EQUITY SUIT ASKS RECEIVER

Bruce N. Griffing, of Shelton, Conn., filed a bill in equity in Common Pleas Court asking that a receiver be appointed for Eatmor Chocolate Company, of Center avenue, East Liberty. The corporation has a capital of $1,500,000 and Griffing stated he is the largest stockholder, possessing 3,750 shares of common stock.

He asked that an injunction be granted to prevent the company holding a stockholders' meeting scheduled for yesterday to vote on a resolution the purpose of which, Griffing alleged, was to empower a number of individual directors to secure possession of an indeterminate portion of the buildings, machinery and equipment of the company and operate a separate and distinct business to the detriment of the Eatmor company. A stipulation was entered on behalf of the company to postpone the meeting until November 21, with the bill fixed for a hearing meanwhile.

Griffing alleged that according to the financial statement of December 31 last, the company appeared solvent insofar as its assets as a going concern exceed the aggregate of its liabilities, but that insofar as its current liabilities exceed its quick assets on a liquidation basis, it is insolvent.

Instructor of Blind Visits School Here

Dr. Artur Peiser, educational director of schools for the blind in Germany, is visiting at the Western Pennsylvania School for the Blind, Bellefield avenue. He is making an official tour of the Eastern states, studying work among the blind in this country. At the school here he is the guest of Supt. and Mrs. B. S. Joice.

TAFT SUMMONS THOMSON TO CONFAB

Pittsburgh Jurist to Act As Substitute for Judge Buffington; Resumes Bench

Judge W. H. S. Thomson, of the Federal District Court, will attend the annual judicial conference called by Chief Justice William H. Taft, to convene next Thursday in Washington, as representative of the United States Court of Appeals, third circuit. Judge Thomson received a summons from the chief justice.

He takes the place at the conference of Judge Joseph Buffington, senior member of the Third Circuit Court, who will be unable to attend because of the serious illness of Mrs. Buffington. It is believed to be the first time a district court judge has been called upon to attend the annual conference.

The purpose of the meeting, attended by representatives of each of the 10 circuit courts, is to discuss the business transacted during the past year in the circuit courts of appeal and in the district courts and volume of litigation now pending. Justice Taft will preside at the three-day conference.

After the conference Judge Thomson will sit temporarily in the Circuit Court in Philadelphia, because of the absence of Judge Buffington. Since retiring from active service on the bench, in October, 1927, when he was senior member of the District Court, Judge Thomson has continued in his judicial position by assisting in the District Court at Pittsburgh and in courts in other districts, as well as the Circuit Court.

EXPERTS RUSH VOTE AUDIT

Many hurried trips to and from the chambers above District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner's office, where a force of a dozen Main & Co. auditor are engaged checking up the alleged phantom assessments against the tax stubs and vote registrations, by Mr. Gardner and Assistants Andrew T. Park and George F. P. Langfitt, yesterday marked the principal activity in the grand jury probe of the assessments. Books and lists of names were carried up the stairway, but as yet nothing came down to be taken before the jury. It is expected that not until Monday or Tuesday will the audit be completed and in shape for action by the inquisitors.

In the meantime several trivial election violations were taken before the grand jury. Witnesses called late yesterday included Charles Machreiner, 1243 Warner street, and George McClair and Duncan McCarter, employes at the city stables, North Side. No hint was given out regarding the nature of their testimony.

Women's Farm Unit Will Hold Exhibit

The annual fair of the Ross Township unit, women's National Farm and Garden Association, will be held tomorrow in the American Legion Hall, Perrysville. There will be exhibits of vegetables, fruits, baked goods, jams, jellies, fancy work, flowers and other home and garden products.

The State Highway Department yesterday notified the Better Traffic Committee here that the automobile equipment inspection campaign of the department will begin Tuesday and continue until November 15. During this period all automobiles and trucks must be inspected.

SON INJURED; WIN $12,036

John Loeffert, Jr., 13, of 121 South Seventeenth street, was awarded $11,400, and his mother, Mrs. Marie Lites, was awarded $1,636, by a jury in Common Pleas Court before Judge Elder W. Marshall, in a verdict against Louis R. Oppenheim.

The suit was based on injuries suffered by the boy September 26, 1927, when it was alleged an automobile driven by Oppenheim along the wrong side of South Twenty-second street struck the boy and inflicted serious injuries on his head, affecting his brain.

Cut Parking Space, Motorists Urged

Local motorists who utilize too much space in parking cars in the downtown district are cheating fellow motorists out of that which rightfully belongs to them, C. H. Roth, secretary of the Pittsburgh Motor Club, said today.

"Space in which to park is at such a premium downtown that the parking hog makes a real nuisance of himself in utilizing space ample for two cars, by parking in the middle of the space," Roth said.

An appeal is made to drivers to use only the space necessary.

Husband Charges Wife Is Unfaithful

His wife slipped from their bed after he was asleep and had secret meetings with other men, William R. Bankson, of 241 Cairo street, alleged in a bill of particulars in his divorce action against Mrs. Carolyn Bankson, of 4918 Towers Terrace, Bellevue, filed in Common Pleas Court.

Bankson alleged his wife demanded his entire pay and made him account to her for every cent he spent. They were married January 10, 1919.

EAR CLIPPING HELD CRUEL

Three veterinary surgeons today branded clipping the ears of dogs as a cruel and unnecessary fashion and urged as a substitute the proper selective breeding. "Cropping" makes erect, alert seeming ears.

The opinions were received in answer to a letter sent the veterinarians of the district by the Western Pennsylvania Humane Society, asking that the veterinarians use their influence to have the operation halted.

Charles W. Boyd, W. Erwin Sheckler, and S. E. Young, formed the trio that answered and that promised to bring their opinions before National Humane Convention to be held in St. Louis next week.

The letter, signed by W. F. H. Wentzel, secretary of the Humane society, declares that the "cropping of ears under an anaesthetic is not in itself cruel, but the healing process, with its 'stretching' to prevent buckling, makes a painful experience for the animal."

"The cropping of ears is an unnecessary cosmetic operation, the treatment of which is very painfull," Dr. Sheckler said. "I favor the abolishment of this dog fashion decree.

Junior Missionary Circles Will Meet

The Junior Missionary Societies of the Allegheny, Monongahela and Chartiers presbyteries, United Presbyterian Church, will meet tomorrow in the Forest Avenue U. P. Church, Bellevue. Arrangements are in charge of Mrs. William Breitweiser, director of religious education, of the Forest Avenue church.

Y. M. C. A. Investment Instructor Named

S. Lee Bear, who is in charge of the local office of Shields & Co., will teach the practical investments course at the East Liberty Y. M. C. A. evening school, which opens Monday night. Educational Secretary Rocco Cerchiara is in charge of the evening school.

Padlock Writs Hit Cambria, Somerset

Judge R. M. Gibson today granted preliminary padlocks for five places in Cambria and Somerset counties, charged by prohibition agents with violating the liquor laws. Among them was the Black Cat Club, seven miles from Johnstown. Final hearings were set for November 4.

HOLDS STEEL LEADERSHIP ASSURED

Bethlehem Head Predicts Continued Prosperity in Commerce Chamber Talk

"Pittsburgh's tradition for steel manufacturing means Pittsburgh will be prosperous for at least the next 100 years."

That was the forecast of Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, in a speech at the Chamber of Commerce last night. The occasion was the housewarming of the new quarters in the chamber building, a dinner begin held in the new dining room. A distinguished gathering of Pittsburgh's financial and industrial leaders, many of whom were personally acquainted with Mr. Schwab, was in attendance.

PREDICTS PROSPERITY

"Prophecy is a dangerous thing, but I feel that Pittsburgh is going to be the greatest center for iron and steel for all time," said Mr. Schwab in his chamber address. "I see no reason now for any prediction other than continued prosperity over the country, with constantly good business for Pittsburgh, the city were I made my start in the steel business exactly 50 years ago today.

"Pittsburgh, because of her steel-making traditions, and because the making of steel is in the blood of her people, will reign pre-eminent in the world of steel for at least another century. You in Pittsburgh have something that will require us in Bethlehem 100 years to build up. It is almost tantamount to an intuitive knowledge of steel and how to make it and market it, the kind of knowledge, plus courage, that Jones and Carnegie had."

GREETED BY FRIENDS

Cheerful greetings to friends who met him at the William Penn Hotel marked Mr. Schwab's arrival by automobile from a day spent inspecting mills of the Wheeling district.

Then he stopped. Willis L. King, vice president of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation had entered the room and from then on his thoughts were for none other than his friend of 50 years ago in Pittsburgh. A continual procession of Pittsburgh friends occupied Mr. Schwab until time for the chamber celebration.

Among those who greeted Mr. Schwab upon his arrival here were Mr. Rae, president of the chamber; Mr. Girdler, George E. Benson, vice president of the Union Trust Company; L. J. Lind and George M. Laughlin, Jr., chairman Jones and Laughlin Corporation.

Blythedale Man Held in Slaying

A coroner's jury today held John Druitt, a Negro, 32, of House 109, Blythedale, as the result of the fatal shooting last Sunday of his common-law wife, Grace Luke Druitt. It was testified the woman was fatally shot during an argument at their home.

Mr. Schwab, steel magnate, looking over the city on his first public visit to Pittsburgh since the World War. With Mr. King, vice president of Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation and a friend of 50 years, he recounted old times.

Will Rogers Says

KINGMAN, Ariz., Sept. 27.

Flying along on a fine trip. Landed for gas at Kingman then due to arrive in Los Angeles in a couple of hours. The whole Southwest never looked more green and pretty.

I told you I could guess what was in the papers and it was. Senate still arguing over the tariff, this time with the President. The law says he can change various duties if he sees fit. That's what is called flexible.

Well, the Senate says that gives him too much authority, that they themselves are the ones that are really competent to do that. Now you tell one.

Yours, WILL.

State Recognizes Drive To Air-Mark Towns

A testimonial to the effectiveness of the efforts of the Sun-Telegraph to get Western Pennsylvania air-marked has been received from Robert M. Ginter, vice chairman of the State Aeronautics Commission.

"We wish to thank the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph," Mr. Ginter writes, "for the assistance it has given aviation in the campaign for air markings in all cities, towns and villages of the commonwealth.

CAMPAIGN EFFECTIVE

"We have received many clippings from your newspaper and find the campaign has been very effective. We trust you will keep up the good work in your circulation territory.

"Any assistance the State Aeronautics Commission can render will be given."

Ellwood City soon will be easily distinguishable from the air, as the Chamber of Commerce has arranged to have the town's name painted on the roof of a factory, together with an arrow pointing to the airport. The town already has one sign on a garage roof.

CASTLE SHANNON MARKED

The Sterling Oil Company has air-marked New Brighton with a carefully painted sign on the roof of its plant.

Department of Commerce specifications in regard to signs for the guidance of aviators may be obtained from the Pittsburgh Aviation Industries Corporation, Oliver Building, Pittsburgh, which is cooperating with the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

TWO JAILED, ACCUSED IN ATTEMPTED ATTACKS ON WOMEN

CUT IN TAXES INDORSED BY PRINTERS

Allied Trades Join in Appeal to Congress for Downward Revision

Support of the printing industry of Pittsburgh was given to the campaign for lower taxes on earned incimes when a great sheaf of petitions was turned in by R. L. Forsythe, Jr., chairman of the printers' committee in the Sun-Telegraph canvass for signatures to be presented to Congress.

The petitions circulated by prominent members of Pittsburgh printing and publishing houses, paper jobbing concerns and manufacturers of printing machinery have been added to the tens of thousands of names previously sent in.

WIDELY CIRCULATED

The work is being carried on in every shop in the district and beside proprietors and executives, the petitions have been signed by salesmen, pressmen, compositors, linotype operators, bindery employes, shippers and members of the clerical forces in the large concerns.

"The canvass will cover all the printing houses and those of affiliated industries in the city," said Chairman Forsythe. "Members of large publishing firms have returned petitions signed by 100 per cent of their officers and employes and they have asked allied concerns to assist in the work. In this trade we believe that the present method of levying the tax on individual earned incomes is not economically sound. It retards business and hits the pocketbook of the worker regardless whether he pays the tax."

TO PUSH CAMPAIGN

The campaign is to be resumed in Pittsburgh banks and among local bond houses and brokers. The Pittsburgh Chapter, American Institute of Banking, is enlisted in the cause and members of the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange are circulating petitions.

The work is being carried on by volunteers who are giving their time and energy to the cause. Petition forms and information regarding the canvass will be furnished to all who write the Income Tax Department of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

NEGRO HELD IN BANK HOLDUP

The holdup of the Merchants Savings and Trust Company, 1410 Fifth avenue, yesterday, had been planned for a week, Scott Wainwright, Negro, admitted robber, testified in Central Police Court today.

"I went into the bank just before closing time Wednesday and got a $20 bill changed to get an idea of the bank," the Negro testified.

HELD ON SIX CHARGES

Wainwright, whose possession of more than $5,000 lasted just 40 minutes was held for court on six charges.

Edward J. Stack, the paying teller who handed out the money, testified the bank's checkup showed $5,484 missing.

Police Inspector James N. Hoey testified the amount recovered from Wainwright following his capture at the head of South Thirty-sixth street was $5,448 but that the Negro contended $200 consisted of his winnings in gambling. The sum of $5,000 was returned to the bank and the remainder held as evidence.

TAXI DRIVER TESTIFIES

Jacob Keffer, of 439 Rosedale street, driver of the cab in which the robber fled, testified that the Negro, after threatening to "blow his head off," tossed him $10 when he left the cab on the South Side.

Wainwright said he had been working for auto concerns and hotels in Cleveland and Detroit for five years and that he came to Pittsburgh two months ago.

T. H. Graham, Negro, of 2900 Carson street, arrested as a suspect acquaintance of Wainwright, was discharged.

LEGION TO SEE AIR CIRCUS

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 27.—(AP)—An imposing air program, featured by night stunt flying, is planned for the eleventh annual national convention of the American Legion which opens here Monday, F. T. Mengel, chairman of the air committee, announced. Mengel also said that the dirigible Los Angeles will be sent here, if weather conditions permit. It is expected to arrive Tuesday.

According to a dispatch from Washington, the Army Air Corps will send 25 planes to Louisville for exhibition flights during the convention. In addition, Wright Field, Dayton, O., will send a ground display and if weather permits, an Army airship will fly from Scott Field, Belleville, Ill.

Among the planes expected are nine pursuit planes, including two equipped with smoke screen devices; one transport plane from Selfridge Field, Mich.; nine attack planes from Fort Crockett, Galveston, Tex., and four bombardment planes from Langley Field, Va.

EWERS TO HOLD ANNIVERSARY

The twentieth anniversary of the pastorate of the Rev. John Ray Ewers, at the East End Christian Church, of South Highland avenue and Adler street, will be celebrated Sunday night with a symbolic pageant. Fifty younger members of the church, all elaborately costumed, will depict in dramatic form, the progress of the congregation in the last 20 years.

Dr. Ewers, one of the most liberal clergymen in this section, accepted the pastorate of the East End church years ago after a successful term of service at the First Christian Church, Youngstown, O. He was graduated from the Divinity school of the University of Chicago. He was given a Doctor of Divinity's degree by the University of Pittsburgh in 1928. The East End church was the third in the world to broadcast church services, its programs going into the air over KDKA's network.

The anniversary services will be featured by special singing Sunday following the pageant, and a sermon. A reception for the minister will be held after the services.

ARMISTICE DAY CHIEFS NAMED

Election of officers and appointment of committees for the Armistice Day celebration featured a dinner-meeting of the Federation of War Veteran Societies of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County in the Hotel Henry last night.

New officers are:

Col. Thomas J. Fitzgerald, of the Eighty-second Division, was named chief marshal for the Armistice Day parade, and Dwight L. Bardes, of the One Hundred and Seventh Field Artillery Association, chairman of the parade committee.

Shoe Button, in Nose 5 Years, Ejected

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 27.—Five years ago Mary Mitchell, 13, Brownsville, played with a shoe button and ran it into her nose. The button became lodged in the nostril. She did not tell her parents, fearful that they would take her to a hospital to have it removed.

CROWLEY DUE AT RIVER FETE

President P. E. Crowley, of the New York Central Lines, will be one of the prominent guests to attend the dinner to be held in the William Penn Hotel the night of October 17 as part of the Ohio River celebration, it was announced today by the committee in charge of the celebration here. Another prominent guest of honor at the dinner will be Mahmoud Samy Pasha, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of Egypt and head of the Egyptian diplomatic mission at Washington.

The rivers are still at low stages. Stage at Pittsburgh is 9.8 feet; Dam No. 2, 8.6; Dam No. 8, 7.5; Dam No. 9, 8.0, and Dam No. 12, 3.9. The dams are up.

MAN, 67, FACES CHARGE BY GIRL, 24

Mary Street Resident Cut On Face When Intended Victim Flings Heavy Cup

Two men were arrested by South Side police on suspicious person charges last night following their alleged attempts to attack two women, police reported.

Steve Kurak, 42, of 2910 Mary street, was taken to South Side Hospital following a battle with Mrs. Helen Yakopsis, 32, in her home at 3008 Mary street, according to police. He was said by them to have attempted to attack Mrs. Yakopsis. Resisting him, Mrs. Yakopsis seized a cup and struck him on the forehead, inflicting a cut which required six stitches at the hospital.

Accused of having attempted to attack Rosemond Brehl, 24, in his home last night, Philip Gloeckner, 67, of 45 Holt street, was arrested, police said, on a suspicious person charge. The Brehl woman, who resides at 2315 Sierra street, suffered shock.

Price of Milk Increased at Titusville

Fusion in Mayoralty Fight Talked, But Not at Dunn's Confab With His Leaders

Members of the Democratic city committee will meet tonight in the Dunn for Mayor headquarters, 517 William Penn way, to discuss plans for the campaign.

Thomas A. Dunn, mayoralty candidate, conferred late yesterday with David L. Lawrence, Democratic county chairman; John J. Murray, city chairman; E. Lowry Humes and others prominent in the counsels of the party.

Those at the gathering declared that nothing was done in the way of organizing a fusion movement with Independent Republicans and others, although such a proposal is being seriously considered.

POLICE HERE WATCH CULT AFTER FATAL CHICAGO RIOT

Pittsburgh Members Freed In Murder Plot as Killings Occur in Western Fight

As a result of an outbreak in a Negro cult in Chicago Wednesday which resulted in the killing of a Negro and a policeman and the wounding of several others, local police and detectives are keeping close watch on the Moorish Holy Temple of Science on Arcena street, and its governor, T. Crumbie Bey.

The outbreak in Chicago occurred the same day that four members of the local temple, a branch of the parent national organization, had been acquitted by direction of the local court, on a charge of conspiracy to murder the governor here.

Wednesday also saw the acquittal in court here of G. Martin Bey on a charge of felonious assault. He was charged with having fired a shot at T. Crumbie Bey, G. Martin Bey was shot in the back and head with buckshot, but the assailant escaped.

The national organization has thousands of members and 27 temples in various cities. It has been without a leader since Drew Ali, its former head, died, last July.

Chicago police say that the trouble in the organization is a result of factional fights for leadership. The trouble here is believed also to have resulted from this cause.

VETS TO LEAVE FOR LOUISVILLE

A large delegation of Pittsburgh war veterans will leave Pittsburgh on a special train over the Pennsylvania Railroad tomorrow night to attend the national convention of the American Legion, which opens in Louisville, Ky., Monday.

The convention will be in session four days. Approximately 5,000 legionnaires and auxiliaries will attend from Pennsylvania, according to James J. Deighan, department commander.

ARMY WORKERS HEAR PLEDGE

The Salvation Army, through Evangeline C. Booth, commander-in-chief, renewed last night its pledge to the people of Pittsburgh that it would always work to lead men and women to a higher plane of citizenship.

The pledge came in a letter to Lieut. Col. Charles B. Campbell, head of the army here. He read it at a dinner of 1,000 volunteer workers, who from October 1 to 12 will conduct the army's annual home service fund campaign. The dinner was held in Kaufmann's dining room. In her letter Commander Booth said in part:

"The army and its people are more than ever dedicated to translate into flesh and blood action the immortal motto of our founder, my father, 'Go for souls and go for the worst.'

"Under the blessing of God, we shall express our deep gratitude for your splendid support by increased devotion to the God-given privilege of constructive ministry to those who are so much in need of our ministrations by leading them on to a higher plane of productive Christian citizenship."

A letter from Mayor Charles H. Kline was read by Attorney George E. Alter, toastmaster. Mayor Kline wrote:

"I want to take this opportunity of expressing my appreciation of the valuable work the army has rendered to our city and to its needy men, women and children. The army slogan, 'For Every Need, to Every Creed, From the Cradle to Eternity,' is one under which we all can labor."

Among the speakers were Mrs. A. G. H. Frazier, W. U. Follansbee, Col. and Mrs. Campbell, F. F. Schauer, Attorney Alter, Leo G. Griffiths, Charles H. Lehman, the Rev. Dr. A. E. Day and Adjt. W. B. Fowle, campaign director.

SCOUTS HOLD HONOR COURT

East Borough Boy Scouts tonight will participate in a court of honor to be held in the Wilkinsburg Christian Church, under the direction of Douglas Baggerly, chairman of the court of honor committee of the East Boroughs.

At tonight's exercises seven scouts will be elevated to the grade of Eagles, while two, Guard Slocum and Ian Sharpe, both of Troop No. 3, Wilkinsburg, will be presented with a gold palm leaf.

A feature of the program will be a first aid contest between teams representing Universal, Turtle Creek and Troop No. 23, of Wilkinsburg. Each of these troops has named a first and second team for the event.

MOTHER FREED, SON FINED

Floyd Dawson, a Negro, of 800 First avenue, Coraopolis, who had his mother, Mrs. Viola Mumford, of the same address, arrested on a charge of possession of illegal liquor, saw the table turned in Criminal Court when a jury acquitted his mother and placed the costs on the son.

The case was tried before Judge Josiah Cohen. Testimony showed that the mother had called the Coraopolis police last May to arrest her son, following an argument about his not turning over his pay to her. In retaliation the son led the police to a garage in the rear and showed them a five-gallon bottle of liquor, saying it belonged to his mother.

Girl Crippled, Blind May Be Musician

ATLANTA, Ga.—(INS)—Through a delicate operation, Martha Iler, who is blind, may at last realize her sole ambition—to become a musician.

When a child the young woman fell into an open grate and horrible burns took her sight and left her hands stiffened by scars.

It was for the correction of the hand muscles that the operation was performed, and physicians declared Martha stands a good chance of being able to play the piano or a stringed instrument when she leaves the hospital.

WESTINGHOUSE AUTO PARKING PLAN SHOWN

Device Automatically Carries Car Upward, Providing Space for New Arrival

An unusual parking machine which engineers at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company have developed was displayed yesterday. Engineers believe that the machine may be a possible solution of the serious automobile parking problem.

On entering this new parking machine, the motorist drives his car on a platform, pulls a lever and the car is automatically carried upward. The movement places another empty platform on the ground level ready for another machine.

The machine occupies the ground space equal to that of a small private double garage, according to H. D. James, engineer in charge of its development. It can be built for almost any capacity into old or new buildings or it can be set up on small vacant lots. Several machines, it is said, would constitute a modern storage garage. A feature is that it can be equipped to operate by placing a coin in a slot, thereby doing away with attendants.

Machines of similar construction could be used to park street cars at strategic centers for use when wanted during rush hours, and cruising taxicabs could be eliminated through the use of such machines, it is declared.

Ladies Aid Will Give Film Show

MOVE TO HONOR BURGESS AT EMSWORTH

Citizens Consider Plans For Lasting Memorial To Faithful Official

A memorial to Burgess Alex Stewart, of Emsworth, in the form of the annual community picnic is being discussed by citizens of the borough, it was learned today.

Burgess Stewart, who had served as executive or councilman of the borough for 15 years, succumbed early yesterday from carbon monoxide after being found unconscious in the garage of his nephew, James Stewart, Allegheny and Center avenues, Emsworth.

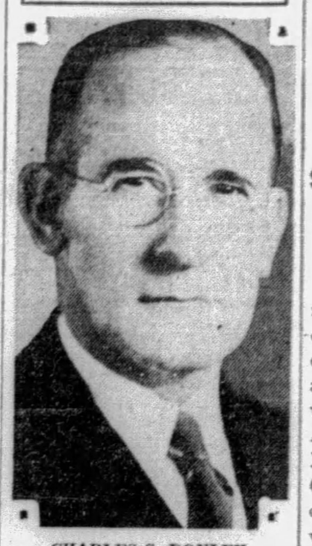
For several years Burgess Stewart has taken the initiative in providing picnics for the school children, residents say. These in reality have been community affairs and have included all children of the borough, both of the public and parochial schools.

Funeral services for Mr. Stewart will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at his home, 206 Allegheny avenue, Emsworth. The Rev. Dr. J. W. Springer, of the Emsworth United Presbyterian Church, in whose congregation Mr. Stewart was an elder, will be in charge. Knights Templar services will follow.

Assailant of Girl Believed Murderer

IDAHO FALLS, Ida., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Dorothy Croft, 11, suffering from injuries inflicted by a man who struck her over the head and attacked her, described her assailant as resembling the suspect hunted throughout Idaho for the brutal slaying of Marie West, also 11 years old, at King Hall last week.

State Chief



CHARLES S. DONLEY

KIWANIS OFFICE COMES HERE

State headquarters of the Kiwanis Clubs of Pennsylvania will be moved here next year with the election of a Pittsburgher to district governorship, it was announced today.

The state convention, in session this week at Hazleton, named Charles S. Donley, well-known traffic manager and past president of the Kiwanis Club of Pittsburgh, to the highest state office. The election also named William F. Burress, secretary of the local club, as district secretary.

Through the election, the state headquarters come to Pittsburgh for the first time since the inception of the organization.

CITY TO GREET 25,000 VISITING FIREMEN

State Association Opens Convention Monday; Plan Varied Program for Guests

Approximately 25,000 firemen and their friends from every county in the state are expected to visit Pittsburgh to attend the fiftieth annual convention of the State Firemen's Association which opens here Monday, according to Fire Chief Richard Smith, general chairman of the convention. A varied program of entertainment and business has been arranged, to be featured by a parade through downtown streets Thursday afternoon.

Monday will be given over to registration and that night there will be a banquet for officers and guests of the association in the Roosevelt Hotel. Tuesday there will be business sessions and boat rides on local excursion steamers. Wednesday will be given over to business and that night there will be an entertainment and dance in Syria Mosque. Thursday morning there will be demonstrations of modern fire apparatus on the Monongahela wharf and later at the firemen's training school on Neville street.

Prisoner Accused Of Window Theft

Police of Center Avenue Station early today arrested Pete Hermandez, 35, of 87 Logan street, alleged to have broken a window in the Morris Kaufmann Clothing Store, 1025 Fifth avenue, where he obtained 12 women's dresses. He was charged with being a suspicious person.

Wright's MAYONNAISE

Many housewives can make a good mayonnaise, but it isn't possible to produce with the utensils of the kitchen the almost perfect emulsification of Wright's Mayonnaise. Here at least is one instance where the machine is superior to human skill. So nearly perfect is the emulsion of Wright's Mayonnaise that it is distinguishable from all others in this respect.

Cream of Clam Soup.
Roast Duckling with Apple Filling.

Vegetable Combination Salad.
Peach Melba.

ROAST DUCKLING, juicy and tender and young, is enough to make a success of any dinner, and today I can think of nothing more delicious for the family on Sunday than duckling, stuffed with apple filling, and preceded by cream of clam soup. For the soup, use:

One quart of clams, four cups milk, one slice of onion, two blades mace, one-third cup butter, one-third cup of flour, yolks of two eggs and salt and pepper.

* * *

CLEAN the clams and reserve their liquor and add to clams, slightly chopped, heat slowly to boiling point, and let simmer 20 minutes. Strain through cheesecloth, reheat liquor and thicken with butter and flour cooked together. Scald milk with onion, and mace, and add to clam liquor. Add the slightly beaten egg yolks just before serving.

* * *

NOW that we have completed the soup, we're ready, after the duck has been cleaned, remove the entrails, saving the liver, gizzard and heart, and wash out with cold water in which a teaspoon of baking soda has been dissolved. Dry thoroughly and stuff with sliced, tart apples.

Roast two hours or more in a medium oven, basting every 10 minutes if in an open roaster, or use a self-baster which removes the basting labor.

For basting use one-fourth cup butter, melted in two-thirds cup boiling water, and after this is gone, use fat in pan, and when necessary to prevent flour burning add one cup boiling water. Turn duck frequently so that it may brown evenly.

* * *

TASTE will direct the mixing of ingredients for meat loaf. For those desiring a compact, meaty, well-browned loaf, there is little added to the meat mixture besides seasonings and binding. A "light" loaf is the result of the addition of a large proportion of bread, cracker or zwieback crumbs. Pleasing variations of a beef, veal and pork loaf are made by replacing the bread called for in the usual receipt with cooked spaghetti, macaroni, farina, rolled oats, rice or all bran.

In preparing any meats for a meat loaf or roll, use only the lean meat, chopped fine. The most popular results come from a combination of meats.

* * *

A CANNELON of meat may sound like something quite unusual but traced to its "root," it is found to be any meat loaf or roll mixture baked in waxed paper. A tasty meat loaf or cannelon is a delicacy and, while it can be prepared for a little less than chops or roast, the difference is not enough to put it in the truly thrift class of meats occupied by cheaper cuts.

Here are some meat loaf suggestions:

CHOCOLATE FUDGE SAUCE—Melt an ounce of bitter chocolate in a double boiler, then add two tablespoons of butter and a cup of sugar with a pinch of salt. Add a third cup of hot water and boil over a direct heat for five minutes. Remove from the fire, add a third cup of thin cream and beat well. When slightly cooled add a half teaspoon of vanilla. Serve warm over ice cream.

* * *

SIMPLE BEEF LOAF (SERVES SEVEN.)—One and one-half pounds of lean beef, ground, one-fourth cup of fat, one teaspoon of salt, one-fourth teaspoon of pepper and one egg, beaten.

Bake in a moderate oven 50 minutes, basting frequently. The home maker with initiative will use such a recipe as a foundation and from it evolve several different dishes. The first time using it as it appears, she will serve it with a tomato, horseradish sauce. The next making of beef loaf will find her adding one-fourth cup of minced onion and one-third cup of shredded green peppers and serving it sliced cold with potato salad. Another making may see the addition of nutmeg or of cooked vegetables.

* * *

COFFEE SAUCE—Cook three-quarters of a cup of strong coffee, a cup of sugar and two tablespoons of corn syrup together for 10 minutes. Cool and pour into a jar or bottle. Cover and keep in the refrigerator to use as needed for ice cream. Whipped cream may be used with it.

To Give Inexpensive China and Glassware Brilliant Sparkle

Simple New Way Does Wonders and Is Kind to Pretty Hands—Use Any Ordinary Soap

Even the most inexpensive table china and glassware can be made to look far better than its price in a simple way. It can be given the brilliancy and sparkle of the most costly kinds; and glassware particularly is judged by its sparkle.

Simply add one teaspoonful of the cleansing preparation called CLIMALENE to your water. Use the same soap you ordinarily do, but use only ONE-FOURTH the usual quantity. Wash as usual.

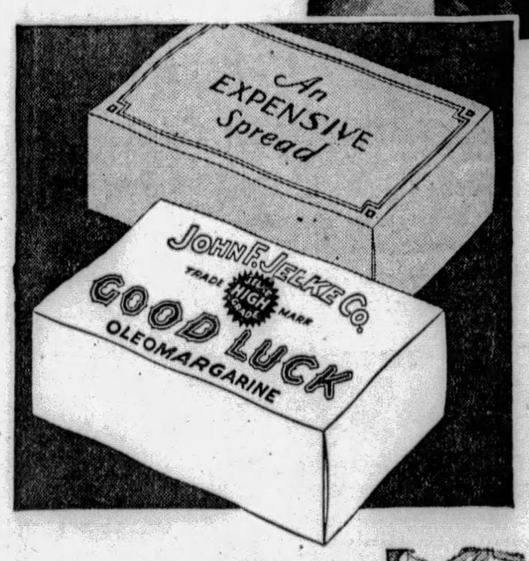
This preparation is a grease dissolvent, while soap is, strictly speaking, a grease. Thus it gives shine and sparkle while soap often leaves a greasy film that's hard to get rid of even with the most careful drying.

Most hotels use this method to make glass and china gleam. Housewives like it not only for this reason, but because it acts to soften and whiten skin fabric of the hands.

Results are surprising. Try it. Get at any grocery store in 10c or 25c package. Just ask your grocer for CLIMALENE.

EXACTLY THE SAME

THE LEE TWINS
Since leaving Broadway with their company to tour the nation-wide Radio-Keith Orpheum Circuit, new millions of theatre goers are being tantalized by the popular Lee Twins. For although christened Mildred and Muriel they look so much alike that one name would do for both.



Try the GOOD LUCK Challenge flavor test on your own table—without announcing it beforehand. Your family will not discover the change.

Two Choices One Flavor

If it is not easy to tell one girl from the other it is still more difficult to find any difference in flavor between Jelke GOOD LUCK Margarine and an expensive spread-for-bread.

Different in name but twins in flavor, yet GOOD LUCK has the same 60 cent taste, freshness and purity. None can tell which is which. Make GOOD LUCK your choice and reduce your table costs.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Debutante Returns Home

THREE more days and we shall be chanting the requiem for September of 1929, and welcoming the harvest moon of October.

And there are harvests and harvests, and we are most concerned with harvesting all these plans for social events we've been hearing about for weeks and weeks. By mid-October when nearly everyone will be home for the remainder of the season, social life will gradually assume the tempo of entertaining we always associate with November and particularly with December.

* * *

ONE of the debutantes, Katherine Harkness Edwards, and her mother, Mrs. Ogden M. Edwards, just came home yesterday morning. They've been at their Easthampton home for the summer and September. Whether Dr. and Mrs. Edwards will present their daughter at a tea or some other social event hasn't been decided yet, but as I told you a few days ago, they will give a ball for her on Christmas night in the Pittsburgh Golf Club.

The very first day of October will bring home another debutante, Melus Edwards Rhodes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Dickinson Rhodes, of Sewickley. The bud and her father and mother and sister, Mary, are expected home from Europe that day.

* * *

AND I happen to know of still another girl who'll be leaving soon for boarding school. Mary Grace House, daughter of the James R. Houses, of the Schenley Apartments, will leave Sunday for the Finch School in New York.

* * *

IT'S been a long time since we've heard much about Newport, hasn't it? Mrs. George Mesta, formerly of Pittsburgh, has closed her Newport home, did you know, and is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Curtiss James. Later she'll return to her Washington home.

* * *

I'VE just learned that Nancy Lea Paull's wedding to Robert Baldwin Nation, son of the William H. Nations, of Muncie, Ind., will be very small. The ceremony will take place, as I mentioned before, in the Little Church Around the Corner in New York. And Nancy will not have any attendants. Of course her father and mother, the George Paulls, of Stanton avenue, will go on for the wedding. And after a wedding trip Nancy and her husband will live in Pittsburgh.

* * *

AN interesting announcement from Sewickley is made by Dr. and Mrs. J. Collord White, of Melville lane, who are making known the marriage of their daughter, Winifred Scott White, and John Gardiner Woods, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Woods, of Thorn street, Sewickley. They were married September 17 in Oakland, Md., by the Rev. Floyd L. Fultz, pastor of the United Brethren Church.

* * *

A MOST interesting party has been added to the winter's social calendar. It is a breakfast dance with Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Ridgers, of Howe street, are planning for the Saturday after Thanksgiving, November 30, in the Pittsburgh Club, in honor of one of the debutantes, Harriet Fickes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Stanton Fickes, of Woodland road. The hours will be from 12:30 to 3 o'clock.

* * *

DID you know that Mrs. William Merritt Jenkins and her daughter, Elizabeth, of Beechwood boulevard, have returned from Pasadena, Cal., where they visited another daughter, Mrs. Ralph Darsie Schmertz, formerly of Morewood Gardens?

* * *

THE first of the nightly dances in the fall program at the Keystone Athletic Club will be held tomorrow in the main dining room. Sunday night concerts are being planned for the club and there will be motion pictures on the same evening.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. FOREST EUGENE SIGGINS, of Meade street, Wilkinsburg, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Gail Eileeen Siggins, and John Warren Wenzel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wenzel, of this city, which was solemnized Wednesday evening in the Wilkinsbbrg Christian Church by the Rev. D. Park Chapman. The bride wore white satin and lace and carried white and sweetheart roses. Her sister, Miss Fern Eugenia Siggins, as maid of honor, appeared in green chiffon and tulle and carried butterfly roses. Carl Wenzel was his brother's best man and the ushers included Robert F. McCabe and Richard Schneider. A reception in the Siggins home followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Wenzel are taking a southern trip and after November 1 will be at home in Morrowfield avenue.

* * *

THE marriage of Miss Mary Williams Cooper, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Williams, of Allen avenue, and John Horan, of Duquesne, will be solemnized tomorrow afternoon at 3:45 o'clock in the Union Baptist Church, South Nineteenth street, by the pastor, the Rev. William Cutler, assisted by the Rev. D. C. Edwards, of Oakland. A reception and dinner in the Fort Pitt Hotel will follow the ceremony. Members of the Catham Street Baptist Church, of which Miss Williams is organist, entertained in her honor last night in the home of the Rev. and Mrs. D. C. Edwards, in Dawson street, and on Wednesday, Mrs. Raymond Wright, of Mt. Lebanon, gave a luncheon in her home. Miss Hazel Cooper and Mrs. Annie O'Leary were hostesses at a shower Monday night in the latter's home in honor of their sister, and Miss Mabel Jones, of Crafton Terrace, entertained on September 19 with a miscellaneous shower for Miss Cooper.

* * *

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made of the marriage of Miss Florence Lieber, of Lloyd street, and Louis A. Soxman, of McPherson boulevard, which was solemnized Wednesday morning in St. Bede's Catholic Church by the Rev. Edward Soxman, brother of the bridegroom. Miss Eleanor Lieber, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Charles Soxman was his brother's best man. After an eastern trip, Mr. and Mrs. Soxman will make their home in this city.

* * *

* * *

CLUB ANATOLE will open its fall season Friday night in Pope's Riverview Inn with a "harvest hop." Carl Buetzow is chairman, assisted by Charles Wayman and Charles Bernhard.

* * *

Pitt Registration To Exceed 15,000

Registration totals at the University of Pittsburgh have reached 7,788 without complete reports from the professional schools of the university or from the off-campus centers, according to a report issued today by J. Gilbert Quick, registrar. He predicts that when extension division, downtown division, professional schools and Erie, Johnstown and Uniontown centers report the total registration for this year will exceed 15,000. Last year's total was 14,873.

PARIS, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Miss Fanchon Hartwell Thompson, an opera singer, of Chicago, who appeared in London and Paris, died here today after a long illness. She was 49.

Drama Year Opens at Congress

THE curtain went up on another season for the drama department of the Congress of Clubs yesterday. It was the customary luncheon meeting, over which Mrs. Chester F. Johnston, department head, presided with her usual graciousness.

Louise McPhetridge Thaden, women's air derby winner, was the chief honor guest and gave a delightful little talk in which she said Pittsburgh must wake up and get behind aviation and the women must become air-minded, teaching their children to do the same. Flying, Mrs. Thaden said, combines all the arts. Chester B. Story, president of the Pittsburgh Drama League, was another guest speaker. Mr. Story told of the changes in the local league with the resignation of Elmer Kenyon as president and also explained the co-operation of the National Drama League with the American Theatrical Association and the Church and Drama Association. To conclude the program, Miss Helen Irwin, a member of the department, gave an enjoyable reading of Barrie's little play, "The Twelve-Pound Look."

* * *

SUBJECTS have been announced for the series of lectures which Dr. Edward Howard Griggs will give under auspices of the Phoebe Brashear Club this winter. Beginning Thursday night, Dr. Griggs will speak in the North Side Carnegie Library on six successive Thursday evenings. "A Survey and Diagnosis of the Present Age," is the topic for the opening lecture in the series, the general topic for which is "Present Problems of American Life." The other lecture subjects are "Literature and American Culture;" "Training Citizenship for America;" "The Significance and Cultivation of Leadership;" "Present Problems of Our International Relations," and "A Philosophy of Life for the Present Age."

* * *

"DENMARK AND SCANDINAVIAN PENINSULA" was the subject used by the Woman's Club of Rosslyn Farms at the meeting yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. G. Carmichael, Edgecliff drive. Mrs. H. F. Buchner, leader, gave an interesting talk on Denmark. Mrs. Louis Rott read an article on the Peninsula, while a Danish story was retold by Mrs. F. H. Alter. Mrs. C. P. Galleher, with Mrs. L. J. Fox accompanying, interspersed the program with vocal solos, and a peasant dance in costume was given by Mrs. G. E. Dignan and Mrs. G. A. Price. On October 10 the club will have as its guests the Monday Club and Woman's Club of Carnegie.

* * *

FASHIONS for every occasion will be shown in a fashion revue which will follow the dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club in the Congress of Clubs Thursday evening. Miss Adelaide C. Hunter will direct the revue, with Dr. Anna Cofsky, Miss Elizabeth McGarr, Miss Rosalie Pfeiffer, Miss Martha Houser and Miss Esther Katton, club members, serving as models. Special music also will be part of the program. Miss Jewel Foley, president of the club, just home from a southern trip, will preside.

* * *

MRS. T. W. FERRIS, Jr., new president of the Squirrel Hill Community Club, will be honored with a reception which the club will give Friday afternoon, October 11, in the Morrowfield Hotel.

* * *

MRS. RALPH C. BEERBOWER, of Thomas boulevard, is accepting responses for the reception which the Woman's Club of Wilkinsburg will give Monday, October 7, in honor of its new executive, Mrs. Otto G. Leichliter, in the Y. W. C. A. Community House.

* * *

THE annual reception and tea of the Keystone Association for Historical Research will be held Monday, October 7, at the Congress of Clubs. A musical program will be furnished by Mrs. Edmond McDougall.

* * *

THE Tourists have sent out invitations for the reception which they will give Monday afternoon, October 7, in honor of the president, Mrs. George William Remensnyder. Responses for the affair, which will be held in the Congress of Clubs, are being made to Mrs. F. E. Wiley.

* * *

INVITATIONS have been issued by the Woman's Civic Club of Brookline for a reception in honor of the president, Mrs. J. F. Moore, Tuesday afternoon in the Brookline Methodist Church. Mrs. John White, chairman of the social committee, is taking responses.

* * *

OCTOBER 7 is the date chosen by the executive board of Pittsburgh Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, for the annual card party, a benefit for the patriotic education committee's work. It will be held at the Hotel Schenley.

* * *

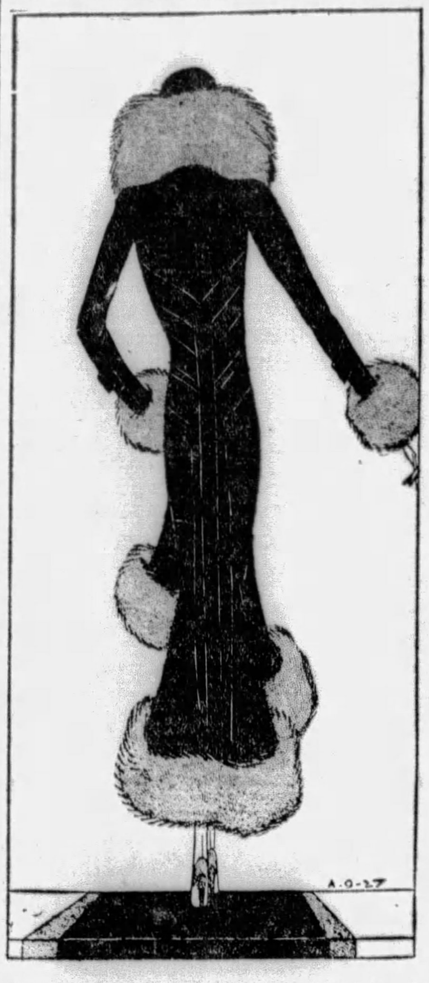
THE first quarterly meeting of the Alumni Association of St. Mary's Academy will be held Sunday afternoon, October 6, in the school auditorium. A schedule of social activities will be arranged at this meeting, and election of officers will take place.

* * *

MEMBERS of the University of Pittsburgh Women's Athletic Association will hold their traditional "co-ed prom" in honor of women students of the freshman class this evening in Heinz House. It will be a costume affair, the freshmen dressed as children and the upper-class women as their escorts. The grand march, some novelty dance numbers, and the awarding of prizes will be features of the evening's program. Miss Dorothy Cameron, chairman of the affair, will be assisted by Miss Helen Bachman, Miss Marie Brackman, Miss Hermine Ruoff, and Miss Gertrude Campbell.

FOX REASSERTS ITSELF FOR THE COMING SEASON

Sketched in Paris



Various Shades of Fox to Be Employed

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Sept. 26.—Fox hunting is popular in Paris! And it is carried out with the aid of an automobile and a check book, and the quarry can be quickly run to earth in the atelier of almost any designer here. From this, you will surmise that fox has established itself as the fur of the season. Combined with velvet it reaches new heights of beauty, and is much the most successful alliance for both day and evening wraps. All shades of fox are employed, natural, silver and beige tones are of course, as ever, in constant demand.

THE little "dressmaker" frock continues its busy career. This Cinderella of the fashion world made its real debut last spring, but this season will see it firmly established as an important item of the wardrobe of the busy women. For in such a frock, one can walk, shop, lunch, keep business appointments and be assured of being happily and appropriately dressed. Which is half the battle on a busy day.

TO illustrate the velvet and fox merger, we have selected Patou's new wrap. It is in a lovely shade of dark green, and the cotton velvet is very light and supple. Band appliques of the material slope toward the center of the back, following the hem line which takes a pronounced dip, reaching almost to the heels at the back. The large upstanding collar, the cuffs, and the full border are all of red fox. There is a strong circular movement at the sides and back, that is very smart.

THERE is much of interest in the Tollman model of navy blue charmeline, also shown. This delightful gown features the new wide collar that fastens to one side, and flaring butcher cuffs of white silk with encrustations in bands of yellow silk, alternating with the fabric of the frock. There is a circular draping at one side of the skirt, starting from beneath the flat piecings around the hip-line. The zig-zag yoke of the bodice fastens at the left side with small fabric buttons. This dress is ideal for all-day wear during the early autumn.

BUS ROLLS OVER BANK, 5 HURT

STEUBENVILLE, O., Sept. 29.—Skidding on a rain-soaked road near Wheeling Junction, W. Va., east of here last night, a Pittsburgh-Steubenville bus of the Union Bus Company, swerved onto street car tracks, then toppled over an embankment, rolling 100 feet to the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks, injuring five persons, one probably fatally.

Peter Broski, 31, Wellsburg, W. Va., driver of the bus, will likely die. He is in the Ohio Valley Hospital here with a fractured skull and internal injuries.

John Scordellis, 40, Follansbee, W. Va., and George Williams, 32, Negro, Steubenville, were less seriously hurt. Two women passengers were slightly cut and were treated at a doctor's office here.

Broski, a new driver, was making his first trip for the company. Williams told officials here that Broski lost control of the machine when it started to skid. He said the bus was traveling about 30 miles an hour when the accident happened.

KILLS HIS RIVAL, SELF; SHOOTS 3

ULRICHSVILLE, O., Sept. 27.—Angered because Doyle Hooker, 20, whom he had taught his trade, opened a rival shop, Pearl Waller, 40, a shoe repairman, went to Hooker's shop on the same street, shot and killed him. He then went to the Hooker home near by, shot and perhaps fatally wounded the victim's mother, Mrs. Frank Hooker, 55, and then shot and wounded Mrs. James Simpson, jeweler's wife, and her son, Homer, 45, neighbors, who had rushed to aid Mrs. Hooker.

Waller, then turned the gun on himself, firing a bullet into his brain as he stood on the sidewalk. Waller's widow is a niece of Mrs. Hooker. Mrs. Hooker, not expected to survive, is at Twin City Hospital, Dennison.

Police found two revolvers, one of which had been emptied, and a bottle of liquor in Waller's clothing.

"COURAGE TO DO WHAT I WANT NOW"

Restoration of a Man Who Tried to Travel Too Fast.

"Yes, I date all my troubles from an attack of the flu early last fall. When the flu left me, it developed into catarrh. My stomach was very weak, I was constipated and it was months before I found out what to do for it. I had been running around a good deal, for our set of young folks is pretty lively, and after I thought I had got over the flu I tried to keep up with them," said Robert Ellerbee, who is a superintendent with a big trucking concern in Steubenville, Ohio. "But I found they were going at too fast a pace for me. I had no courage, nothing to look forward to, and at our parties I just sat around. It was not long until they began to drop me, and as my stomach grew worse I did not care much. I belched up sour gas after every meal and was short of breath. Soon my liver got very sluggish, and at times I was dizzy and had trouble with my eyes. My blood got bad, my skin became ashy and pimply, and I lost all my ambition and pep. Altogether I was a pretty sick man. Just at this time a friend advised me to use World's Tonic, which he said was a new medicine brought from different parts of the world that was doing wonders for sick people.

"I found almost immediate relief with this valuable medicine. My stomach soon got back to normal, my liver worked well, my dizziness disappeared, and gradually my blood was restored to purity, so that my skin became clear and my eyes troubled me no more. I felt well again in about three weeks, but continued with the medicine several weeks more. The change it made in me was marvelous. I got back my energy, found myself full of pep and courage, could endure more and had more enterprise than ever before in my life. It is a great joy to be a real man again, with the strength and courage to do what I want to do, and the energy and vim to enjoy life. This is what World's Tonic did for me—quickly and pleasantly—in a few short weeks. It is a remarkable medicine. I recommend it heartily to every man or woman who feels rundown and weak." World's Tonic can be had of Dow's (formerly McCulloch's), also May's, and Mayflower Stores, or of any other first class drug store. (B-1)

KNOCKOUT MAKES SHARKEY CHAMP

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

Punch Still Rules Ring.
Clever Loughran Falls.
Falk Discusses Series.
Duke Not Easy for Pitt.
Kimmick Leads League.
Linton Busy as Coach.

TITLE LOOKS CERTAIN FOR SHARKEY

THE old wallop is still the main thing in the fight game. It doesn't matter how skillful or fistically smart a boxer may be; if a real punch nails him on the right spot it's all over with him. As the result of the latest demonstration of this fact, Tommy Loughran's dream of heavyweight championship greatness is ended, and Jack Sharkey, as his conqueror, stands out as the uncrowned king of the class.

Tommy Loughran

The technical knockout that gave Sharkey the victory in the third round of last night's big bout at the Yankee Stadium in New York evidenced once again the edge that a fighter with a sock has over a clever boxer who is lacking in hitting power. It showed, too, the disadvantage at which a glovemán is placed who leaves one class and, after putting on some extra pounds that may do him no good, tries to cope with bigger and tougher men in a heavier division.

Seemingly it was only a question of time until Sharkey, who had nothing to fear from Loughran's light blows—and that may have had considerable to do with the aggressive mental state of the former sailor—reached Tommy with one of his own solid blows. The greatest surprise was that he landed it so early.

SOME of Loughran's supporters may be expected to criticize Referee Louis Magnolia's action in stepping between the fighters and declaring Sharkey the winner after Tommy had got up at the count of three, but for more than one reason it was the proper thing to do. If Loughran had had his senses he would not have risen so quickly, and when he walked to a neutral corner, dazed and with his hands down, it would not have been humane to let Sharkey hit him again.

Sharkey proved just what many had figured—that the many boxing men picking Loughran as a sure winner were underestimating the sailor and not taking into account the fact that the ex-gob is not only a good boxer himself, but carries a punch into the bargain, and when he has a good night he has the class of a champion.

IT IS HARD to figure how Sharkey can be prevented from eventually winning recognition as the new champion, with only Phil Scott and Max Schmeling standing between him and the title if Godfrey, once defeated by Jack, is not to be given a chance. Schmeling is "out" as far as the New York boxing powers are concerned, but you can look for him to be reinstated eventually when the chance offers for a big gate at a match between him and Sharkey. The money comes first in the Queensberry racket.

IN THE opinion of Bib Falk, now with Cleveland, who played against the Cubs in the Chicago city series while he was with the White Sox and has frequently been in competition with the Athletics, Pat Malone is one pitcher on the Bruin staff who is likely to bring woe to the Mackmen.

"Malone will beat the A's,' says Falk, "but Bush never will. Malone is a speeder like Crowder, who blanked the Athletics only recently. Blake may get a shot at the A's in Chicago. His side-arm delivery is bothersome on those grounds."

George Earnshaw

FALK, like the average American League player, is picking the Athletics to win, but he says it is all up to Bob Grove. "If Grove is in his best form he will beat the Cubs," the Cleveland outfielder declares. There is no other pitcher able to hurl the ball with the effectiveness of the Philadelphia southpaw.

He likes to pitch in big, important games, too. He is certain to be in shape when he pitches, for he is jealous of his ability as a mound mechanic, and won't take a chance of going to the hill without having everything.

"IT IS HARD to figure the big southsider. He is temperamental. If he gets off to a good start he will just bear down all the way and the Cubs won't beat him. Earnshaw also has the ability to beat the Cubs. In the city series last fall we shot Thomas, a speedball pitcher, against the Cubs. He stood them on their ears, and Grove and Earnshaw throw faster balls than Thomas does.

"SHOULD the A's win one of the first two games in Chicago it will be hard for the Cubs, as the next three in Philadelphia will give the Mackmen an advantage hard to overcome. I think that Grove will start the first game and Earnshaw the second.

"If the A's win the first two, Walberg will go to the slab in the third. If the Cubs win the first two, Quinn probably will start the third, and maybe Ehmke will get a chance, too. Both Quinn and Ehmke can beat the Cubs."

THUS far, D. J. B. Sutherland, Pitt football coach, has managed to restrain himself from predicting the defeat of the Panthers in the opening game of the season against Waynesburg College at the Stadium tomorrow afternoon, but he says with every appearance of seriousness that he expects trouble in the game with Duke University the following Saturday in Durham, N. C. The grid chief of the Blue and Gold has been tipped that Jimmy DeHart has a strong and well-seasoned team and that the Panthers will not be able to do any loafing. Coach Sutherland also repeats on the eve of the season his approval of the new rules. He thinks the public will like them. "The rule barring runs on recovered fumbles is a fine thing," he said. "Often it will keep the weaker team from defeating the stronger."

Dr. Sutherland

WALTER KIMMICK, Turtle Creek citizen and former big league ball player, brings home with him this fall the distinction of being the champion batter of the Eastern League. Kimmick slugged the ball hard for Bridgeport all season and wound up ahead of all rivals with the lofty average of .379.

Yank Yordy, of Albany, ranked first at driving in runs, with 170, and Bruce Caldwell, of New Haven, who goes to the Cleveland club, led in home runs with 41. Speaking of the Eastern League, Mike Martineck, the young first baseman tried by the Pirates several years ago, has balked at being sent to Albany by Newark of the International League in the Parenti-Munn deal. He figures he can make good in faster company.

MEMBERS of the Homestead Grays made a splendid showing in the batting averages of the American League for the 1929 season, which have just been published. Cum Posey's team had seven .300 hitters, as follows: Scales, .387; Cannady, .378; Ewing, .374; Graham, .360; Owens, .360; Streeter, .347, and V. Harris, .333. Turner

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 27.—Although they still hold a big advantage over the climbing Giants, the Pirates today were a bit apprehensive regarding second place. Losing out to the Cardinals yesterday in a fierce slab duel, the Pittsburgh athletes saw their runnerup advantage dwindle to two and one-half games.

The Giants have eight more contests on their schedule while the Buccos still are carded for seven battles, six of which are with the Redbirds. A little slump on the part of the Freebooters might cause them to drop to the third notch. The Giants will be engaged with the comparatively easy clubs of the East while the Pirates are mixing with the Cardinals and Cubs. The Buccos, however, will play only one game with the new champs.

GRIMES TO WORK

Meantime, the Pirates are concentrated on the doings of this day. The second tussle of the five-game set in St. Louis is on for this afternoon. Burleigh Grimes is due to work and probably will get the assignment if he says he is ready. Haines or Sherdel are likely home selections.

Jess Petty and Clarence Mitchell hooked up in a terrific fight of the mound in the opening game of the series. The spitball lefthander of the St. Louis crew had a 1-to-0 edge on the Pennsylvanian as late as the ninth, but Paul Waner whipped a homer over the rightfield grandstand as he opened the ninth. Capt. Traynor singled and Manager McKechnie yanked Mitchell in favor of Harold Haid.

When Comorosky beat out an infield hit, the Pittsburgh cause was looking up. Hemsley laid down a sacrifice to advance both runners, but Earl Sheely was given an intentional pass. Haid then showed his mettle by fanning Jimmy Mosolf and Petty. Mosolf batted for Stuart Clarke in the big clinch.

CHICK SCORES WIN

Chick Hafey singled with Bottomley erased in the home half. Frisch batted for High, but flied to Comorosky. Hafey then stole second and when Selph singled to right, Chick scored the winning tally.

Clarke's low throw opened the way to the first score of the fight, this tally comin to the Cards in the eighth. Mitchell doubled to right with one out and he moved to third on a sacrifice fly. Clarke then threw low on Orsatti's grounder and Mitchell counted.

TOMORROW—THE BOUNCING WATERFALL.

BELMONT, PIAL SET FOR BOUT TONIGHT

"Belmont Night" will be observed at the Moose Temple, downtown, tonight, when Jimmy Belmont, the Braddock lad who has been bowling over the opposition consistently, endeavors to add Johnny Pial, the hard-hitting welterweight, of Greenville, Pa., to his list of victims. Belmont and Pial meet in the 10-round main bout.

Patsy Gallagher.

James (Red) Mason, Belmont's manager, expects his protege to stop the Greenville entry before the tenth round is reached. But Pial may have something to say to that and if Johnny shows punching ability such as he did against Larry Madge in the same ring last winter, then the result may be reversed. This marks Belmont's local debut as a main bouter.

The semi-final, of six rounds, brings together two of the smartest featherweights in this part of the state, in Patsy Gallagher, of the North Side, and Johnny Dunn, of New Kensington. Both lads are exceptionally clever, and the rivalry is keen. Another thing that will make these two little fellows step out is the fact that the promoter, Francis Flynn, promised the winner a main bout at his club in the near future.

Frank Monroe, of Fair Haven, a middleweight, tackles Florida Howard, Negro, of New Kensington, in the second bout, and Sammy Paris, of the Hill, meets Paul Balint, of the North Side, in the opening number.

O'DOWD BOXES SHEA

An all-star card is on tap for the Chicago fight fans at the Chicago stadium tonight with Tony Canzoneri, former featherweight champion, meeting Eddie Mack, of Denver, in the 10-round main event. Benny Bass, of Philadelphia, who also held the featherweight crown, is on with Johnny Datto, the Philipino, of Cleveland, who just recently handed Andre Routis, another exfeatherweight champ, a lacing, in the other 10 rounder.

Red Hartley, of the North Side, and Ray Ford, of Mifflin, Pa., have signed for the opening bout at Motor Square Garden Monday night. Ford is making his local debut.

John Hernon, promoter at the Garden, announces that there will be 2,500 reserved seats available for the $1 customers. The seats are so arranged as to enable them to see the fights much better than previously.

P. Waner Trade Rumor 'Pipe Dream'

"Just another of those pipe dreams," said Barney Dreyfuss today when his attention was called to the wild rumor out of St. Louis to the effect that Paul Waner was to be traded for Jim Bottomley.

The Pittsburgh magnate ought to be tired denying the trade talk on Brother Paul. More than a month ago he informed the Sun-Telegraph that the outfielder would not be swapped. But when there is nothing else on which the sensation seekers can feast they will cook up deals with no foundation.

Bill McKechnie, by the way, declares that Bottomley will stay where he is. Therefore, the latest trade rumor is just a bit wilder than the average.

HILL, BRITISH CHAMP, DIES

STRATHMIGLO, Fifeshire, Scotland, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Johnny Hill, British flyweight champion, died suddenly here today. His death resulted from the bursting of a blood vessel in his lung.

Hill, who had been training here for a championship fight with Frank Genaro, of New York, at Albert Hall, London, next month, contracted a cold on Monday. He showed some improvement but then suffered a relapse, and died today.

Hill's death follows sharply on the heels of a controversy over Genaro's landing in England. Jeff Dickson, American promoter of the championship contest, told the London Express that Genaro would not be allowed to land. Dickson said the ministry of labor had agreed with the British boxing board of control to bar all foreign boxers unless they possess a permit issued by the board.

JACK STOPS LOUGHRAN IN THIRD

By HARRY KECK,
Sun-Telegraph Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Jack Sharkey, of Boston, today stands out as the champion of the available heavyweights as a result of a queer technical knockout victory he scored over Tommy Loughran, of Philadelphia, recently resigned light-heavyweight champion of the world, in 27 seconds of the third round in the Yankee Stadium last night in the most important bout of the year among the big fellows.

It was the first time in Loughran's long career that he had been stopped, and he was not counted out.

SAVED BY REFEREE

Instead, he was saved from serious and possibly fatal injury by the action of the referee, Lou Magnolia, who interceded with Sharkey, the "killer" at last, after many disappointing shows, setting himself to send home a finishing punch after Loughran had taken a right to the chin and gone down for a count of three and risen methodically to his feet and then gone through the most astonishing motions of totally ignoring his opponent and walking like a man in a trance to a neutral corner. His hands were down and he was talking to the referee and was entirely oblivious of his surroundings. For all he knew at the moment, he might have been drinking tea in China instead of fighting for the heavyweight title.

TOM OUT ON FEET

After the bout, the referee came to the ropes and reported to the press row that Tommy had said to him:

"Let me sit down; I don't know where I am."

He certainly didn't, and, as Sharkey, sensing the situation, leaped in to end it, the referee acted very wisely in stepping in front of him and shielding the defenseless man. It would have been little short of manslaughter to have permitted the fight to go on.

Sharkey, who has been widely criticized for his shortcomings in the past, in the face of his great possibilities, was as tickled as a child with a new toy over the easy victory. Whooping in high glee, he acted up in the ring and then came to the press row and bellowed:

"Now, let them laugh!"

Loughran, at this stage, still was out in his corner. He didn't realize what had happened until after they had bundled him into his bathrobe. Then Sharkey went over and talked to him. Tommy was plainly chestfallen, while the crowd was stunned by the suddenness of the dramatic finish.

Up to the time of the knockout, Loughran, who at 186½ pounds, conceded nine and one-half pounds to his opponent, had held his own. He had outboxed Sharkey in the first round and lost the second by about the same margin when he laid back and countered, permitting Sharkey to do virtually all of the forcing.

TWO BLOWS END BOUT

Only two blows were started in the third round. Sharkey led with a left hook that was wild as Loughran retreated to the ropes near his own corner. Sharkey followed up his foe and leaped in with a right swing to the point of the jaw, putting everything he had behind the blow. Loughran went down in a heap, but immediately began to grope about, trying to get up. He made the grade at three, whereas, if his head had been clear, he probably would have taken nine. That he still was out was proved by his subsequent actions.

The bout got under way as if it might develope into a tame boxing affair. They circled about for several seconds before Tommy led with a light left. Sharkey then dug a left to the body and tossed both hands to the body as they closed in. Loughran jabbed some more and then Sharkey rushed in. Loughran jabbed several times and Sharkey was so far short with a right that the crowd laughed. He tried another and connected to the jaw. Loughran planted two rights of his own to the jaw and was outboxing the Bostonian at the bell. Neither was breathing hard.

Tommy came out determined to make Sharkey miss and counter in the second round. He feinted and feinted, and waited for Jack to come to him. He easily blocked a Sharkey right swing for the head, and then Jack missed another one, fanning the breeze. Loughran jabbed several times and then sent a left hook to the head. Sharkey missed a right and followed through with a left hook to the jaw against the ropes, the reverse of the finishing punches in the next round. He planted a right to the jaw in mid-ring and Loughran worked both fists to the body in a clinch. Sharkey was forcing the fight when the bell sounded and they were even up going into the next and final round.

JACK INSPIRED

Sharkey, in victory, again was the inspired fighter that he was the night he knocked out Jim Maloney a few years back and again in the first round of his fight with Jack Dempsey. For the moment, the greatest in-and-outer in the heavyweight division in recent years was living up to the nice things the critics and fans had said about him before they became disgusted with him. Whereas, in the past he frequently has banged the door in the face of opportunity, he was the supreme opportunist last night. When the stakes were highest he came through.

Following the bout, Commissioner William Muldoon, of New York State Athletic Commission, hailed Sharkey as the American champion. Jack likely will meet Max Schmeling for the world title at Miami Beach, Fla.,

LOUGHRAN TAKING COUNT IN THIRD

Sharkey and Loughran giving a display of boxing ability at the Yankee Stadium last night just before Sharkey sent his opponent to the canvas for a technical knockout. The victory makes the Boston Gob the ranking heavyweight of the world. Referee Lou Magnolia stopped the fight in the third round to prevent possible injury to Loughran, who was "out" on his feet.

next February. Schmeling was to have been his opponent last night, but he lost the chance because of a runout on Phil Scott, the English champion.

A crowd of 45,000 witnessed the downfall of Loughran. The estimated receipts were $300,000.

Loughran, who entered the ring a 7-to-5 favorite on the theory that he was too clever for Boston's Terrible Sharkey Man, and also was a consistent winner, in direct contrast to the record of his opponent, was loathe to speak about his crushing defeat.

TOM DISAPPOINTED

"I didn't see the punch coming," he explained sadly in his dressing room. "And I don't know what happened. If the commission will permit it, I will go out and fight Sharkey again tonight. It obviously was a chance blow that finished me, for I was going along handily up to the time the end came."

Tommy apparently did not suffer any physicial injury though the knockout.

Phil Scott was introduced before the main bout. The English heavyweight champion, who defeated Victorio Campolo, the Argentine giant, last Monday night, challenged the winner. Tuffy Griffiths another contender, also took a bow.

HUGGINS PAID TRIBUTE

Announcer Joe Humphries called upon the crowd to rise and pay silent tribute to the late Miller Huggins, manager of the Yankees, who died on Wednesday. As the crowd stood with bowed heads, Joe's voice boomed:

"May his soul rest in peace. Amen."

Loughran, who was first in the ring, received a loud cheer when he was introduced. Boos mingled with the cheers for Sharkey. Lou Magnolia was the referee.

Jim Maloney of Boston, Sharkey's former keen rival, manhandled Jack Gagnon, also of Boston, in the semi-final, scheduled for 10-rounds, and put on after the main bout, only to lose on a foul late in the seventh round. It was a tough mauling with Gagnon several times on the verge of going out but he won on the technicality of a low punch. Either Maloney's punch has deserted him or Gagnon is a glutton for punishment.

HEENEY BEATS HOFFMAN

Tom Heeney, the old Hard Rock from under, who boxed Gene Tunney for the title here just a year ago, and has met many reverses since, got a big hand when he was introduced for the first 10-round bout, with George Hoffman, of New York, former amateur heavyweight champion. Tom, who scaled 207 pounds against 193½ for his opponent, got off to a great start in the first round, belting the youngster about at will. Hoffman appeared to be scared by Tom's reputation and did little fighting. Eddie Forbes, who refereed Heeney's fight with Tunney, was the third man in the ring.

Hoffman came to life late in the second round to cross a series of hard rights to Heeney's jaw, but he didn't quite even up for the mauling to which Heeney subjected him. Heeney also outpunched the youngster in the third round, but went back to his corner with the blood trickling from a cut over his left eye.

Hoffman did more fighting in the fourth, but Tom was too smart for him on the inside and ripped him fore and aft with both fists, uppercut that kept jarring George's head back, being his best weapon.

As the fight wore on, Heeney's advantages in weight and experience became even more pronounced. He fairly "murdered" George with his infighting in the fifth round, and, in the sixth, George was glad to hang on in clinch after clinch, in each of which he took a bad body hammering and jolting of the head. The seventh was a repetition of the slaughter, with Hoffman once trying to respond to the clamor of the crowd for more action on his part only to receive a more enthusiastic shellacking from the veteran. His left eye suffered a cut in this frame.

GEORGE RALLIES

The crowd booed as the action slowed down in the eighth. Heeney was fighting only as hard as he had to and Hoffman welcomed the respite. He shook his head wearily as he went to his corner at the bell, only to come back and take the offensive for the first time in the ninth round, outpunching Tom, who tired under the pace.

George kept up the good work in the final round, winning it by a city block. Once he rocked Tom with a right to the jaw, the cleanest punch of the fight. The youngsters' rally came too late, however, and the decision went to Tom. It met with a storm of boos and catcalls, but there was no question of its fairness. Ol' Tom had the fight sewed up going into those two last rounds and only a knockout would have beaten him.

Joe Banovic, a good-looking youngster from Binghamton, N. Y., where Sharkey got his start, blazed his way to an impressive victory over Lou Barba, of New York's Greenwich Village, in the six-round second bout, and Bill Daring, Navy heavy, took the measure of Bob Carvill, of England, in the four-round opener, in which he spilled the invader twice for long counts.

Fight Results

At McKeesport—Joe Trippe knocked out Tiger Joe Randall, 6 rounds; Young Corsey defeated Tommy Duffy, 6 rounds; Young Angelo and Eddie Brannon drew, 6 rounds; Young Penno knocked out Freddie Shafer, 3 rounds.

Reliance Life Nine Guests at Banquet

"Capture the City Baseball League pennant next year," was the slogan at the annual banquet of the Reliance Life City League Baseball Club, held at the Keystone Athletic club, last evening.

R. G. Scott, vice president of the Reliance Life Company, in giving the banquet to his boys, again pledged his support, and Manager Herb James, in a little speech, gave out the impression that the boys were championship bound.

Among the speakers were U. J. Snodgrass, Millard Keys, Bob Woods Sed Braun, Norm Klages, Paul Kurtz, Tom Birks and George and Ed Miller.

SERVICES FOR HUGGINS TO BE HELD TODAY

BODY TO BE SENT WEST FOR BURIAL

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Funeral services will be held this afternoon for Miller Huggins, the biggest little man in baseball, and immediately after the last prayers are said, the body of the Yankees' manager will start "back home to Cincinnati. Huggins was born in the Ohio city and won his first measure of major league baseball fame there.

PAY FINAL TRIBUTE

The body of the great baseball leader was taken yesterday afternoon to the Church of the Transfiguration, better known as the "Little Church Around The Corner," 1 East Twenty-ninth street, where several hundred persons were waiting. One by one they filed through the mortuary chapel to pay a final tribute. The chapel was open to the public until 9 o'clock last night and will remain open until the funeral services at 2 o'clock today.

Acting as pallbearers at the services will be members of the Yankees, who, with Huggins at the helm, twice won three straight American League championships.

The two coaches who planned with him, Arthur Fletcher and Charles O'Leary, and four active players, Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Tony Lazzeri and Earle Combs, will be the pallbearers. The baseball game scheduled for today between the Yankees and Senators, at Washington, was postponed to permit the players to pay their last tribute.

BURIAL IN WEST

Soon after the services, New York's last tribute will be paid to the man who brought world championship pennants to the Yankee Stadium, and his body will start West to rest beside his parents in the city of his birth. Services will be held at the First Presbyterian Church, Cincinnati, Sunday afternoon.

In addition to members of the immediate family, the body will be accompanied by Charles McManus, representing the Yankee Club and Bob Connery, Huggins' associate in the ownership of the St. Paul club of the American Association.

Walker, Hudkins Title Bout Oct. 29

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Mickey Walker, middleweight champion of the world, yesterday signed a contract to meet Ace Hudkins, Nebraska contender, in a 10-round bout at Wrigley Field here October 29.

The title holder will receive 47½ per cent of the total receipts while Hudkins will receive 12½ per cent.

BARONS WIN

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Birmingham beat out a 7-to-6 victory off five Dallas pitchers to win the second game of the Dixie series here yesterday.

PLAY NO 23.

Iowa has the ball close to its sideline and the center snaps the ball back across the sideline, but on the poor pass, before it goes out of bounds, it is touched by one of Chicago's players. The Chicago captain claims the ball on the grounds that one of his men was the last to touch it before it went out of bounds.

What is the correct ruling?

ANSWER.

The referee rules that the ball belongs to Iowa as an out-of-bounds play at the point where it crossed the line. This is the one specific case where the player last touching the ball is not entitled to it on an out-of-bounds play. The rule provides that on backward passes which go out of bounds it shall belong to the side which made the pass.

YOUNGSTERS TO SEE PITT OPENER

Tomorrow's the day, the big day, the opening of the season for the Boy Scout Gridiron Club at the Stadium. Thousands of strong-lunged youngsters will be on hand, doing their stuff for dear old Pitt, whose Golden Panther has long been sharpening his claws to set his first taste of meat this year. Tomorrow he will be unleashed by Jock Sutherland and will dash on the gridiron determined to make a meal of the Yellow Jackets from Waynesburg.

And there to see this first battle of the Blue and Gold card will be these thousands of members of this new organization which was brought about through the cooperation of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, the University of Pittsburgh and Carnegie Institute of Technology, sponsored as it is by the Allegheny County Council Boy Scouts of America.

This club is not a project for scouts only. Any boy or girl 16 years old or under is eligible. Anyone of them may buy a special street car pass for a quarter and use it for admission to the games listed below.

These passes may be obtained at Spalding's, 608 Wood street; Honus Wagner's, 813 Liberty avenue; Joseph Horne Department store; Stauff's, 3806 Forbes street; Beacon Pharmacy, 1937 Murray avenue; Mayflower Drug Store, Forbes and Murray, and at Cullen's Drug Store, 4649 Center avenue, as well as at the following offices of the Pittsburgh Railways Company:

Craft Avenue car house, Keating car house, Tunnel car house, Homewood car house, Emsworth car house, Manchester car house, Highland car house, Rankin car house, Millvale car house, Herron Hill car house, West Park car house, Ingram car house, Castle Shannon car house, Butler Street car house, Glenwood car house, Carrick car house, McKeesport car house, main floor, Philadelphia Building, 435 Sixth avenue; Pittsburh Incline, Mt. Oliver Incline, Seventeenth Street Incline, Castle Shannon Incline. Equitable Sales Company, 613 Liberty avenue; Equitable Sales Company, McKeesport, Pa.; Equitable Sales Company, 6119 Penn avenue; Pittsburgh Railways Company, Interurban Station, 927 Liberty avenue.

Other games to which children will be admitted are: Tech-Thiel, October 5; Pitt-W. Va., October 12; Tech-W. & J., October 19; Pitt-W. & J., November 9, and Pitt-Penn State, November 28.

HOMESTEAD GRAYS LOSE

The Carnegie Club defeated the Homestead Grays, 8 to 4, on the former club's ground last evening.

THREE STARS OUT OF CUB LINEUP

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Unless he defies his doctor's orders, Capt. Charley Grimm will not operate at first base for the Cubs when they return to action tomorrow.

Grimm's left hand, in which a small bone was fractured more than a month ago at the Polo Grounds, New York, has healed, but the club physician told him every additional day of rest would make him more certain of being in shape for the championship series with the Athletics.

HARTNETT CRIPPLED

Manager McCarthy today said that Gabby Hartnett will confine his world series activity to pinchbatting. Hartnett caught in last Sunday's engagement with the Giants, and got into the exhibition contest at Aurora, Ill., Tuesday, and since that time has been unable to lift his ailing throwing arm higher than his shoulder.

Zack Taylor, who has done most of the catching since he was acquired from Boston in the middle of the season, also will be missed during the first two games of the Cincinnati set. Taylor received word last night of the death of his father, W. B. Taylor, at Winter Park, Fla., and will be unable to rejoin the club before the opening of the Cincinnati part of the series.

HORNSBY MOST VALUABLE

The award will be given the Cub second baseman by members of the American Boys' Commonwealth, who put together their dimes and nickels to purchase a silver plaque. The Rajah was voted the most valuable player, receiving 319 out of 894 votes. Hack Wilson was second with 152, with Riggs Stephenson, Charley Root, Kiki Cuyler, Charley Grimm, Zach Taylor, Woody English and Guy Bush all receiving support.

Yanks Dominate Canadian Golf

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 27.—(INS.)—For the first time in the history of the event four American golfers were to tee off in the semi-final round of the women's Canadian open golf championship.

Miss Glenna Collett, Miss Helen Hicks, Miss Edith Quier and Mrs. Stewart Hanley yesterday made certain that the 1929 title would rest in America by eliminating the last of the Canadian golfers.

TITLE SERIES RESUMED

The second battle of the series for the championship of the Industrial leagues in the city will be staged at Mellon field this evening when Reick-McJunkin and Byllesby clash. The first battle, played Tuesday, found the clubs deadlocked with darkness descending.

Manager Stuhldreher says Laboon will work this evening, and seeing that Eddie stopped Wentzel and Carnegie, the Byllesby heavy hitters the Milk followers are hoping he will win. Coach Abe Smith has not said who will work for the Philadelphia Company boys, but it is hardly possible that Miller will twirl. The game will be called at 6 o'clock.

Dean and Marsden Tie for Golf Honor

Frank Dean, of St. Clair and Jack Marsden, Castle Shannon, tied for the first prize in the kickers' handicap, feature event of the Legion of Honor of the Syria Temple golf tourney at Castle Shannon golf club, yesterday. Each turned in a net 76.

H. T. Armstrong, of the home club, carried away the putting contest prize. Following the golf program, the players, numbering about 30, gathered around the festal board. H. D. Lichtenthaler, commander of the legion, directed the event.

Chattanooga Sale To be Closed Soon

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Joe Engle, scout for the Washington Club of the American League, said here today that a deal for the purchase of the Chattanooga Baseball Club would be closed shortly. The consideration will be approximately $50,000.

J. B. Eynon, Jr., secretary of the Washington Club, arrived here yesterday and started an examination of the books of the Chattanooga Club.

Engle said he was acting individually in the transaction, and that the Washington Club would not be interested financially. He said he would be president of the club.

TRIPPE STOPS RANDALL IN SIXTH

Tiger Joe Randall, Elizabeth's slugging Negro fighter, who has been hanging up consistent knockout victories, got a taste of his own medicine last night in the main bout at the Palisades, McKeesport, when he was stopped by Joe Trippe, Rochester, N. Y., sheik, after one minute and 50 seconds of fighting in the sixth round.

Randall was on the canvas no less than five times in the fifth round, the bell saving him at the count of three when he went down for the last time in this round. The minute rest between rounds seemed to bring Randall back to fighting form as he came out for the sixth, swinging both hands and landing on Trippe's head and body. However, the Rochester slugger sent over a terrific left to the jaw and Tiger Joe went down again. He rested on both knees as Referee Red Robinson began a count and was still in the same position when the count ended.

TRIPPE PROVES SLUGGER

He was out for several minutes after the bout ended and his handlers worked feverishly to bring him back to his senses.

Trippe, heralded as a two-fisted slugger, lived up to advance notices. He swung freely with both hands to Randall's head and body with the start of the bout and continued to pile up points until the end. A terrific left hook to the jaw sent Randall to the canvas for the first time in the fifth round, but Joe got up, only to run into a barrage of rights and lefts. He hit the canvas again, but was up at the count of eight. Three more times before the round ended, the little Negro was on the floor, but refused to stay down. Trippe weighed 142 while Randall scaled a pound and a half heavier.

In the semi-final of six rounds, Young Corsey, fighting Canton newsboy, won a decision over Tommy Duffy, of Cleveland, winning every round by a comfortable margin. Both weighed 128.

FIGHT DRAW

RICHARDS NEAR FINAL

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(INS.)—Vincent Richards and Karel Kozeluh will no doubt today remove the last obstacles remaining between their meeting in the final round of the professional tennis singles championship. Richards is expected to have little trouble in eliminating Paul Heston in one semi-final match at Forest Hills while Kozeluh should experience little difficulty in brushing Howard Kinsey from his path.

hit .279; Miller, .260; M. Harris, .248; Britt, .238; W. Jackson, .220; L. Williams, .184; J. Williams, 146, and Ross, .081.

Charley Smith, slugging outfielder of the Lincoln Giants, made a remarkable record in leading the league batters with an average of .464. He also led in home runs with 23, in doubles with 27, in runs scored with 82, and in outfield assists with 14. He was easily the outstanding player of the league.

Claude Linton

SOME of the accounts of the Pirates' exhibition game in Newark, O., on Wednesday named Claude Linton as one of the catchers used by the Pittsburgh club. This was news, indeed, as Linton left the Bucs on September 12, having received permission to go West ahead of time to accept a football job.

Claude is assistant coach of the gridiron team of the University of Wyoming, at Laramie. He was a star lineman in his college days, and once was picked as all-Southern tackle.

MACK RECEIVERS BEST

COCHRANE SEEN AS ACE OF RECEIVERS

(This is the second of a series of articles dealing with the relative strength of the Cubs and Athletics, coming world series contenders. Today's review deals with the catchers. The infielders and outfielders will be considered in later articles.)

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

American Leaguers will insist, National Leaguers will quickly admit that the American League holds the catching advantage in connection with the game next month.

Connie Mack is fortunate in having the outstanding catcher in all baseball in Gordon (Mickey) Cochrane. We National Leaguers who have not seen the firebrand receiver in action will have to take the testimony of those who have watched him closely and there are many good observers who are free from any partisanship in the matter.

If Leo Hartnett were in his former stride, this writer is one who would not concede much of an advantage to the Athletics. Hartnett, like his smaller rival, has that quality that makes for teamwork and hustle on the part of the other eight men engaged in the conflict. But apparently the ace of the National League maskmen will be on the sidelines. And if he is, he is certainly out of the reckoning.

COCHRANE IS BEST

Cochrane and Cy Perkins are the American League representatives behind the bat, with Zach Taylor and Senor Miguel Gonzales doing honors for the senior circuit. There also is a chance that John Schulte will do some backstopping duty for Joe McCarthy.

Cochrane is far and away ahead of the others named. If he is the best catcher in the sport he naturally would be out in front by a wide gap.

Mickey is so good he is used in the important third-notch of the Athletics' order. This fact, alone, indicates unusual offensive ability and when one realizes his feats of hitting and running there is quick tendency to hand the plum to Mickey.

Few catchers score 100 runs in one season, but Cochrane is far beyond that mark already. He is sure to finish far over the .300 mark in batting. All of this gives eloquent testimony to his prowess as a maker of runs, yet it is his catching and general defensive work that makes the fans of Quakertown rave about him.

MICKEY A "WONDER"

Cochrane's spirit apparently is one of the dominating features in the play of the American League champs. He must be a wonder, so we'll let it go at that.

Cy Perkins had been a fine receiver for the A's until Cochrane jumped into the center of the fray. From that time, Cy has been relegated to the background. Mickey has caught nearly every game this year. Cy's chances, then, for breaking into the coming series are just fair.

The Cubs were extremely fortunate this year when they acquired Zack Taylor, who seemed to be going to seed in Boston. Always a good receiver of the sturdy, hard-working type, Taylor appeared to go into a new character as quickly as he changed baseball suits.

Marse Joe was in considerable distress when he landed the Tribesman. Hartnett was on the shelf and the pitchers were not winning regular under the influence of the other receivers. The boys used in the springtime seemed to crack and while Senor Gonzales did good work the potential champs continued to falter.

It is a matter of record that the Cubs began to jerk up in their victories after Taylor became the first-string receiver. Catchers, as a rule, are not given as much credit in the fortunes of ball club, but in the impending series their importance may be stressed. Surely Taylor and Cochrane have shown what it means to have a dependable man on the job every day.

In all events, the junior circuit will carry the advantage in the receiving department into the titular fights. Cochrane, in particular, will be in the spotlight on account of his big season and reputation.

HARVARD CUP NET FINAL TODAY

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN.

Jack Redmond, southpaw ace of Peabody High School, will battle Maurice Saperstein, rangy Bridgeville star, on the University Club gallery court at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in the final match of the seventh annual Harvard Cup Tennis Tournament for the interscholastic singles championship of Western Pennsylvania. J. Howard Moore, past president of the Pittsburgh Tennis Association and an active figure in the National Net Umpires Association, will handle the contest, which will be vested with all the incidents of a genuine titular affair, including display of various costly bits of silverware at the scene of hostilities.

Redmond fought through to the trophy round at the expense of Milton King, Kiski boy, whose all-around game is one of the most promising exhibited in this section for some little time. Redmond, however, with the advantage that usually lies with a portsider in facing a right-handed performer, held a distinct margin over the Saltsburg entrant throughout the tussle. The verdict read 6-4, 6-2, 3-6, 6-4 and pretty nearly tells the story.

Saperstein accounted for Maxwell, clever Shady Side youngster, in straight sets, 6-0, 6-4, 6-2. Maxwell took most of the chances and was guilty of most of the misplays. Saperstein undoubtedly realized that the waiting game was a certain bet and played it to the limit, though upon occasion he stepped from his safety first role and ripped off a host of prettily executed thrusts for placement. The Shady Side representative attempted to invade the court, a venture that turned out disastrously, for Saperstein coolly uncorked a series of passing drives that completely disorganized the hostile sallies. Maxwell simplified matters in this respect by flubbing those volleys that were within his reach. Saperstein remained on the baseline almost from start to finish and commanded the situation at all times.

CITY LEAGUE OPENS

The Senior League city high school football season will be inaugurated this afternoon, when four teams enrolled as members of Section 11 swing into action for the first time. The two games bring together Langley and Oliver at the Oliver High School field, and Perry and South Hills on the South Hills field.

Besides the two league encounters, Schenley plays at Dormont and Sharpsburg at Carrick.

Although the majority of the local high school teams were hit hard by graduation last spring, coaches report their elevens in fine shape for the inaugural battles.

Two other local high school teams pry off the lid tomorrow, when South High plays Harding High at Aliquippa and Allegheny opposes Norwin at Norwin.

DUKES, SKIBOS, PANTHERS PLAY TOMORROW

More than 40 years of football on the campus gridiron will be ended when Duquesne University plays its last game on Bluff Field against Slippery Rock State College tomorrow. For thereafter Elmer Layden's Red and Blue warriors will appear in the new surroundings will be played on October 12, against Albion (Mich.) College.

The starting line-up has been rather in doubt during the last few days, but it is now almost certain that Layden will start practically the same men who opened the season against Edinboro last Saturday. This includes Layden's triple threat backfield of Kovalcheck, at full Donnelli and Benedict, at the halves, and Joe McCarthy, at quarter. The poor showing made last week against a team not half so strong as Slippery Rock does not augur well for the Dukes.

The aerial attack doubtless will be the chief scoring threat of Duquesne, since both touchdowns were gained that way during the first victory.

COVER STADIUM GRIDIRON

The new field cover, purchased by Pitt and Carnegie Tech this summer, was laid over the Stadium gridiron yesterday, and a dry field is assured for the opener tomorrow, featuring the initial appearance of the Golden Panthers in their warm-up tussle with Waynesburg's Yellow Jackets.

A light workout yesterday ended Pitt's hard four weeks of preparation for the curtain-raiser. Today's drill will consist of limbering-up exercises on the practice field.

The Panthers donned their flashy new warm-weather uniforms for the first time yesterday, and probably will appear in them tomorrow. The jerseys are blue sateen with gold shoulder-bars, and the trousers are made of tan sateen cloth. The helmets are a light blue color, with gold cross-bars.

TECH MEETS BETHANY

Standing on the threshold of a season which promises fond memories of a year ago, Carnegie Tech stood ready to invade West Virginia soil tomorrow afternoon for their opening conflict of the season with the Bisons of Bethany College at the Wheeling High School field. The game will begin at 4 o'clock, Pittsburgh daylight saving time.

The Skibos will taper off this afternoon and tomorrow morning at 8:45 o'clock over the Pennsylvania Railroad will embark for Wheeling.

One thousand football fans, including students and followers of the school, will depart on a special train, chartered by Graduate Manager Overend over the Pennsylvania tomorrow at 12:45 p. m., daylight saving time, for Wheeling. The train will arrive at 3:04 p. m., daylight saving time.

There were two questionable spots in the lineup as the pre-season training drew to a close. Coaches Steffen and Waddell were undecided about a tackle and backfield position. Speculation was rife as to whether Murray Armentrout, former Shady Side Academy star, or Dutch Eyth, the Mars greyhound, would be in the backfield.

Duquesne Garden Dresses For Radio Show

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

DECORATORS, carpenters and mechanics invaded Duquesne Garden today and started preparing for the fourth annual Radio Show which will be held all next week.

Giving every indication of being twice the show of any previous year, the management has taken care to provide the exhibitors with a beautifully decorated hall and an arrangement of booths different from that of past years.

One way traffic will be an innovation this year, but after the first night's crowd this brilliant idea will go to Simon Legree.

Manager James A. Simpson received word yesterday that Mary and Bob will spend the entire opening day in Pittsburgh previous to appearing on the stage next Monday evening. While here they will be feted at WJAS, the local outlet for the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Pittsburgh dealers have gone "show mad" with all efforts concentrated on making the "fourth annual" a rousing demonstration of Pittsburgh's place in the radio sun.

FINTEX ORCHESTRA GOOD

Of programs on the air tonight none will be enjoyed better than the Fintex Orchestra over KDKA at 6 o'clock. This new feature, which made its debut a few weeks ago, has brought heavy fan mail to the pioneer station. Eugene Baldridge and Miss Savage will be soloists this evening in a program that bubbles with variety.

We Now Present

C. A. "Tony" Wakeman, former WCAE announcer, still has a pungent sense of humor at State College where he has delved into Blackstone. For a prank he telephoned Tracy and Brown at the William Penn Hotel at 4 a. m. the other morning (charges reversed) and asked the popular orchestra boys how they were getting along in this busy day world.

What Tracy and Brown replied after being aroused to answer Tony's silly question is not printable here.

The regular admission to the Pittsburgh Radio Show will be 50 cents, but Sun-Telegraph readers may go for half price by clipping the coupon appearing with radio programs today.

Mrs. Myers, wife of Walter G. Myers, popular KDKA announcer, is very much a radio fan and often attends the Urban Room sessions when friend hubby does the announcing for Don Bestor's Orchestra.

The Atwater Kent Auditions will be held today in the William Penn Hotel with Mrs. William Maclay Hall chairman.

100 PRIZES UP IN RADIO VOTE

One hundred valuable prizes will be awarded Pittsburgh radio fans within the net week in the movie star popularity contest being conducted by Warner Brothers Theaters and the Keps Electrical Supply Company, distributors of Temple receiving sets.

All that is necessary to enter the contest is to clip the entry blank in today's Sun-Telegraph, fill it in and mail to Warner Brothers Theaters, 209 Clark Building, Pittsburgh. This blank, besides providing the means of entrance in the contest, also entitles the sender to 1,000 votes. The person sending in the highest total of votes for any individual Warner Brothers First National or Vitaphone star will receive first prize.

Additional votes may be secured at any of the Warner Brothers Theaters which include the Stanley, Grand, Enright, Liberty, Colonial, Olympic, Regent, Rowland, Strand, Schenley, Manor, Plaza, Belmar, Arsenal and Ritz, or at any of the Temple Radio dealers whose names appear in the Temple advertisement today.

Apple Tree Superstition

THE superstition of planting an apple tree in front of a house originated with the Orientals, who believed that it would bring many male children to the family living in the house.

Ann Marie Gets a Painting Job and It Is Almost Ruined by Jeanie

CHAPTER XXXVII

"HELLO, Ann Marie! It's Janet," said the gay voice at the other end of the wire. "I'm up in Norwalk—I'm coming in to town to do some shopping tomorrow, and I wondered if you'd have time to meet me at lunch time. I want you to do a favor."

"All right," answered Ann Marie, wondering what favor she could possibly do for Janet, who seemed to have everything that a girl could wish for.

"How would it be if I picked you up at 12?" Janet asked; "I'm going to buy some organdy for my summer dresses, and I want you to paint flowers and things on them . . . Remember, you told me you know how to do it?"

"Yes, I do," said Ann Marie. "I'll love to do it for you, Janet!"

"But there's just one thing—I won't let you do it for me unless you charge me just what you've charged other people," the light voice ran on. "And, Ann Marie, I know some other girls who'll be sure to want you to do some dresses for them, after they've seen mine—and that reminds me, I'm having a card party a week from Saturday. So please keep that afternoon open for me."

Ann Marie ran up the stairs, glowing with happiness . . . How different Janet's treatment of her was from the way Mrs. Lawler had left her out of parties when she went to work in earnest! Janet didn't act as if she were an outcast just because she had to earn her own living. Janet was kindness and friendship personified.

"I'm going to paint some dresses for Janet Goodwin!" she told Alice and Jeanie when she went back into the cluttered crowded flat.

"But where am I going to do it?" she wondered, looking around the room with its two beds, its three trunks, its half dozen bags and hatboxes.

There was the big table in the middle of the room, of course.

But that was always set for a meal or loaded with magazines and sewing baskets and cigaret trays these days.

He came lounging in now, with a cigaret in his mouth and his hands in the pockets of his smoking jacket.

"Let's go out and push over a movie," he suggested lazily, and Alice and Jeanie were all agog in a second.

"Let's!" they cried and jumped up from the day-bed where they had been sitting.

But Ann Marie shook her head.

"Not me, thanks," she said. "Neal, when do you do any work? You haven't done a single thing since I've been here."

He laughed. "That's why I haven't done anything—because you're here. It keeps me all stirred up," he answered. "I'll settle down pretty soon."

"Well, I'm settling down tomorrow night," Ann Marie announced. "I'm going to do some work here at home, and I warn you all that I'm not going to be interrupted. So make all your plans with me counted out.

A heavenly peace seemed to descend on the flat as soon as they were all out of it. She heard them pounding down the stairs, and gave a long sigh of relief.

Then she set to work to make a place for herself in the untidy room.

There was a space against the wall between the windows, and there she set up a folding card-table that she bought from the janitor for $1. It was old and a bit wobbly, but still it was a table.

On it she laid out the wooden box in which she kept all of her tubes of paint and her little brushes and tin mixing cups.

"Now, when I get home tomorrow night I can go right to work," she thought. "I'll bring home some sandwiches and things from the delicatessen and we can all have supper in Neal's flat."

* * *

But when she came home the next evening with the package of Janet's organdy under one arm and a bag full of sandwiches and dill pickles under the other, the little worktable was gone.

From behind Neal's door came a shout of muffled laughter and high voices . . . The girls were in there, busy with their favorite pastime—"making whoopee," evidently.

The wobbly little work table stood in the middle of the room. And around it sat Alice and Jeanie and Neal, playing cards. All three of them were shrieking with laughter.

"We're playing cut-throat bridge!" Jeanie announced, choking with mirth. "And—we're just knocking Neal into the middle of next week. He owes us every cent he's got, I guess."

They were playing for money.

On the floor beside Neal's chair was a tray with three glasses and Neal's green glass cocktail shaker standing on it. Ann Marie had begun to hate the very sight of that green shaker.

"That's my work table!" she said impatiently. "And I've just got to have it!—I'm sorry, but you'll have to give it to me."

Neal leaned back in his chair, took a long drag at his cigaret and shook his head.

"Aw, don't break up the game, sweetheart!" he begged her. "You won't start working until we've had something to eat, will you?—Come here and sit on the arm of my chair and bring me luck!"

But Ann Marie stook stock still.

"Where's my wooden box, girls?" she asked, her eyes going from Alice to Jeanie. "The one that was on that table?—I left it there this morning."

"Of, that box full of old dried-up paint?" Alice looked up questioningly. "Why, it's on the window sill beside that basket of pansies. I put it there myself. You didn't touch it, did you, Jeanie?"

"Let's see, somebody still has a spade—" she murmured vaguely.

The game went on.

* * *

The wooden box was not on the window sill. It was not in the room at all. Ann Marie looked behind every chair for it, and under the daybeds, disguised to look like couches at this time of day.

She moved out the three trunks and peered down behind them.

Suddenly a dreadful thought came to her.

"I'll bet it's fallen out into the alley!"

But it was too dark to see.

She opened the door and ran down the street. There was a narrow walk at the side of Susquehanna Hall that led to the alley at the rear of the building.

And in that alley, just below her windows, lay the wooden box, smashed. Tubes of paint and paint brushes of various sizes were scattered all over the ground. Most of the tubes were flat and all of the paint had been squeezed out of them . . . Ann Marie knew that the wheels of some automobile, passing through the alley, had gone over them.

She spent the evening making an all-over pattern of buttercups for the yellow organdy that Janet wanted to have made up first.

"No use trying to work here," she decided late in the evening while Jeanie and Alice rushed around the room "doing" their nails, brushing their hair, and chattering like squirrels while they got ready for bed.

Alice bumped the table as she passed it, making Ann Marie spoil one of the buttercups she was making.

"Oh, I'm sorry," she said carelessly and hopped into bed. "You got quite a lot of work done, after all, didn't you?"

"Nothing at all, really," answered Ann Marie, and began to put away the tube of yellow paint and the one brush she had been able to save.

She spread the piece of pale yellow organdy out upon the table in the middle of the room to dry.

"I hope to goodness that nothing happens to that before morning," she said with a sigh and went into the hall to knock on Neal's door and kiss him good-night.

He drew her just inside the door, and put his arms around her. And she put up her face for his kiss, feeling herself grow weak and shaky with the thrilling weakness that always ran over her when he held her close like this—when he bent her head back and kissed her—

"How long are the girls going to be here?" he wanted to know presently.

And Marie let out a long, sighing breath. "Oh, I do wish they'd go home where they belong!" she said. "I love them—but they've just spoiled everthing, haven't they?

He said they had.

* * *

There was a dead silence when Ann Marie went back into her own flat. And Jeanie and Alice, wide-eyed and solemn-looking for once, were staring at each other . . . Something terrible must have happened!

And then suddenly Ann Marie saw what had happened!—Jeanie was standing beside the work-table, an ink bottle in one hand, the cork of it in the other. Ink was running down her arm, and there was a great stain of it on Janet Goodwin's yellow organdy as it lay on the table before her.

"I pulled the cork out of this bottle," Jeanie explained miserably, "and the darned thing came out with a jerk—and just look!—I was just going to sit down and write to Brookie. Oh, dear, what'll I do?

"Soak it in milk," replied Alice helpfully, "and by morning it will look as good as new. The stain will be all gone."

The stain did not come out, though.

The next noon Ann Marie spent eight dollars for some more yellow organdy, and ten dollars for some more little tubes of paint.

That night she did not leave the office at half past five.

She waited until everyone was gone and the place was quiet.

Then she took out the new organdy and the paints and went to work . . . Here was peace at last, and a place to work!

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Dickey's Unreasonable Anger Leads to a Painful Scene.

AS I finished my taunting little speech, purposely holding my voice down to a monotone, Dicky's face was suddenly drained of color, and he strode over to my chair and, taking me by the shoulders, pulled me to my feet. His grasp was not rough, and he did not hurt me in the least, but there was something in his face which brought to me a touch of unreasoning terror. For a fleeting second I wondered if his anger had freed him of all his inhibitions of gentle breeding. For it was the face of a man angered to the point of actual blows, careless of whom they touched, which glared down into mine.

"What you need," he said slowly, viciously — "what you need—oh! for Gold's sake!"

The last words were something between an oath and a prayer, as sudden realization of his own actions came to him. He thrust me back into the chair again, and turning, rushed to the door, tore it open and dashed through it. He did not close it after him, but down the hall I heard the door of his own room shut with a bang. Mr. Underwood, I knew, was out in the yard with Jim, laying the plans for the effective patrolling of the farmyard during the nights that Princess Olina and Prince Georges should be guests beneath our roof. Dicky would have the room to himself, and I knew him well enough to be sure that he would be perfectly composed when he once more appeared to public view. There even would be an apology of sorts for me. But for that I cared no whit, although I knew that in order to keep the emotional atmosphere clear, something indispensable in these strenuous hours with the farmhouse turned into "sanctuary," I should have to accept it with outward graciousness, no matter how perfunctory my words and manner.

Dragging myself up from the chair as if I were an old woman, I crossed shakily to the door, closing and locking it with the hope that no one would ask admittance to the balcony for the next half-hour. I needed fully that amount of time, I told myself grimly, to pull myself together after the experience to which Dicky had subjected me. Shivering, though the autumn day was like July, I stretched myself on the couch hammock and pulled a blanket up over me, knowing that if anything could release the tension of my overwrought nerves this open-air rest would accomplish it.

Gradually I fought myself back to something approaching my usual composure. But, though outwardly calm, I was still distinctly shaky of nerves, when, at the end of the half-hour, no one having disturbed me, I unlocked the door and looked warily into the corridor, prepared to dodge back if I caught a glimpse of Dicky. I had no desire to see him alone until the memory of our encounter should have faded. Far safer to meet him with the easing consciousness that other members of the household could insure our not having to speak to each other except in the platitudinous courtesy of everyday conversational exchanges.

But Dicky was nowhere to be seen and I hurried down the hall to Lillian's room, where I rearranged my coiffure and dashed cold water over my face in the effort to smoothe out the tired lines which etched it. Katherine tapped at my door before I had finished, and when I opened it, I was conscious that the fleeting glance which her keen eyes had shot at me told her that something had happened to upset me. But I was also sure that her one quickly averted glance would be the only notice she would take of my emotion unless I chose to confide in her.

"Will you turn yourself into a messenger boy?" she said, smiling.

"Of course," I told her, glad of the chance to camouflage my taut nerves. "I'll put on the cap 'neverything. What is it you want?"

"I've been down to the kitchen, hunting Katie, but she's conspicuous for her absence, so I've come back to you, hoping you'd have better luck. My patient thinks he could eat something, and I want to see that he has it before he gets out of the notion. I'd go and fix it for him myself, but from what Lillian said I gather that Harry doesn't want him left very long alone."

"No, he doesn't," I said, "and I'll go down to Katie at once. If she isn't there, I'll fix up something myself. What is it you want?"

"Sure you're not too busy?"

"Absolutely. I'll be glad to do it."

I knew that I was speaking less than the truth. I could not express even to myself the gratitude I felt for something concrete to do which would take my mind from the painful scene through which I had so recently passed.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

A. DISTINCTIVE STYLE FOR YOUTHFUL FIGURES.

Chiffon velvet or flat crepe would be suitable for this pleasing model. The design is fitted at waistline and hips, with flare fulness set low in front and back of the skirt. Additional fulness is gained in the flare insert of the front. A wide girdle, set high on the hips simulates a raised waistline. The V neck is outlined with pointed revers, below which the waist is shirred in upright rows. The sleeve is a fitted model.

This pattern is cut in three sizes: 16, 18 and 20 years. To make the dress for an 18 year size will require 4 yards of 39-inch material. For sash, revers facing and girdle portions of contrasting material ⅝ yard is required 39 inches wide and cut crosswise. The width of the dress at the lower edge with fulness extended is 2½ yards.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN.

A Hotel Tea

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. I wish to give a linen shower, and want to have about 30 or 40 people. As my home is small, I have decided to have the shower on the mezzanine of the —— hotel, a long beautiful room with delightfully easy chairs. I do not want to make it a bridge, but more of a fairly short tea. Could I have all the articles placed in a box and presented at the end of the affair, or what would you suggest?

2. Should I have the refreshments passed or served at tables? The hotel will provide the lunch, but what will I order that would be nice

3. Should the hostess wear a hat?

4. Would it be proper for the bride-to-be to receive with the hostess? M. E.

YOU have planned charmingly for your tea party, and you will be able to do it very beautifully in this way. I suggest that you have one "important" table where you and the guest of honor and other close friends will sit during tea, and on this table, as a centerpiece, have the container for the presents. Decorate the box attractively, with interesting paper or material, and have the presents placed in the box so that it will be easy for the bride-to-be to take them from it.

2. It is easier to have the refreshments served at small tables, and I suggest that you plan for this. Have hot tea, of course, and the accompaniments, and, if the day is warm, have an alternative of fruit punch. Ask the head-waiter, when you order, if he will suggest something for the "bread" course that is a specialty of the hotel; sandwiches of svelt proportions and of interesting "makin's, or cheese dreams, or some other combination of crackers and cheese. Then for the sweets course, have French pastry, or petits fours, or, if you wish, small cakes and an ice. If you wish, add a fruit salad, accompanied by special cream sauce.

3. Yes.

4. Yes, the guest of honor would receive with the hostess.

In Case of Bereavement.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

At a mother's funeral, who should accompany the daughter (a young woman) her father, brother or her young man friend?

2. Should the daughter wear a veil and gloves?

M. L. D.

HER father. Or her father walking on one side of her and her brother on the other. It should be some member of her family, and she is fortunate to have a father and brother to walk with in this walk of sorrow.

2. It is not necessary, and not now customary, for her to wear a veil, but she may if it will afford any comfort to her. A face veil is often worn, rarely a long veil. She should wear gloves.

Shaking Hands.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. Is it proper for a young lady to extend her hand when she is being introduced to a young man, or should she wait until the young man extends his?

2. If a person is not used to dining out, just how should one act? Should one be as particular about manners as at a formal dinner? R. E. P.

IT is the young lady's privilege of extending her hand if she wishes to shake hands with the young man who is being introduced to her. The young man waits for her to do this, and should not extend his hand first.

But of course it is not necessary for her to shake hands when a man is being introduced to her. It is correct, if she wishes, but it is not necessary, and, unless there is some special welcoming of the introduction, usually the woman bows and says, "How do you do?" without shaking hands.

2. Your question is so indefinite that I would like to ask you if you would be so kind as to write me just the questions that you wish to have me answer. One would always be "particular about manners," whether one is dining formally or informally. Indeed, this always-ness about being well-mannered is the test of breeding and good manners.

The Husband's Ring

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Would it be proper for me to buy my husband a wedding ring now, after being married nine months? He did not think he wanted one at the time we were married, but now would like to wear one very much. I hesitated in buying it, as I am not sure it would be the proper thing to do. Would another ceremony be necessary? E. S. L.

BY all means buy your husband a wedding ring, if he has expressed the wish to have one. I think that it is a very charming tribute to you that he has changed his mind about wearing a wedding ring. No, there need be no other ceremony.

Be sure to talk over with him just the kind he wants: the rather narrow band of gold is the usual kind for a man. You might ask the jeweler to bring several to your home, for your husband to choose the one that he wishes. And congratulations to you!

The Ice Cream Soda Spoon.

DEAR MRS. BEEKMAN: Will you please let me know if it is proper to take your spoon out of the glass after finishing the ice cream of a soda, or should it remain in the glass, even when you drink the soda through a straw? IN DOUBT.

IF YOU are going to use the spoon again, and if there is not plate under the glass, it is best to keep the spoon in the glass. If you are not going to use the spoon again it can be placed on the table beside the glass.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

Husbands—and Others

WITH love, as with money, it's easy-come, easy-go: the love affair that goes fast, seldom goes very far. The higher the speed, the quicker the smash-up!

* * *

Men have as much right as women to go collarless, bare-backed and bare-legged — but they haven't the same temptation. Men, like old-fashioned plumbing, look better when they are discreetly encased in something.

* * *

Many a man, who can tell a woman just how this country ought to collect its bills from Europe, can't tell her how he is going to get back that fifty dollars he lent "one of the boys" in a moment of weakness.

HELEN ROWLAND

* * *

One reason why a man always hates to answer a woman's questions is because he has a premonition that he is going to have an awfully hard time living up to his own answers.

* * *

It is safe to assume that the apple, which Eve offered Adam, and which he fell for so readily, had already been made into applesauce.

* * *

A woman can't listen with any real enthusiasm to a man's glowing description of the girl he is GOING to marry; but, somehow, she can always lend a sympathetic ear to his touching complaints of the woman he DID marry.

* * *

To some men, marriage is a strait-jacket which they wear with patience and resignation; others seem to slip into it and out of it again, as carelessly and nonchalantly as though it were an old sweater.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Brain Is the Ruler of the Human Body

THERE are problems relating to breathing, to the circulation of the blood, and many other functions of the human body. We speak of each function as if it were something separate and apart from all the rest. Of course there could be no function of any sort without the nervous system.

DR. COPELAND

If you drive an automobile, you know how helpless you are if there is no "spark." If the battery fails or the electric wires get crossed, the machine stops. It can't be coaxed to run.

Did you ever stand in the wheelhouse of a great steamship? If you did, you noticed that the captain pulled this lever or that, he touched this button or that, and in response to his signals, the giant ship slowed down, reversed and perhaps turned around on her course. Every department and activity of the vessel is under the control of the captain. He is the supervising genius.

All these examples of central control are reminders of the control the brain has over the body and its functions. The wires that connect the wheelhouse with the engine room and other parts of the ships are like the nerves that run from the brain and spinal cord to every part and every organ of the body.

The brain, spinal cord and many nerves make up the "nervous system." The operation of this system determines what shall be done by muscles, bones, digestion, heart, lungs and all the other organs.

But the brain is more than the wheelhouse. It is the captain, too. It does the thinking, as well as the giving of the orders. It determines what every part of the body shall do and then orders it to act. It regulates all the movements of the muscles. It determines the speed of every function. It presides over the destinies of the individual.

There is an old saying that "action is equal to reaction." Every act we perform reacts in some way. There is a mutual dependency of our various parts. Every part is concerned with and affected by all the other parts. Even though the brain presides over all the rest of the organs, it, too, is dependent on their successful operation. Unless the food is properly digested and assimilated, unless the blood carries away the poisons and takes on the oxygen, the brain is not nourished and stimulated to do its kingly part.

The best brain food is the food that best nourishes the body. When the body is well kept the brain will be cared for properly. Sleep, exercise, good air, sunlight, rest, recreation and all the things that make for physical health, make also for a well-nourished brain and alertness of mind.

Ritzy Rosalie

INSTEAD of worrying whether Old Sol is going to drop out of sight behind that cloud for any length of time or not, Rosalie is wearing her rainproof suit. It is really not necessary to wear it all the time, for the wrap-around skirt may be buttoned over another skirt only when protection is desired if one prefers. The coat matches the skirt and both are of brown and biege jersey., and the material is rain-proofed.

Speaking of clouds, Rosalie's mind is mostly in the clouds today, and she even went to the air transport ticket office, and acquired a copy of the time table for planes all over the country. Even if she doesn't get to use the information she found therein, she feels that it was worth anyone's time to read it.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, September 28.

THIS day's sidereal operations point to a rather involved state of affairs, with some abrupt precipitation of events which may lead to change of environment as well as of employment. There are presages of new alignments with large interests, and these and also personal matters should prosper if cautiously handled. Excellent advantages may be presented following the breaking up of a crystallized state of affairs. Social, domestic or romantic affiliations may assume subtle and unexpected forms. Be careful and discreet in these.

Those whose birthday it is may have a very interesting and eventful year, with suddenly presented opportunities for change and travel or new residence and employment. Fresh contacts and agreements should prosper, and personal affairs may assume intriguing phases.

A child born on this day may be clever, original and adventurous and should have a possibly spectacular career, owing to its many-sided talents and virtues.

Steel Profits Likely To Decline

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE outlook for the earnings of steel companies for the final quarter of the present year has been considerably dimmed by the weakness in prices shown by several of the big tonnage products. While the recession in operations has been of only minor importance, the greediness for tonnage on the part of some producers has been so great that it has not taken long to materially undermine the entire price structure.

Bars and shapes have declined $1 a ton to 1.90 cents a pound, Pittsburgh. Wire nails and galvanized sheets have also felt the influence of price shading.

Steel mill operations are now between 85 and 90 per cent of capacity. There is good reason to believe that production is not likely to slide below this level and that it is likely to be better in October. Such a moderate decline in production would not seriously affect fourth quarter profits, but a drop of $1 a ton will cut into revenues to a very marked extent.

Lesson of 1927

LAST year it was generally believed that the steel industry had learned a very valuable lesson from the price-cutting orgy of 1927. In that year the mad scramble for tonnage at any price resulted in a drop of $5. This carried the price of bars and shapes from 2 cents a pound to 1.75 cents a pound in October of that year.

Under the stimulus of an improved demand for steel, the producers were able to push the price upward $4 a ton during 1928.

Volume Still Good

UNDER normal conditions the present rate of steel mill operations would be considered very good were it not being compared with the exceptional months of the early part of this summer. A rate of operations of over 85 per cent of capacity should not offer an excuse for price cutting. Apparently, however, some steel companies still think that lower prices can keep their order books full.

The unfortunate thing about changes in steel prices is that the cuts are effective immediately while several months are necessary to make the advances apply to actual shipments. Customers benefit from declines at once, but they are usually allowed an opportunity to place orders before an advance is made to apply on new contracts.

Archaic Selling

UNLESS the steel industry comes to the realization that it cannot always operate at capacity and that one mill cannot gain any permanent advantage over a competitor by price cutting, there is danger that the deplorable situation of 1927 may be reproduced next year.

Some remarks made by this writer in an editorial in Barron's in February, 1928, may apply to the situation now developing in the steel industry. The editorial said:

"Last year (1927) was a lean one for the steel industry. Earnings of most steel companies were less than in the preceding year and less than in 1925. The surprising element in the situation lies in the fact that although tonnage produced in 1927 was only slightly less than in 1925, which was a good year, earnings were far less.

Efficiency Gains

"THE efficiency of the production end of the steel business is steadily increasing. Costs have been reduced almost to the possible minimum. For years the return on capital invested in the steel industry has been too small to attract new money except to round out the operations of already existing plants. But still the profit per ton has been shrinking.

"The grief-laden income accounts of many companies for 1927 are making executives look for the cause. The selling methods of the steel industry are archaic. A business which is constantly approaching perfection in other departments still puts its products into the hands of the consumer by much the same methods as those employed by horse traders.

"Steel companies have list prices, but the lists often mean little. Actual prices are made by salesmen haggling with buyers who play one company's salesmen against another's. That a large buyer should receive some concession in price is generally conceded as entirely proper, but just where the line between the large and small order should be drawn is a mystery to many in the steel trade.

"It rarely happens that demand for steel is sufficient to warrant a production of over 90 per cent of capacity, but with a 70 per cent consumption there are always mills so anxious to book their entire capacity that they will resort to ruthless price-slashing.

"To some extent the situation is forcing a remedy. A few years ago rapidly expanding companies, who were securing new business by cut prices, rebates and secret agreements, were tolerated. But today the system no longer works. There is always some one else ready to meet the cut price and to shade it an extra nickel. Price-cutting begets nothing but lower prices.

"The present merger movement in the industry will help the situation to some extent. There will be fewer competitors. A few notorious price-shaders will be absorbed by companies with better merchandising policies."

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Issues with speculative possibilities drew a nominal following on the bond market today, but otherwise the list was dull and uninteresting, showing irregularity in the early trading. Time money was firmer with little demand, and no offerings were reported below 9¼ per cent for all maturities. Dealings in Liberty Bonds were so slight that no transactions appeared for more than an hour after the market opened. The few sales that then trickled in were at minute declines. Convertibles moved within a narrow range, but were mostly lower in sympathy with the opening softness of stocks.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

Cotton Brokerage Fails in London

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Newall & Clayton, old established brokers and cotton merchants, announced their inability to meet liabilities. The failure created a sensation on the Liverpool cotton market.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Joseph G. Clayton, member of the British cotton firm of Newall & Clayton, of Liverpool, was suspended from membership in the Chicago Board of Trade under rule 119.

CRUCIBLE BUYS ORE MINES

Shenango Furnace Company has sold to the Crucible Steel Company of America a large interest in its extensive iron ore holdings located on the Mesabi Range, St. Louis County, Minnesota, which will insure a supply of ore for the Crucible Steel Company covering their requirements for about 30 years.

A mining company will likely be formed which will be operated by the present organization of the Shenango Furnace Company under the guidance of the W. P. Snyder interests who have been active in the Lake Superior region for 30 years.

The ore produced from the properties among which are the large Shenango and Webb Open Pit Mines will be shipped to the Shenango furnaces at Sharpsville, Penna., and the large Midland plant of the Crucible Steel Company on the Ohio river.

The purchase by the Crucible Steel Company of these large reserves of iron ore in addition to their coal and limestone properties enable it to produce steel at its most advantageously located plant and will give it an independent position in raw materials.

American Sumatra Earns $3.36 Share

A Telephone System is a Retail Business

. . . IT produces to order one product—telephone calls. Each call is an operation by itself. Two calls require twice as much operating effort as one call.

There never can be quantity production of telephone calls. They cannot be made up in bulk and stored for future delivery.

There is no standing still in the telephone industry. Today's telephone service is of high quality. Tomorrow's must be even better. That is fundamental in Bell System Policy.

Stock Market Breaks — Local Market Steady

STOCK MARKET PRICES BREAK WIDE OPEN

Flood of Selling Orders Smashes List Despite Valiant Bull Stand

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(AP.)—The stock market tried vainly today to overcome the bearish influence of an unexpectedly large increase of $192,000,000 in Federal Reserve brokers' loans, but the selling orders were so large that the market was swamped, and prices broke wide open. A score or more high priced stocks broke 10 to 25 points, while declines of 2 to 8 points were quite general throughout the list.

Call money renewed unchanged at 9 per cent with indications that the rate would be maintained all day. Time money rates held firm at 9 to 9¼ per cent. Wall street was trying hard to determine the effects here of the raising of the Bank of England discount rate, some observers contending that the action already had been discounted and would have no effect on the credit situation here, while others feared that it would lead to a heavy withdrawal of foreign balances as a result of the action of other central European banks in raising their bank rates in sympathy with London.

SUPPORT FAILS

The market opened heavy, but pool operators quickly supplied supporting orders and started bidding up special stocks in which favorable developments are believed to be pending. Standard Gas and Electric was marked up 24 points to a new high record at 243 and American Water Works 14 to a new high at 199, but when selling developed in the general list Standard Gas quickly slid back to 230 and American Water Works to 190. Burroughs Adding Machine, Underwood Elliott Fisher and Pacific Lighting also moved into the new high ground in the early rally, but failed to maintain their gains.

Meanwhile, buying support apparently was being withdrawn from the high priced issues, and offerings of stock disclosed a thin market. Auburn Auto broke 25 points, Columbian Carbon 15, Allied Chemical 13¾, A. M. Byers 13, Westinghouse Electric 11⅝, Johns Manville 11½, Simmons Company and American and Foreign Power 11 each, and General Electric 10¼.

LEADERS BREAK

Extreme declines of 5 to 10 points took place in such stocks as U. S. Steel common, Columbia Gas, Republic Steel, Dupont, Commercial Investment Trust, Eastman Kodak, American Can, United Aircraft, Consolidated Gas, New York Central, Public Service of New Jersey, Houston Oil, Safeway Stores and Electric Auto Lite.

The absence of support in recent market leaders proved extremely discouraging to small traders and investors, many of whom threw their stocks overboard at the market. So great was the flood of offerings that the ticker fell more than 10 minutes behind the market. Wall street was curious to learn the market operations of investment trusts, some of which were reported to be liquidating their holdings while others were reported to be accumulating special stocks on a scale down. The severity of the break impaired many margin accounts and brought considerable liquidation from that source.

Chesapeake Places Large Rail Order

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway has ordered 53,480 tons of rails for its 1930 requirements of which Bethlehem Steel Corporation received 16,273 tons; Inland Steel Company, 10,047 tons; Illinois Steel Company, 18,040 tons, and Carnegie Steel Company, 8,556 tons.

Pere Marquette Railway ordered 20,300 tons of rails for next year, of which Illinois Steel Company received 7,920 tons; Inland, 9,953 tons; Bethlehem, 1,727 tons, and Algoma Steel Company, 700 tons.

Rubber Market.

LOCAL STOCK MARKET IS STEADY

Lone Star Records Small Advance; Witherow Steel Holds Yesterday's Gain

Lone Star Gas continued in good demand and lifted its high record a small fraction at the start of business. Western Public Service was steady between 42 and 43 in the initial dealings. Arkansas was quiet.

International Rustless Iron, recent leader in the unlisted section, held near yesterday's close of 7¼. Volume of trading in Rustless has tapered off the past few days, but it is understood in the street that the largest blocks have not been liquidated. Offerings the past week or so are said to have come from smaller holders who have been taking profits on stock purchased at considerably lower figures.

Witherow Steel sold again at 45 in the early market, retaining the 3-point gain established yesterday. Blaw Knox was unchanged at 59, while the Blaw Knox rights were off a quarter at 1¾. Mayflower Drug and American Austin Car were both steady, the former at 7½ and the latter at 11.

Claude Neon Wins Suit in Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Sept. 27.—Federal Judge Paul Jones decided that cap type electrode manufactured and sold by Sun Ray Gas Corporation infringes the Claude Neon Lights, Inc., patent No. 1125476. Judge Jones followed recommendations of B. H. Davis, special master, and went a step further holding all individual defendants liable.

U. S. Smelting Profits Expand

The United States Smelting and Refining Company reports for the eight months ended August 31, 1929, net profit of $3,046,509, equal, after preferred dividends, to $3.36 a share on 640,562 common shares outstanding, versus $2,369,678, or $3.52 on 351,117 common shares in the 1928 period.

Sugar Market.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The raw sugar market was unchanged early today with a sale reported of 10,000 bags of Cuban from store at 4.08 duty paid.

Raw futures opened irregular at 1 point decline to 2 points advance with near months lower under liquidation, promoted by the circulation of 7 October notices, while the later months were higher on covering and European buying. Subsequently the whole list weakened under trade and commission house selling, with prices declining 2 to 4 points below the previous close, and the list at midday within a point of the lowest.

Early buying was due to the steadiness of the spot market and private advices from Europe claiming that as a result of the recent drought the European beet sugar crop would be around 8,000,000 tons, as against earlier forecasts of 8,500,000, and last year's outturn of 8,377,000 tons.

Refined was unchanged at 5.50 for fine granulated with a good withdrawal demand, but no new business reported.

Larger New Construction Business Looked for in Second Half of Year

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Although American Shipbuilding Company in the fiscal year ended June 30, last, did only a small volume of ship repair and construction business, outlook indicates improvement, principally from the standpoint of new construction.

Thus far during the current season vessel operations on the Great Lakes have been at practically 100 per cent and indications are that these will continue for the balance of the season at a fairly satisfactory rate.

Several vessels suffered serious damage early in the present season and provided a fair volume of repair work.

REPAIR BUSINESS LIGHT

Weather conditions since then have been generally good and repair business during the summer months, consequently, rather light. American has several inquiries for construction of new tonnage and it is possible that there will be some building activity.

Aside from shipbuilding and repair operations, the company is well equipped to undertake machine and structural steel work for steel mills, blast furnaces and other industrial plants, and a substantial increase in this phase of its business has been experienced this year.

OPERATING PROFIT

Operations in the year ended June 30, last, resulted in total net income of $750,291, after all charges, including depreciation and Federal taxes, a small improvement over the previous year, when net was $510,695.

Betterment in operating profit is attributed principally to the disposal of certain unprofitable plants, American having sold the Detroit and Milwaukee plants, which had been operated at a loss for some years past. Land, buildings and equipment of Detroit Shipbuilding Company were sold at a net book profit of $173,335 and those of the south plant of the Milwaukee Dry Dock Company at a book loss of $76,866.

BOOK VALUE PROFIT

On these two transactions, hence, there was a profit of $96,469 on book value, this amount being added to surplus. Disposal of these surplus and unprofitable units is expected to result in an improvement in the company's operating status.

The year just ended marks the second in which American Shipbuilding has not covered dividend requirements on common and has had to draw on surplus to make the payments; in the 1928-1929 year to the amount of $464,158 and in the previous year for $703,754. Its best year, from the standpoint of earnings, was that ended June 30, 1927, when net income totaled $1,747,373, after all charges, or equal to $11.51 a share on the 147,144 shares of $100 par common outstanding, and after dividends on preferred.

WORKING CAPITAL

Ratio of current assets to current liabilities on June 30, last, was lower, although working capital was greater. The proportion of quick assets to quick liabilities was 18.7 to 1, compared with 20.0 to 1 in the previous year, the best of the past four years. Cash holdings, including loans on call, amounted to $1,627,436 at the close of last year, an improvement of more than $500,000 over the previous year, an amount approximately that by which government securities were reduced.

Notes and accounts receivable at $2,295,384 on June 30, last, were up $529,000, compared with a year earlier, and inventories totaled $892,167, the largest for the past three years.

Reserve account stood at $1,720,054, a reduction of $562,082 from a year earlier, $244,339 being accounted for by the payment to the government for settlement of prior years' federal taxes, and $231,009 being transferred to surplus account. Latter was set up as a reserve for workmen's compensation and liability insurance.

SURPLUS ADJUSTMENT

At $5,466,480 the surplus account showed a reduction of $187,699, the adjustments being made through including a draft for $464,158 to meet dividend payments; loss of $76,866 on sale of Milwaukee plant, and $40,807 being written off on account of unabsorbed advances on royalties. These deductions were offset by the transfer from reserve account mentioned above totaling $231,009, and by profit on sale of Detroit plant of $173,335.

$300 CASH—$89 ...8 know concern... 8-room ... tremendous revolution ...ging in the electric and gas industry throughout the country is, "Will the prices charged us be lowered?"

THE newspapers have been flooded with reports of billion-dollar, two-billion-dollar, and even three-billion-dollar utility combinations by Morgan interests, by Mellon interests, by Electric Bond and Share interests, by the Brady interests, by the Insull interests, by the Byllesby interests, by interests associated with Pacific Coast properties, etc.

Fortunes galore have already been made—at least on paper—not only by powerful capitalists possessing inside information, but by many thousands of investors and speculators in utility stocks. Indeed, during the later stages of the bull market the most spectacular performers have been electric, gas and other utility issues.

All very fine and dandy.

BUT what John Smith and his wife, representing the great mass of ordinary American consumers who have not made money in the stock market, really want to know is how their electric and gas bills will be affected as a result of all this extraordinary upheaval in the ownership of utility plants.

Will John Smith and his wife, struggling to bring up their children respectably and to save for a rainy day, receive a fair share of the very great economies the scientifically-managed utility companies are succeeding in effecting? Since one pound of coal can now do the work of two pounds, and mass production is cheapest, will a reasonable part of the lowered cost go into the Smith family's pocket?

Or will it all be retained by the companies to justify the extraordinary rise in the quotations for their shares?

THAT is the crux of the whole matter. That is the question facing our utility leaders and their powerful banking colleagues.

Without here and now attempting to forecast what the answer will be, let me pass on to you this personal letter received from President R. H. Ballard, of Southern California Edison:

"In course of a speech you made to a convention of the National Electric Light Association you told us all to 'say it with rates.' This slogan has been commented upon frequently since then.

"You will, therefore, be interested in the attached clipping from this morning's Los Angeles Examiner outling another very substantial voluntary reduction in rates made by our company. When we made a big cut in 1927, from 6½c to 5.6c per kilowatt hour for domestic consumers, the average consumption per residence on our system was 450 kilowatt hours per annum. For the year ended July 31 of this year this average consumption of our 427,000 domestic consumers was 615 kilowatt hours, an average increase per consumer of about 40 per cent.

"Of course this plan of voluntarily reducing rates from time to time popularizes the service of the company, but in addition it performs a real service to the housewife in making the cost of electricity cheaper and cheaper, thereby encouraging the use by her of more electrical appliances to lighten the burden of the work in the home, such as vacuum sweepers, washing machines, electric refrigerators and electric ranges. Is not this 'saying it with rates?'"

THE newspaper gives $1,400,000 as the annual saving to consumers by this latest cut.

Unless a lot of other companies come forward with similar action the public will not be satisfied that recent billion-dollar mergers and dazzling advances in stocks have been inspired by other than strictly mercenary motives. The supreme duty of the utility industry still is, "say it with rates."

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The curb market gave evidence of extreme nervousness today, with price trends erratic and confusing, and generally toward lower levels. Pools bid up some of the utilities and specialties in violent fashion in an effort to stay the market in the face of bearish announcement of the $192,000,000 increase in brokers loans, the largest since the first of the year, but encountered heavy selling on bulges.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

RAISE IN BRITISH BANK RATE DEFENSIVE

Increase Held Consequence Of Restrictive Federal Reserve Policy in U. S.

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—On the checkerboard of international finance, the reluctant raising of the discount rate of the Bank of England from 5½ to 6½ per cent is a belated, purely defensive move.

Montagu Norman, governor of the bank, and his associates, long recognized that the earlier rate was uneconomic as long as the New York rate was 6 per cent. But the sage managers of the Threadneedle street institution deliberately sacrificed the fine points of central banking theory for weeks in order to avoid putting a psychological damper on slowly reviving English trade by boosting the structure of interest rates. When I recently discussed the situation with high officials in the Bank of France, which has been taking a large amount of gold, amazement was expressed that the Bank of England had not yet resorted to the bank rate weapon to protect its gold hoards, which has been considerably depleted in recent weeks.

LOGIC IN TIMING

There is logic in the precise timing of the rate increase. It comes sufficiently late in the crop moving period to kill two birds with one stone. If the rate increase had been made early in the summer merely to get in balance with the New York rate, it might have been necessary to put through another increase early in the autumn if America leaned heavily on the English banks to finance crop movements and agricultural exports.

Another factor may have delayed the increase. The Bank of England was reluctant to add to the discouragement of trade while the success of the recent Hauge conference was in doubt, but the successful outcome of that meeting generated good feeling and left the business community better prepared for a dose of bad financial news.

Operators and financiers on this side should not assume that the Bank of England has taken the initiative in the cause of high interest rates. It has in fact merely stepped in line with the New York situation. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York raised its rate from 5 to 6 per cent on August 8, and ever since the position of the Bank of England has been anomalous. It would be inconceivable for the Bank of France to have waited so long, because of a different philosophy toward gold holdings. England has traditionally been the freest to part with its gold supply. On the other hand, France enjoys the spectacle of piling up huge stores of gold, which in the last analysis is a non-earning banking asset.

GOLD HOLDINGS SLUMP

England, of course, has been somewhat bewitched by the dictum shortly after the armistice of the Cunliffe committee, which held that the Bank of England needed a minimum gold reserve of £150,000,000. Under the recent rate disparity, the gold holdings have slumped at least 10 per cent below that figure. And some influential British economists, who are unimpressed with the fetish of the Cunliffe figure, profess to see no reason why the reserves could not safely sink to £100,000,000. The exact amount of reserves needed in England depends on the opinion of the governor of the Bank of England, rather than on a legal formula. Hartley Withers, who opposed a rate increase, was of the opinion that it is futile for London to try to fight New York on rates under existing circumstances.

The threat of a rate increase has been hanging over the London market like the sword of Damocles for many weeks. Now that the deed has been done the market, which has been extremely quiet, will breathe a sigh of relief. The importance of the rate increase to America is that it emphasizes the international consequences of present restrictive Federal reserve policy, which has been aimed chiefly at the stock market.

A long continuance of such a policy will in all probability hurt exports, and will prevent America, as it has in recent months, from functioning as a world banker.

Armstrong Cork Co. Advances Linoleum

Armstrong Cork Company advanced the price on linoleum 5 per cent. This is said to be due to raising price of linseed oil.

Director

FINLEY J. SHEPPARD

Sheppard, representing the Manhattan Railways interests, has been elected a director of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, New York, succeeding Bertram Cutler.

Things I Never Knew Till Now

THAT Hoover gets a big kick out of being President.

That when more than two men live together in Calcutta the place is called a "chummery."

That Chic Sales' book, "The Specialist," is listed as non-fiction and that 250,000 copies have been peddled.

That statistics prove that September is the biggest baby month.

That Cuban cigar makers' contracts call for a person to read a newspaper's contents for every five workers.

That New York is the best place to get worn out in—if you have no objections to ending a sentence with a preposition.

SUMMER OR WINTER?

THAT the new Waldorf Hotel will have a cooling system in the rooms just like the various movie cathedrals.

That too many orgies in the various Times Square office buildings has resulted in even tenants being barred after 9 p. m.

That the eagle so proudly borne aloft by Irene Franklin in "Sweet Adeline" was the original model for the Anheuser Busch ads.

That the sentiments on the doors of the Hotel Bancroft, Worcester, Mass., are so beautiful, guests swipe them, frame and all.

That the next total eclipse of the sun in America will occur April 28, 1930, crossing Central California and Northern Nevada.

That graham flour was named after Sylvester Graham, an American advocate of vegetarianism, who died in 1851.

DESPITE EVERYTHING

THAT Chicago's population has increased over a million in the past decade, in spite of everything.

That S. Carolina is the only state that does not grant a divorce.

That only 10 per cent of the 10,000 people working in the Graybar Building in New York enter from the street level, the other 9,000 come from underground.

That members of the British House of Lords rate no wages.

TRY IT BLINDFOLDED

THAT 14 words, including "fetid," "entourage," "apparent," "humor" and "disputable" have caused English experts trouble; nobody being sure how to pronounce them. Can youse?

PASTOR BARRED FOR SMOKING

CUMBERLAND, Md., Sept. 27.—Because he refused to quit using tobacco, Henry W. Craver, pastor at Augusta, W. Va., was temporarily refused promotion to the deaconate by the Baltimore conference, Methodist Episcopal Church South, here today.

Mr. Craver has been in training for the ministry for two years.

"I pleaded with this young man to keep his promise not to use tobacco," reported W. J. Whitesell, of Ron[illegible]te, W. Va., for the committee on admissions. "He would only say that he would not use tobacco publicly, but would reserve the right to smoke in his room."

"As long as leaders of this conference use tobacco, it is bad form to condemn one of the best young men for the same thing," called out a member of the conference. This brought applause, which was censured by Bishop Collins Denny, presiding.

After debate the motion to admit Mr. Craver was referred back to the committee on admissions, which is to give the clergyman another interview.

UNSCRAMBLE THESE ANAGRAMBLES
DAILY ANAGRAM PUZZLES

TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d," to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

When a Child is FEVERISH, CROSS, UPSET

When these symptoms appear, give Baby a teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Add it to the first bottle of food in the morning. Older children should be given a tablespoonful in a glass of water. This will comfort the child—make his stomach and bowels easy. In five minutes he is comfortable, happy. It will sweep the bowels free of all sour, indigestible food. It opens the bowels in constipation, colds, children's ailments. Children take it readily because it is palatable, pleasant-tasting.

Learn its many uses for mother and child. Write for the interesting book, "Useful Information." Address The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y. It will be sent FREE.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade-Mark of The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

LITTLE CAESAR

CHAPTER XXXI.

THE Killer knocked at Rico's door, but got no response. He knocked again and again, then, getting impatient, he put his shoulder to the door and flung it open. No Rico. The Killer stood in the hall, wondering where Rico could have gone. From the landing above him, the landlady yelled:

"Hey, what did you do to that door?"

"The hell with the door," said Pepi; "do you know where the guy that lives here is?"

"What kind of a fellow?"

"A little fellow."

Otero! Killer took the stairs at a jump, but slowed his pace as he reached the main floor. There was a police car at the curb. Flaherty got out leisurely and stood talking to one of the policemen in the front seat. Pepi went over to him.

"Looking for the boss?"

"Yeah," said Flaherty, "the Big Boy sent me down. I want to have a talk with him."

"Yeah?" said Pepi. "Getting wise to yourself, hunh?"

"Rico was always O. K. with me."

"That's the talk," said Pepi. "Well, the boss is upstairs by himself."

When Flaherty and one of his men had gone into the building, the Killer grinned at the others and walked slowly away, but, as soon as he had turned the corner, he broke into a run.

There were two little Italian kids sitting on the steps of the stairway that led up to Otero's. They made way for Pepi.

"Yeah," said Pepi.

"I think I seen him go up."

"Yeah," said the other kid, "I seen him."

Pepi took the stairs at a run and rapped at Otero's door. Seal Skin opened it a few inches, but Pepi pushed her aside and walked in. Otero was sitting with his feet on the bed, smoking a big cigar.

"Where's the boss?" asked Pepi.

"At Blondy's. What's the matter?"

"Joe squawked," said Pepi, "and the bulls is looking for Rico. Get your coat on and beat, Otero. I'll go after the boss."

"Sure," said Pepi, "it's the Courtney business. You beat, it Otero. This ain't no picnic."

"No,' said Otero, "I go with Rico."

"You damn dummy," said Seal Skin.

"Yeah," said Pepi, "you beat it, Otero. Get out of town. They don't want me for nothing. I'll see if I can get Rico on the phone; if I can't I'll go after him. Listen, the bulls is over at Rico's right now."

"Caramba!" cried Otero, and, slipping his automatic into his coat pocket, he ran out into the hall and down the stairs.

"The damn dummy!" said Seal Skin.

Pepi stood looking at Seal Skin, then he said:

Before Otero had gone half a block in the direction of Blondy's, he saw a police car coming toward him. He ducked into a drugstore. It was empty except for a clerk who stood staring at Otero.

"Say!" said the clerk.

Otero took out his gun. The clerk threw himself down behind the counter. Otero ran out through the prescription room and found the back door, which opened into an alley. One end of the alley was blind, the other came out onto a busy street. Otero ran toward the open end, praying in Spanish.

All along the curbs on both sides of the street pushcarts were drawn up and peddlers were calling their wares. A slow-moving crowd of Little Italians blocked the pavements. Otero, because of his size, disappeared into the crowd, and, although he was forced to go slowly, he was safe from observation. Half a block from Blondy's he ducked down an alley, crossed a long cement court and climbed the fire escape.

Blondy's bedroom window was locked. Otero beat on it with his fist. For a moment there was no response, then he saw the bedroom door open slowly and Blondy's face appeared. She ran over and unlocked the window, then she turned and called:

"Rico, it's the Greek."

Rico came into the bedroom. He had his hat on.

"Did Pepi get you?"

"No, what the hell?"

The phone rang and Blondy went to answer it.

"They got Joe and he squawked," said Otero.

"My God, Rico," said she, "the bulls're after you. Joe squealed. You ought to plugged that softie, Rico. You ought to plugged him."

Rico stood in the middle of the room, staring. By an effort of the will, he rid himself of an attitude of mind which had been growing on him since his interviews with Montana and the Big Boy. He was nobody, nobody. Worse than nobody. The bulls wanted him now and they wanted him bad. Goodby dollar cigars and crockery at one grand, goodby swell food and tuxedos and security. Rico was nobody. Just a lonely Youngstown yegg that the bulls wanted. His face was ghastly.

He swung his fist at the air.

"I ought to plugged him! I ought to plugged him!"

"All right," said Rico, "let's go."

"Take me, Rico."

"Hell, Rico," said Blondy, unable to realize what had happened, "everything was going so nice."

"Sure," said Rico, "but it's all over now and that's that. You stay planted, Blondy, and as soon as I get a chance I'll send you a stake."

Otero crawled out the window onto the fire escape and Rico followed him. Blondy began to scream.

"Shut your mouth," said Rico, "and if the bulls come up the front way kid 'em along. Make 'em think you got me hid, see?"

"O. K., Rico," said Blondy.

Mather Boy Scouts Win Model Prize

Church, 25 Years Old, to Celebrate

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 27.—A three-day celebration beginning Friday evening and closing Sunday night, will mark the twenty-fifth anniversary of St. Emory de Magyar Roman Catholic Church.

The Rt. Rev. Charles Boehm of Cleveland, O., papal prelate, first Hungarian priest in the United States, will have charge of blessing of the edifice on Sunday morning.

Motor Falls Out Of Plane, Two Fliers Saved

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Sept. 27.—(AP.)—Dropping 4,000 feet in parachutes, Lieut. James W. Baker, pilot, and aviation mechanic's mate, J. F. Benecke, of the Hampton Roads naval air station near Norfolk escaped unhurt last night as their observation plane fell into the edge of the Hampton Roads near here.

In some manner the engine, a 450-horsepower radial motor, was loosened from its moorings and fell. The pilot and his mate leaped, landing on the grounds of the Newport News Golf Club.

County to Build Police Barracks

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 27.—Plans are underway for the erection of a state police barracks at the county home on the National highway, east of here. Fayette County will erect the structure at a cost of $15,000. The building will house 60 men.

WHY PITTSBURGH IS GREAT
Industrial Research Here Advances Civilization Everywhere

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

BE A PITTSBURGH BOOSTER
To Your Friends in Other Cities

Peace of World Can Best Be Assured by Co-operation Of the Two Great English-Speaking Democracies

Mr. Winston Churchill, now traveling in this country, interests Americans. His mother was an American. On his father's side he descends from the Duke of Marlborough, who conquered at Blenheim and on other occasions. He is named for the fighting duke's father, who was Sir Winston Churchill.

There is much power in that family. It showed itself in the late Lord Randolph Churchill, Winston Churchill's father. The man whose picture you see here possesses it in abundance.

For this reason Winston Churchill's views on international questions, particularly the relations of America and Great Britain, are important.

Recently, after spending a few days at William Randolph Hearst's ranch at San Simeon, on the Pacific coast, Mr. Churchill, entertained by Los Angeles' most distinguished citizens, made a witty and earnest address on the importance of peace preservation through close co-operation among the English-speaking peoples of the world.

William Randolph Hearst, welcoming Mr. Churchill to California, where Mr. Hearst was born, had said, referring to British and American flags on the wall of the dining room:

"I did not overlook in my talk with Mr. Churchill the significance of the conjunction of those two flags on the wall. I told him that our people's one ideal, our greatest ideal, was world peace; that it was almost a fanaticism with us. He said, 'I suppose you wanted peace bad enough to fight for it.'

"I said, 'We did want peace bad enough to fight for it, and we did fight for it, because that was our main reason for entering the World War; and when we got it, or helped to get it, that was the only thing we got out of the war, and the only thing we wanted to get out of the war, but we do want to keep the thing we got, and we believe that the best way to keep it is through a co-operative union of the English-speaking nations of the world, a co-operative union of the two great peace-loving nations of the world.'

"This is an age of organization, of co-operation, of combination in business, and the principal might well apply to international politics. But when we make a merger in business we merge harmonious entities.

"If we made an alliance we would not want to make one with a war-like country that contemplated war. We would want to make an alliance to promote peace between ourselves, and, as far as possible, to establish peace throughout the world."

Replying to Mr. Hearst, Mr. Churchill said:

"I saw those two flags, when I entered this room, with a feeling of joy, because that is not only an emblem of the association of two great peoples, equipped with power and wealth and armed with science and knowledge, who speak a common tongue and enjoy a common law, and who have developed the same institutions, and look back all through the mists of time to a dim, majestic past; it is not only a symbol of their association, but it is the secret of the future of the world; there is the peace and safety of the world.

"I rejoiced to hear my friend Mr. Hearst, who wields such enormous influence, express in such decided and measured terms his conviction that the peace of the world can best be assured by the co-operation of the two great English-speaking democracies.

"All I can say is that such language will never be expressed on this side of the Atlantic Ocean without a sincere and even an eager response from our small island in the Northern seas.

"I have one more word to say, and that is about California. I have now motored 1,500 miles through California, so I have seen this beautiful maritime state as much as any one can see it on so short a time and have appreciated its beauty, the charm of its settings, scenery, its agreeable, tranquil, equable, congenial climate.

"I have enjoyed the delightful, spacious hospitalities which it is the pride of California to offer. I have seen your big trees, your big men, and I have seen with the eye of the mind your big future, and I have only one regret, only one pang which racks my bosom, and that is that I have never been here before."

Churchill, Wise Briton

Co-operation between the great English-speaking peoples of the world means not only the United States and Great Britain, but Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa. And such co-operation appeals to 90 per cent of Americans that really want peace and have practical ideas as to how it may be secured.

Millions in America that do not descend from English-speaking peoples realize that they are NOW part of an English-speaking nation and that their children will be ENGLISH-SPEAKING AMERICANS.

Their interest through generations to come will be the interest of English-speaking America, and any war for which they may be drafted will be war to defend an English-speaking race.

Consider what it would mean if, as Mr. Churchill and Mr. Hearst suggest, all English-speaking nations, America, Great Britain and all her colonies, were united in fact, though not by hard and fast treaty, on a basis to preserve peace throughout the world.

What nation would attack a combination of such power; what combination of nations would make the attack?

Every intelligent, non-English-speaking nation in Europe would welcome such an understanding between Great Britain and the United States. For that would be, indeed, a LEAGUE FOR PEACE, an agreement that by the very power BACK OF IT, without gigantic expenditures or secret alliances, would make peace permanent.

The United States is a country weak in shipping, but able to feed the British islands through any just war, even if it lasted 100 years.

Great Britain and the United States combined could thwart by blockade, economic boycott or otherwise, any effort to wage an unjust war, presenting in money, resources and shipping such a combination for the preservation of peace as would be invincible.

Other civilized nations would recognize it and applaud it, for whether it be France, Germany, Italy, Spain or any other country, what civilized beings want is PEACE.

Hope for the future, some reason for believing in peace, PERMANENT and JUST, is back of Winston Churchill's statement.

"THE PEACE OF THE WORLD CAN BEST BE ASSURED BY THE CO-OPERATION OF THE TWO GREAT ENGLISH-SPEAKING DEMOCRACIES."

New Airport Benefits Pittsburgh and Butler

With a program of dedication ceremonies today and Saturday, the formal opening of the Pittsburgh-Butler airport of the Pittsburgh Aviation Industries Corporation, just off the William Flinn highway, south of McBride, Butler County, occurs.

Exercises are to include addresses and exhibitions of flying as well as races and demonstration of parachute jumping, and aerial activities pertaining to armed defense of country, concluding each evening with displays of fireworks. City and county officials of Allegheny and Butler County and representatives of the national government, including Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, will be in attendance. Upwards of 150 aircraft of many types, on exhibition, will be an additional point of interest.

With the new airport, accessible by trolley or automobile, in operation, there is an increase in facilities for aerial transportation that is bound to result in benefit for both Pittsburgh and Butler. These cities are to be congratulated.

SMALL TOWN BOYS

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

NEW YORK pampers itself on its ability to knock off the weedbenders and the appleknockers.

"Bugs" Baer

Thereupon, the New Yorkers ricocheted a yell off the rafters that is still splintering all the altitude and endurance records of financial weal and woe.

His accomplice in the noble epidemic of sudden riches seems to have been a barber who ran out of soap and decided to make lather out of applesauce.

Just to show how easy it is to manicure a leopard's tootsies, the two Colorado boys figured out a scheme to knock New York loose from its wealthy complexion.

They did it with a couple of laughing telegrams and got the half million. Did New York take the rap by giving its clerks a vacation during laugh week?

It did not. It immediately chinned itself on the bar of justice and howled long, loud and off key.

It demanded law, order and its concomitants. The Colorado boys were collared and cuffed by the laundry of the law.

If New York had muscled Telluride, there would have been no burning of legal incense. It would have been just an item in the daily weather reports.

But when Telluride puts the obligatory stampede on Manhattan, then that's a hoss from a different garage.

We hope they reform. And get a million the next time.

Bible Passages

Let Him Hear

(Revelation 3: 1-12.)

AND unto the angel of the church in Sardis write; These things saith he that hath the seven Spirits of God, and the seven stars; I know thy works, that thou hast a name that thou livest, and art dead.

Be watchful, and strengthen the things which remain, that are ready to die; for I have not found thy works perfect before God.

Remember therefore how thou hast received and heard, and hold fast and repent. If therefore thou shalt not watch, I will come on thee as a thief, and thou shalt not know what hour I will come upon thee.

Thou hast a few names even in Sardis which have not defiled their garments; and they shall walk with me in white: for they are worthy.

He that overcometh, the same shall be clothed in white raiment; and I will not blot out his name out of the book of life, but I will confess his name before my Father, and before his angels.

He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches.

And to the angel of the church in Philadelphia write; These things saith he that is holy, he that is true, he that hath the key of David, he that openeth, and no man shutteth; and shutteth and no man openeth;

I know thy works: behold I have set before thee an open door, and no man can shut it: for thou hast a little strength, and hast kept my word, and hast not denied my name.

Behold I will make them of the synagogue of Satan, which say they are Jews, and are not, but do lie; behold, I will make them to come and worship before thy feet, and to know that I have loved thee.

Because thou hast kept the word of my patience, I also will keep thee from the hour of temptation, which shall come upon all the world, to try them that dwell upon the earth.

Him that overcometh will I make a pillar in the temple of my God, and he shall go no more out: and I will write upon him the name of my God, and the name of the city of my God, which is new Jerusalem, which cometh down out of heaven from my God: and I will write upon him my new name.

Food

THIS is the food that many ask
To meet their need each day.
Applause to greet the finished task,
And laughter, sweet and gay.
They hunger for the swift reward
That fame alone can give,
No other diet can afford
The zest for which they live.
And some would see the sunset glow
Incarnadine the sky,
Would hear rare harmonies, and know
The sea-wind's haunting cry.
The quests of beauty, honors, gold,
How many souls they feed!
But I must have Love's hand to hold
And sense Love's every need.

PROHIBITION GOES FISHING

By Herbert Kaufman

PROHIBITION, like every other notoriety seeker, MUST have its scream lines. The Anti-Saloon League is never happy away from the front page and editorial column.

So, after lying doggo a reasonable period, for the country to forget how Virkula died, the bombardment of private yachts and Secretary Lowman's defense of border slayings, the overlords of Congress again jerk strings and Senator Howell promptly blats that Washington is a nest of bootleggers and speakeasies.

He reminds the White House there is no conflict between State and Federal authority within the sacrosanct District of Columbia, whose Commissioners are Presidential appointees and therefore ENTIRELY under Executive control.

WHICH is simply another way of saying that it's up to the President to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment at the national Capital.

Mr. Hoover accepts the gage with alacrity and enthusiasm. He WELCOMES the opportunity to establish a model desert on the banks of the Potomac, and contracts to move the Sahara there, as soon as the enabling evidence is presented.

He asks Mr. Howell to DESIGNATE where the secret fountains of Bacchus are flowing—to furnish the STREET NUMBERS of these "blind pigs" and gilded drinking dens, and to NAME the illicit vendors whom Dr. Doran's squads have strangely failed to note.

Engineers have a HABIT of working that way. They just WON'T proceed without blueprints. They SPECIALIZE in facts and foundations. There are no such words as "guess" and "surmise" in their lexicons.

HE has no VERIFIED knowledge of recent smuggling or contraband entry.

But he CAN state that several truck loads of liquor have been received by the Siamese Legation—which, under legal technicality, ISN'T American ground and, through diplomatic courtesy, IS entitled to import wines, whiskeys or white elephants, AD LIB.

He cites extracts from a 1928 news article, and mentions the report of a certain Maj. White covering night club investigations in January, 1927.

Nonetheless, he would have the District Commissioners do their duty or lose their heads. Mr. Hoover entered office March 4, 1929.

MR. HOWELL SUSPECTS that there are fish in the pond, and casts at random in hopes of snagging something with his EMPTY hook.

But the President is a fisherman too, and refuses to waste time lugging Federal nets in the wake of a sensation-angler.

He WON'T set up a chopping block until its necessity is manifest, and he intends to support Dr. Doran's administration, pending the production of information that local Treasury units are SLEEPING at the post.

He is willing and ANXIOUS to be convinced that the lid can be completely tightened on the District of Columbia—as well as the rest of the United States—and will DO that very thing, whenever Senator Howell, the Anti-Saloon League or ANYBODY ELSE, gets down to brass-tack analysis, and book and chapter data.

Meanwhile, he's too busy with IMPORTANT matters to tilt lances at windmills—or windbags.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

THEY say long skirts are coming in again. Thank Heaven! It certainly will be a big relief to a lot of us adult females.

I've had a peeve all summer. It began with the first hot day. Says I to myself. "I'll get something cool." So I hied me to the nearest ladies' wear and stated my needs. Now, my needs are plenty. I'm no trick runabout. I'm a limousine model, and I've covered considerable mileage since I got under way in the nineties. I need upholstery that's seasoned and substantial as befits my girth and record. All of which I explained to the saleslady, who listened with the usual glace glare. When I was through she oozed away and presently poured herself back with an armful of something that looked like fancy covers for bird cages.

"Migosh" I said. "What's that? I wanted a dress. For me—myself."

"These," snipped she, "are your size."

"Maybe they are, girlie," says I, "but they're not my nature. No one's going to see me dressed like that, unless it's on a slab. Now, what I want is something plain and darkish and matronly."

The saleslady gave me that pitying stare one reserves for idiots and five-legged calves.

"We have," said she, "no matronly styles—there is no demand for them."

No demand for matrons—I guess she's right, but I get mad every time I think about it. THIS RAGE FOR YOUTH HAS ACTUALLY MADE MATURITY A MISDEMEANOR. We may have married ladies, but try and detect 'em. The shady side of 40 is no longer shady. It is all lit up with short socks, beach rompers, sun suits, melba toast, lip stick, wind blown bobs, mask o' youth and swillowy silhouettes. It's the age of the Kutie Kid and though mamma may be 50, with a displacement of 225, she's got to toddle right along.

IF YOU DON'T LOOK LIKE A SPRING FRYER NOWADAYS YOU'RE A FLOP.

And it isn't only the clothes. We got to think, talk and act the part as well. Your heart may be dark with sorrows, Sister Kate, and your head heavy with wisdom, BUT YOU'VE SIMPLY GOT TO ACT COLLEGIATE OR BE JUNKED.

Well, I, for one have gone on a strike against the whole silly business. I've lived forty-six lively years, packed chuck full of experience, and I'm not going to let a lot of fashion designers hornswaggle me out of the benefits thereof. I refuse to look or act like a pee-wee. I'M GOING TO BE MY AGE! It's the grandest age I've ever lived. It has taken me sixteen thousand, four hundred and twenty-five days to arrive at this age and it was worth 'em all. There's more punch in one thought after forty—provided, of course, that you know how to think—than there is in a whole year of pup speculation at twenty. There's more to be seen and at last you know how to see it. And what if you have a little more beneath the belt than you once had . . . if at the same time you have a lot more above the ears?

For which reason, I'm tickled pink that long skirts and other grown up clothes are coming back. Now maybe adults will be alamode once more.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Thoughts while strolling: A Japanese youth wearing a Basque cap. And Bill Tilden's simpering smile from a billboard cigaret ad. David Belasco halts before a shooting gallery, tugs at a lock of hair and moves on. Men with white beards look alike.

Travelers rushing to big terminals. One always feels sorry for a city one is just leaving. A Persian cafe. Jack Haley, who won stage fame with comical eyebrows. Remember the saying: "Isn't it the truth?" Hype Igoe. A dog with a tambourine collects for a blind violinist.

John Golden, a Wauseon (O.) boy, who made good in the city. Covarrubias, the Mexican cartoonist. Simile: "As loose as tapioca pudding." Wonder how many read those signs they tack on elevated steps. That blood-curdling screech of the subway rounding a curve.

Channing Pollick is thinner. The mumbling old man who wears an overcoat latticed with safety pins. Try to get coffee with dinner in New York. Never see a bull's eye lantern any more. Winey clubmen with hunting squire complexions. Those boys who begin talking about Palm Beach the minute they get in elevators.

Where's Fanny Ward these days? The sleepy-eyed fellows with the wide-awake girls. After all the Rolls has the most artistic hood ornament. If the police must have something to do, why not nab some of those mad motorcyclists once in a while. Cafeteria offers: "Filets de sole sauce verte."

A Chinese laundryman named Fling Flong. Lou Holtz, a Broadway wag. Girls with those Irene Bordoni bangs. Jobyna Howland and Clara Bell Walsh bear a striking resemblance. My idea of nothing to eat—green almonds. The benign, motherly lady who sells tracts on atheism.

Mary McKinnon, the artist. Liver now $1 a pound. Sheepish fellows who slip into hotels when everybody is going to work. Did Lillian Gish always have long hair? Nobody so self-conscious or little noticed as a passe prima donna. What's become of the old-fashioned pinch—where the wagon backs up?

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

ARE you dissatisfied with the town or community in which you live?

You say that you cannot find congenial people in your section.

Ever blame yourself for this?

Ever make an effort to be pleasing to the persons in your neighborhood?

Isn't it true that you want those with whom you come in contact to make themselves over into your pattern?

You have a certain standard by which you judge everyone. It is based upon your own ideas of what you want your friends to be. You never consider trying to conform to another's idea. Not even to seem friendly do you give up your own notions.

You class people as congenial or the opposite just according to how near they come to your likes and dislikes.

If they spend their leisure in a manner that does not jibe with your idea of a good time recreationally you think they are not fit companions.

You are too self-centered and need to "snap out of it."

As soon as you do you will find there are a number of people in your town or section who are all right.
